HOTEL DESTROYED

Woman and Son Jumped From Window and May Die

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—In a wild scramble to escape from the flames which destroyed Young's hotel at Winthrop early this morning a mother and her son leaped from the windows and were so frightfully injured that probably neither can recover. The remaining guests, escaping amid scenes of frenzy, were uninjured, though there were numerous thrilling escapes. The hostelry was burned to the ground together with the garage in the rear and two adjoining cottages, known as the Idle Hour and the Commonwealth. The total loss will probably be considerably in excess of $50,000.

The injured are Mrs. John C. Beggs and her son, John C. Beggs, Jr., aged 17 years, of Springfield. They were asleep on the second floor of the building when the fire broke out at 2 a. m. Hastily dressing themselves with such articles of clothing as they could find within reach, they rushed out into the hallway and started to make their way down the stairs. They suddenly turned back with the evident purpose of recovering something from their apartments. When they returned the hallways were filling up with smoke and, thinking that escape was impossible save through the windows, they again retraced their steps and, frantic with terror, jumped to the sidewalk below. Both were unconscious when picked up. They were immediately taken to the Metcalf hospital, where it was found that their injuries would probably prove fatal. The boy landed on his head and sustained a fractured skull. The hospital physicians stated that his death was a matter of a few hours. Mrs. Beggs had both of her thighs broken, her right knee pan splintered and her left foot dislocated.

The fire was the most obstinate with which the Winthrop department has had to deal with in years. Aid was sent from Boston and Revere and not until 5 a. m. was the blaze under control. For a time the entire Shore Drive, on which the hotel was located and which is lined with cottages, was threatened. Only the persistent work of the firemen prevented heavier damage.

The blaze started in a linen closet over the furnace. The watchman was aroused by the crying of little Tommy Hearn on an upper floor when he awoke to find the building in flames. It was this circumstance that enabled him to early sound the alarm and thus in all probability save the lives of most of the guests, of whom there were thirty-five.

Soon after the fire was discovered the structure was a mass of flames and from the outside it was apparent that it would be a complete loss. The firemen then directed their attention toward saving the adjacent buildings.

The guests engaged in a mad rush for safety. Some jumped frantically from the windows; others fled pell-mell through the hallways and down the stairs. Mrs. John Slate knotted two sheets together and, fastening them to a bureau, slid to the ground. Mrs. James Hearn, her son Tommy, and Richard Tobin plunged from the piazza and escaped without a scratch. The hotel was owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Young, widow of the former proprietor. It was four stories in height and of frame construction, being patronized principally as a resort. The conflagration was a spectacular one, the flames lighting up the country for miles around.

LABOR OFFICIALS

Asked to Show Cause Why They Should Not be Enjoined

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—Judge Pierce in the equity session of the superior court has issued an order of notice returnable on Wednesday next requiring Desire Houle, Thomas Dalton, Fred J. Reardon and Thomas Means, all of Haverhill, and John Burns, Jeremiah Brown, S. J. Boutilier and Aldrice Dauderman, all of Lynn, officers and members of a shoe workers' protective union, to show cause why they should not be enjoined from ordering a strike at the shoe factory of Fred J. Thompson of Haverhill.

Thompson conducts an open shop, which, it is claimed, the defendants are attempting to unionize. Thompson says that an Oct. 10 the union officials named entered into a conspiracy to injure his business by threatening to place on the "blacklist" the names of such members of the union as refused to leave his employ. A strike is also in contemplation and Thompson asks for an injunction to prevent the strike. He further asks that the defendants be restrained from in any way interfering with his business or with men who desire to continue in his employ.

CONTAGIOUS HOSPITAL

Special Meeting of City Council to Act on Matter

Mayor Meehan has called special meetings of both branches of the city council for this evening for the purpose of taking some action relative to the contagious hospital matter which will be introduced in the city council in the form of a joint communication from the boards of health and charities, asking for a contagious and infectious hospital. The joint communication appears in another column.

The board of health will hold its regular meeting this afternoon and it is expected that after the special meetings of the aldermen and council have adjourned tonight there will be held a meeting of the appropriations committee and the chairmen of the boards of health and charities will attend the meeting and present arguments in favor of the proposition to appropriate the money asked for.

It was stated at the city hall this forenoon that an effort would be made to refer the contagious hospital matter over to next year's government, but it is believed that that effort will be defeated and that the matter will be referred to the committee on appropriations.

SHOT HIS SISTER

Neceta Then Probably Fatally Wounded Man

FITCHBURG, Nov. 25.—Because his sister, Stavioula Neceta, on Monday last went to live at the home of Gustas Tetalas, Peter Neceta today emptied his revolver at the couple, wounding his sister in the hand and probably fatally wounding Tetalas. Neceta was later arrested. The shooting took place on Main street in the business centre of this city. Hearing the shots and seeing the couple fall, several men chased Neceta to the Greek district, where he was cornered in the attic of a house on Board street and arrested without resistance.

The two wounded persons were removed in an ambulance to a police station, where the city physician, Dr. G. P. Norton, attended them.

For some time past Tetalas, whom Neceta disliked, has been attentive to Miss Neceta, and last Monday she took up her abode at Tetalas' home and was to be married to him in a few days.

IN THE CHURCHES

Thanksgiving Services With Sermons Appropriate to Occasion

Union Services Were Held by the Congregational and Methodist Churches—Strong Sermon by Rev. St. John Chambre

Union services were the order of the day in the Protestant churches of the city yesterday and all of them were well attended. For the first time in the history of the city the Swedish Protestant churches of all denominations held a union service.

Congregational Churches

The Congregational churches held a Thanksgiving day service at the First church. The order of service was as follows:

Organ prelude, Solon W. Stevens; invocation, Rev. A. F. Dunnels of the Highland church; response by the children's choir; responsive reading, led by Mr. Dunnels; hymn, by the congregation; scripture reading, by Dr. Kyle, the Portuguese missionary; prayer, Dr. Kyle; reading of Thanksgiving proclamation, Rev. F. E. Alger of the Pawtucket church; offering, for the Congregational board of ministerial relief; hymn; sermon by Rev. J. E. Gregg of Kirk street church; prayer; hymn; benediction by Rev. B. A. Willmott of First church, and organ postlude by Mr. Stevens.

"Courageous Thankfulness" was the subject of Mr. Gregg's sermon, and the text was: Acts 28:15: "And from thence, when the brethren heard of us, they came to meet us as far as the Market of Applus and the Three Taverns: whom when Paul saw, he thanked God, and took courage."

Having sketched some of the reasons why we may thank God and take courage as we look out upon the whole world and as we survey this fair land in which we live, he spoke briefly in regard to the commonwealth and the city, saying:

I do not suppose that there has been a time since the 17th century when the people of Massachusetts did not have reason to be thankful that they were members of this body politic. The name of this commonwealth has stood in the past and still stands for independence of thought and action, for an enlightened public opinion, for wise laws, honestly administered, for generosity toward the afflicted and helpless, for practical Christianity in public affairs. Let us thank God that he has saved the commonwealth of Massachusetts unto this day. Let us take courage to believe that He will guard and bless her in all the days to come. And let us pray that He will permit us, everyone, to share in this high task.

As for our own city, I cannot speak with great assurance, having lived here only a little more than a year. But I venture to express by strong conviction that we ought to be thankful that Lowell is a "mill city." There is real value in that solid industrial foundation for municipal life. It means not only material assets, but spiritual assets, too. It gives a certain genuineness, a certain concreteness, a certain business-like vigor, to the spirit of the community such as no luxurious suburb can ever possess. Our thinking can hardly help being practical, and that is a distinct advantage; and to no one more than to the preacher of religion.

Methodists and Presbyterians

The Gorham Street Methodist church was the scene of a union Thanksgiving service by the Methodist and Presbyterian congregations, yesterday morning at 10.30. There was a large attendance.

Rev. Hiram W. Hook, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church, preached the sermon.

Rev. J. W. Stephan, pastor of the Worthen Street M. E. church, presided at the services. The governor's proclamation was read at the opening by Rev. S. A. Jackson, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church. Rev. N. W. Matthews, pastor of the Gorham Street Methodist church, gave the responsive reading, and the Scripture lesson was read by Rev. J. T. Carlyon, pastor of the Centralville M. E. church. Hymn 263 was read by Rev. Panos Ginieres, pastor of the Greek Methodist mission, and benediction was conferred by Rev. Mr. Stephan. The music was given by the choir of the church under the direction of Joseph Wilmot. J. E. Leith was the organist.

The Swedish Churches

A union Thanksgiving service by the Swedish churches was held in the Swedish Methodist Episcopal church in Moore street. Rev. John Elmen of the Swedish Congregational church had charge of the service, and the following program was carried out:

Song by the congregation.
Reading of the Thanksgiving proclamation, by Rev. John Elmen.
Bible reading and prayer, by Rev. Nelson Hedeen of the Swedish Baptist church.
Song by a union male chorus.
Violin solo by Miss Esther Anderson.
Sermon by Rev. John J. Hamilton of the Swedish Methodist church.
Song by male chorus.
Praise and prayer service led by Rev. John Elmen.
Singing of the doxology and benediction by Rev. Nelson Hedeen.

A Birthday Party

Last evening a birthday social was held at the Swedish M. E. church and the affair was a very successful and a very enjoyable one. The program included selections by a male quartet, composed of Victor Hedlund, Charles Laurin, Franz Helston and Mr. Forsberg. Among the other features were: Piano duet, Misses Gerda and Emelie Laurin; vocal solo, Charles Laurin; vocal duet, Mr. Hedlund and Miss Emelie Laurin and violin solo, Albin Pihl. The pastor, Rev. John Hamilton, spoke briefly during the evening.

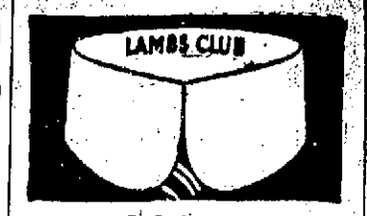

Individual Responsibility

The Thanksgiving Day service at St. Anne's church yesterday morning was well attended. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Chambre, preached a strong sermon on individual responsibility. "Let us realize," he said, "that we are citizens of no mean country; that we are citizens of no mean city; and as citizens, let use discharge our duty in the fear and love of God and for the good of our fellow creatures.

Eighty Years Old

The Eliot Congregational church will observe its 80th birthday anniversary this evening. The exercises will commence at 7.30 and there will be special music by the Eliot quartet.

A letter from Dr. Greene, the pastor emeritus, will be read, and an address of fellowship will be given by Rev. Smith Baker, D. D., who participated also in the 50th anniversary exercises 30 years ago.

CABINET CHANGE

Is Urged on President Taft

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Western republicans, not identified with the insurgent cause, are urging that President Taft put his administration upon a new basis. From their standpoint the time is very opportune. Their conversation, as they arrive for the session of congress, centres much upon a reorganization of the cabinet.

They speak much, also, about the president getting an administration candidate for the minority leadership into the field for the purpose of sidetracking "Uncle Joe" Cannon. These are only two instances, but in a general way the westerners would have the president assert himself toward the control of the party and a possible reorganization of its factions.

They say, as matters stand now, that Mr. Taft's renomination in 1912 is almost a foregone conclusion. They take quite as unkindly, as do many eastern republicans, to the candidacy of Senator Cummins, arguing that the Iowan could hardly hope to win eastern votes against a fairly acceptable democratic candidate. They claim there is doubt whether Col. Roosevelt wants another nomination and whether he could get the nomination if he would. By such a process of elimination they see the president's renomination well assured.

Unless he can gain popular confidence they fear he could not be re-elected. But they say it is 18 months till the National convention meets, during which time much could be done toward putting the party into shape for a victory.

Cabinet Changes Urged

They are singling out three members of the cabinet as meeting with more or less popular disapproval in their section of the country. These are Atty.-Gen. Wickersham, Postmaster General Hitchcock and Secretary of the Interior Ballinger.

LOST AN ARM

LAWRENCE MAN VICTIM OF GUNSHOT WOUND

LAWRENCE, Nov. 25.—Word was received here yesterday that Irving Brainerd, a chauffeur of 32 Washington street, this city, underwent amputation of his right arm in the Portland General hospital as a result of a gunshot wound.

He started Monday with the touring car of A. F. Trumbull of this city and drove to Bridgton, Me., Mr. Trumbull having left here previously on a hunting trip. Brainerd was to accompany him on a further trip. A gun that rested between the two seats of the auto was exploded and the charge entered Brainerd's arm.

INJURIES FATAL

Boy Killed in a Football Game

WINSTED, Conn., Nov. 25.—Harry Lee, aged 17 years, was killed here yesterday in a football game between the T. A. B. team and the Gilbert preparatory school eleven.

While attending an end run young Lee, who was fullback on the T. A. B. team, was tackled so forcibly that his head protection was loosened and fell from its place and he was thrown backward. Dr. W. S. Richards, who reached the field before Medical Examiner William S. Hulbert, says the lad was unconscious when he arrived and that he died within a few minutes of concussion of the brain, sustained probably by his head coming in contact with a stone hidden on a level with the grass of the gridiron.

Some of his team mates declare that the injured player not only walked a few steps after being tackled, but that he murmured something which sounded like "Don't mind this. Little hard luck. Go ahead and beat 'em."

DIED OF WOUND

Mrs. Butterworth Passed Away Today

Mrs. Louisa Butterworth who during a temporary aberration of mind slashed her throat with a razor at the home of her daughter, 840 Lakeview avenue, Monday morning, died at 3.25 o'clock this morning at the Lowell hospital, where she had been since she committed the rash act.

Mrs. Butterworth, who was 64 years of age, had been ill for 10 or 12 years, and during the past couple of years had been an invalid. Monday morning while her daughter was hanging clothes on the line Mrs. Butterworth entered her son's room and securing a razor drew it across her throat, severing the windpipe.

The ambulance was summoned and the woman was taken to the Lowell hospital, but after she had been examined and everything possible done to save her life the hospital officials announced that the chances for recovery were very small.

She is survived by one son, Charles A. Butterworth, and six daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Hill, Mrs. Christiana Leach, Mrs. Louisa Holt, Mrs. Annie Kershaw, Mrs. Eleanor Cummings, and Miss Agnes Butterworth. The body was moved to the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Leach, No. 840 Lakeview avenue, by Undertaker Geo. M. Eastman.

FRUIT GROWER

FOUND DEAD IN FIELD AT ROCHESTER, N. H.

ROCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 25.—The body of Frank H. Tuttle, 22 years old, a fruit grower, who disappeared late yesterday afternoon, was found yesterday lying face downward in a field some distance from his home with a bullet hole through the heart.

A revolver with one chamber empty was found 30 feet from the body. An autopsy was held and it was found that death was probably due to accident. Tuttle left his home to set traps.

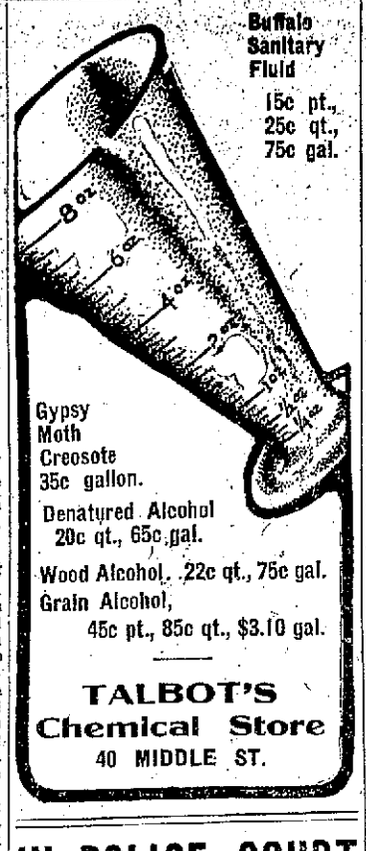

He was one of the leading fruit growers of the state, his specialty being apples. He leaves a wife.

THREE PETITIONS

WERE HEARD BY COMMITTEE ON SEWERS

The committee on sewers met Wednesday night and gave hearings on three petitions. It was voted to view the sites of proposed work before taking any action. The petitions heard were:

J. A. Foisy and others, for a sewer in West Sixth street, from Aiken avenue to Ennell street; Mrs. Ella L. Pierce and Thomas W. Johnson, for a sewer in Butman road from the Oakland sewer, southerly, and Benjamin Lejeunesse, for a sewer in Albion street, from West Third street. Alderman Connors was absent from the meeting.

IN POLICE COURT

Very Small Docket After the Holiday

This morning's session of the police court was a comparatively short one despite the fact that yesterday was a holiday. The number of prisoners in the dock this morning was very small, even smaller than the average daily attendance, which speaks well of the law abiding qualities of the citizens of Lowell together with the manner in which the police department keeps tabs on the liquor traffic.

Neglect of Wife

The continued case of Louis Kavoures, charged with failing to provide proper support for his wife, was called, Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue for the defense and Lawyer J. Joseph Hennessy for the complainant. Several months ago the defendant appeared before the court and was ordered to pay to his wife the sum of $2 each week. He did not do this, the contention being that he was unable to work all of the time owing to a serious illness and also that when he did work he received but $6 a week.

When the case was called this morning Mr. Donahue produced a doctor's certificate to the effect that Kavoures is an invalid and practically unable to work. The court decided to continue the matter until one week from tomorrow morning in order that the doctor might be summoned into court in order to testify as to the defendant's condition.

Codding Was Defaulted

Jesse H. Codding, who during the early part of the week was ordered to pay $6 per week towards the support of his children and who was to come into court this morning to furnish a bond to assure the court that the money would be paid, failed to put in an appearance and at the order of the court Codding was declared defaulted.

Drunken Offenders

Joseph Twoomey and Thomas A. Coan, charged with being drunk, were each ordered to pay a fine of $6. There was one first offender who was fined $2 and seven simple drunks were released.

John Maciulevich was arrested late Wednesday afternoon by Lieut. James Brosnan on a complaint charging him with feloniously assaulting Mrs. Eva Markelova on November 21.

He was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning and entered a plea of not guilty. The case was continued till Wednesday.

TIM MURNANE

Timothy H. Murnane, the noted baseball authority and president of the New England league, gave an interesting talk on baseball at the Y. M. C. A., Wednesday before a large and appreciative audience. In the course of his remarks Mr. Murnane made the following prediction:

"Baseball—why, baseball is going to be the universal game. Before many years, world's series games will be truly such, between teams from all parts of the world, instead of between teams from the United States."

LIVES IN PERIL

Ten Persons Escaped From Building

EVERETT, Nov. 25.—Ten lives were imperiled in East Everett early yesterday morning by a fire which broke out at 60 Malden street while all occupants of the building were sleeping. Neighbors, who were awakened by the glare of the flames bursting through the roof of the house, hastily aroused the sleepers by pounding on their doors and all escaped in scanty clothing, but were able to save few effects. Although the building was not destroyed, the upper part of the house was gutted and the contents of the lower floor were badly damaged by the volumes of water poured upon the flames by the fire department.

The building was a two and one-half story wooden double house, numbered 58 and 60 Malden street. The fire started from an unknown cause in the upper part of No. 60, occupied by Frederick L. Skerry. The women members of the Skerry family were away, but Mr. Skerry's brother-in-law, Alton Knowlton, was sleeping in the house and they escaped just in time to save their lives. The lower floor was vacant.

NEARLY DROWNED

MAN JUMPED OFF TRAIN AND FELL INTO RIVER

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 25.—George Hannon of Revere had a narrow escape from being drowned in the Piscataqua river Wednesday night. He came home to pass Thanksgiving with his family on the late train, being a passenger in the last car. The train was a long one and when it stopped in this city the car containing Mr. Hannon was well up in the freight yard.

When the train pulled through the station he thought it was Portsmouth, but being uncertain he walked through several cars until he met the porter, who informed him that they were leaving Portsmouth and the next stop was Biddeford.

The train at this time was under good headway, but Hannon, without saying anything, walked to the platform and jumped off. The train was just crossing Nobles island bridge, and when Hannon jumped he struck the ground near the abutment and being unable to stop himself was thrown headlong into the river.

He managed to keep afloat until his cries for help attracted the attention of Crossing Tender John Leary, who with George McIntosh of Noble's island and John Williams, watchman at the Dover branch switch, ran to the rescue.

BOMB CHECKED

Police Officer Took a Great Risk

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—At the risk of being blown to pieces, Policeman Benjamin Fay rushed into a tenement house yesterday and extinguished the burning fuse of a bomb just in time to save 16 families from possible death. Salvatore Pizza, janitor of the tenement, saw in the dark hallway a tiny jet of flame sputtering at the end of the fuse. Not knowing what it was he picked up the bomb, but set it down in a hurry and ran from the building. He found Policeman Fay and had told him what had happened. Fay ran into the hallway and stepped on the burning fuse.

The tenants in the building say they have received no black hand letters.

The most terrific Thanksgiving rush of my career leaves me engulfed in a sea of Overcoat and Suit orders. All over my circuit from Boston westward to Buffalo, business has been of unprecedented volume---so much so that I had to stop taking orders Saturday for Thanksgiving delivery.

Can You Give Me a Week's Time?

If you can give me a week's time on your order I beg of you to come in to my store today or tomorrow. I know you think a good suit can't be made for my prices. That's what the other fellow used to think till he saw the goods. The men who swamp me with business bought clothing before as well as you. They are intelligent men, the same as you. They doubted, but they called to satisfy themselves. I sold them by the force of bargains---by the strength of comparisons.

Can you give me a week on your order---there is no question about your buying---you can't resist the goods at the price. But I want a week's time.

BOY WAS KILLED

Was Shot Dead by His Companion

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 25.—Charles Mulchy, 15 years of age, was shot and killed by his companion of the same age, Charles Jones, near their home at Forest Port yesterday. They had been hunting and were on their way home when, according to the story told last night to Coroner Sparks, Jones pointed his gun playfully at Mulchy, telling him to "halt." The gun went off and the charge entered the lad's head, death being almost instantaneous. Jones says he did not know the gun was loaded.

SEARS ARRESTED

Two Charges of Homicide Against Him

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 25.—The murder of Rev. Anzi L. Armstrong and his wife, at their home at Dutch Neck last Wednesday night, has resulted in two charges of homicide being preferred against John Sears, who was last night held without bail.

Rudolph Norhaus, who was taken with Sears, was released.

Early last evening, after having submitted Sears to a severe examination, Prosecutor Crossley and County Detective Kirkham went to Dutch Neck and, as the prosecutor expressed himself, Sears' mother, the housekeeper in the Armstrong household, was impounded in the custody of constables.

Mr. Crossley would not discuss the surveillance of the mother. The prosecutor also refused to discuss the motive for the murder.

The investigation, it was stated, established the fact that the Rev. Mr. Armstrong and his wife were killed by a shot from a double barrelled gun, which was found yesterday standing in a corner in the kitchen of the Armstrong home. This gun was borrowed by Sears two weeks ago from a neighbor for gunning.

Sears is a half breed and his mother is a negress. Mrs. Sears has been housekeeper in the Armstrong family for more than 25 years.

THREE DROWNED

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—A pleasure sail on Jamaica bay resulted in the drowning yesterday of three men, while a fourth, who was rescued, is in a serious condition as the result of exposure and immersion in the cold waters of the bay. The dead are J. Hogstrom, Harry Hopper and Louis Kester, all of Brooklyn. They were drowned when the 25 foot launch Landerer was capsized by the breakers off Rockaway Point. Bernard Blumquist was picked up by launches.

HOUSE OF LORDS

Has Ignored the Government's Bill

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The house of lords last night, without a division, adopted the resolutions of Lord Lansdowne, the opposition leader of the house of lords and decided to send them, together with Lord Roseberry's plans for the reformation of the membership of the lords to the house of commons. The upper chamber then adjourned until Monday, when dissolution of parliament will take place. Thus the government's veto bill has been ignored by the house of lords.

A noticeable feature of the debate has been the number of liberal peers who supported Lord Lansdowne's scheme and opposed the government's veto bill.

Malthoid Roofing

You cannot get a good weather and waterproof roof for your building from a poor roofing.

The roof of your building is the most important part of it and unless your roofing is right, there will be no peace of mind for those who live under it.

A roof that leaks causes no end of trouble, beside a lot of damage.

The best way to protect yourself from these unnecessary troubles, is to use Malthoid Roofing.

The makers of Malthoid Roofing guarantee it to be a perfect roofing—to give satisfaction and to last as long as the building it covers, provided it is properly laid and ordinary care is taken of it.

Twenty-six years of experience enables The Paraffine Paint Co., of San Francisco and Chicago to guarantee Malthoid Roofing under these conditions.

To be absolutely sure that you have no roofing troubles, buy Malthoid and lay it properly

One True Medicinal Whiskey

Beware of imitations and substitutes unscrupulous dealers tell you are "just as good as" Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

These cheap concoctions are foisted on the people with the intent to deceive, by dealers mindful of their profits only and caring nothing for the health of their patrons. Some go so far as to try to make you believe it is Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

Substitutes Are Dangerous

When a remedy has been before the public for more than half a century, has been prescribed and used by the best doctors and in prominent hospitals, and has carried the blessings of health into as many thousands of homes as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has, imitations are bound to arise. But they can imitate the bottle and label only—no one can imitate the contents.

Facsimile of package and bottle greatly reduced.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey Is Beneficial

It is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain. Its palatability and its freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach. It has been used with remarkable results in the treatment of consumption, pneumonia, grip, coughs, colds, asthma, malaria, low fevers, stomach troubles and all wasted and diseased conditions.

The genuine Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is sold in sealed bottles only. The "Old Chemist's Head" is on the label and over the cork is an engraved seal. Be certain this seal is unbroken. Sold by druggists, grocers and dealers everywhere or direct, $1.00 a large bottle.

THANKSGIVING JOY

Carried to the Inmates of the Various Institutions Yesterday

Keeper Shaw and Supt. Conley Made the Day a Memorable One for the People at the Jail and Chelmsford Street Hospital

While in the homes Thanksgiving day was grandly observed the inmates in the different local institutions were not forgotten and in each a special observance was made.

At Ayer Home

The 101 children of the Ayer Home enjoyed Thanksgiving day in a royal manner. The morning was devoted to games indoors and at 1.45 all sat down to a grand repast of turkey and all the fixin's, topped of by a marvelous pudding. They ate until their little "tummies" were plum full so full in fact that when supper hour arrived nobody wanted any. In the evening 14 of the children put on a vaudeville show, each number of which was received with tumultuous applause. After the show the performers were given an oyster supper.

St. Peter's Orphanage

The 60 children of St. Peter's orphanage opened the day by attending mass in the chapel, after which the morning was devoted to games. Promptly at noon a big dinner of turkey, etc., followed by ice cream and cake was served. In the afternoon the children took a long walk into the country.

Edson Orphanage

At the Theodore Edson orphanage, the boys attended the Thanksgiving day service at St. Anne's church in the morning, after which a special dinner, bountiful as befits the day, was served, the rector, Rev. Dr. Chambre, being a guest at the table. After dinner the boys amused themselves with play, in and out of doors, making a genuine holiday of the occasion.

French American Orphanage

The children of the French-American orphanage after attending mass in the early morning, enjoyed games until noon time when a fine dinner was served.

Jail and Hospital

At the Lowell jail 130 inmates consumed 14 turkeys and a host of other things for dinner and pies and doughnuts galore for supper. During the afternoon they were allowed the freedom of the corridors.

At the Chelmsford street hospital 160 inmates had a sumptuous dinner and a social time was enjoyed in the afternoon. The inmates were treated to a dinner abounding with good things and one that was fully appreciated by all those whose health enabled them to join in the festivities.

At Y. W. C. A. Rooms

A special Thanksgiving dinner was served at the Young Women's Christian Association, for all of the boarders and a few invited guests. In the afternoon there was a gathering for social purposes, of those who are resident in the Association home.

Children's Festival

A delightful children's festival was held in the Sacred Heart school yesterday afternoon with a large and merry attendance. The children conducted everything except the refreshment department and they did it well. The candy table was under the charge of Miss Nora Ryan, assisted by Misses Anna Ryan, Katherine Boyle and Margaret Connolly. There was a fish pond conducted by Miss May Cowell, assisted by Misses Margaret Hansburg and Katie Foley, and John Tully. An electric shocking machine was conducted by Frank Kneafsey, and the "hoop-la" was cared for by Cornelius Lynch, assisted by Joseph Jennings and Eddie Kenney, the latter as spieler. A tonic booth was conducted by Jerry Keohane, assisted by Arthur Spencer and Leo Constantineau as spieler.

Dr. J. B. O'Connor, James Burns and George Brennan conducted the games in the hall. The candy table had a beautifully dressed doll, which was drawn by Miss Esther King, 9 Fay street.

Wednesday night's entertainment was repeated and the school room scene and the school room pranks made a decided hit with the children. Miss Elizabeth Miskella and her troupe of boys and girls deserve much credit for their fine performance.

At St. Michael's

The annual Thanksgiving day entertainment by the children of St. Michael's parochial school was held in the school hall Wednesday and was in keeping with the high order of entertainments held at that school. Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor, and the curates of St. Michael's were present as the special guests of the occasion. The program was as follows:

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

The Disease Now Threatening Children

Prevent It If Possible

The spread of infantile paralysis has become alarming throughout the country. If your children complain of headache and fever, with pain in the back and limbs, send immediately for your family doctor, as these symptoms usually denote the approach of this dreaded disease.

While awaiting the arrival of your physician, bathe the spine and legs the entire length with warm water, using brisk friction.

If your children are ailing, puny or fretful, don't wait, but give them Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. This wonderful remedy is, above all, a family medicine, and its name is a household word in thousands of homes all over the land. Parents give the children Nervura as a and thereby ward off this terrible disease.

Don't let the little ones remain weak, nervous and run down in health for in their weakened condition a sudden attack of any disease may prove fatal. You can readily tell when they are out of order—they seem dull, lie about listlessly, lose interest in their work, play or studies; lose their appetite, look pale, are nervous and restless nights, and complain of feeling tired mornings. They may be bilious, constipated, and have a coated tongue, with possibly some nervous twitchings. The best medicine in the world is Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, known and used everywhere as the great household remedy. It is not a patent medicine, and is perfectly harmless, being made from pure vegetable remedies and harmless herbs, wonderful in their health restoring powers, and can be given to infants, children or the weakest invalid with absolute confidence and assurance of good results.

DR. GREENE'S NERVURA

strengthens and invigorates the entire system, restoring a healthful color to the cheek, refreshing sleep, strong nerves, stout limbs, and that bounding health and vitality which all children should have.

Parents have confidence in Dr. Greene's Nervura, and remember the great advantage of giving their children a medicine put up by Dr. Greene, a regular practising physician, who guarantees his Nervura and will stand behind it at all times. Dr. Greene will give free consultation and advice, personally or by mail, at his office, 34 Temple place, Boston, Mass.

GANG OF THIEVES

Proved to be Crowd of Boys

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—To their admitted astonishment the police of the East Side precincts from Forty-second to Ninety-sixth streets discovered that the "Showcase gang," of which they have been long in pursuit, was made up apparently of about 15 small boys, some so young they lisp, with a 17-year-old fellow as stern master.

Wednesday night there faced the desk lieutenant in East Fifty-first street Joseph Lynch, 17 years, of 341 East Sixty-second street; John Kelly, 12 years, of 1109 First avenue, and George Lynch, 10 years, brother of Joseph. Though Joe sneered, Johnny and George howled. When the police demanded that they reveal the names of the other young marauders they howled louder than ever.

Johnny Kelly and six or seven other boys swooped into Jacob Greenwald's art store at 926 Third avenue, Tuesday night, grabbed a half dozen pictures and bolted. A few doors below stood Herman Germaine of the Germaine company, which has a 5 and 10 cent store. He seized young Kelly, took the pictures from him and returned them to Greenwald.

Wednesday night the youngsters repeated the attempt to rob Greenwald. Germaine again captured Johnny Kelly. This time he called Patrolman Frazier. Fierce questioning got Johnny to say that he mustn't stay there longer 'cause the "boss" was waiting for him at Fifty-Seventh street. Patrolman Frazer borrowed Germaine's hat and coat and left his helmet and tunic for security. He made Johnny walk up the street and trailed him. Thus Joseph Lynch was captured. On the return trip Georgie ran out to speak to his brother and was gathered in.

Johnny Kelly had three pairs of men's gloves, nine boxes of rouge and a picklock fashioned out of a silver spoon, the bowl of which had been filed to a fine V shaped wedge.

CT. ST. ANTOINE

Held Reception to Its Charter Members

Court St. Antoine, C. O. F. held a delightful reception to its charter members at St. Joseph's college hall, last evening on the occasion of the presentation by the court of the silver cup won by Court St. Antoine in the last membership recruiting contest. In addition to many friends of the members, high state court officers were present from Lawrence, Haverhill and Cambridge.

Frank Ricard, chief ranger of the court, was master of ceremonies and Mayor Meehan was the first speaker. His Honor extended the greetings of the city to the visiting dignitaries and also to the charter members and chief rangers for whom the reception was given. Himself a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters, His Honor spoke in high terms of the work done by it and by benevolent organizations in general.

Rev. Fr. Joseph Lefebvre, O. M. I., spoke on "The Clergy," outlining the duties, ideals and usefulness of the Catholic priesthood; J. A. Dauphinais of New Bedford, state trustee, spoke on "The Catholic Order of Foresters;" N. V. Marcotte of Cambridge, state chief ranger, spoke on "Our Celebration;" Eugene Souliliere, of Worcester, state treasurer, spoke on "Our Societies;" A. N. Boulais spoke on "Our Charter Members," and J. J. E. Bellemare, first chief ranger of the court, spoke on "Our Past Chief Rangers."

The cup was presented by F. X. Bilodeau of Montreal, vice chief ranger of the high court. Mr. Bilodeau in presenting the cup outlined interestingly the conditions and details of the contest in which Court St. Antoine had won such a signal victory. Only one court in America, Court St. Elizabeth of Chicago, is larger than Court St. Antoine, and that by a small number, while Court St. Antoine surpassed all others for the number of new members recruited during the contest.

Mr. Ricard gracefully accepted the cup in the name of the court.

The former chief rangers present were J. J. E. Bellemare, J. W. Goulet, Napoleon Cossette, Azarie Thibault, Frederick Giroux, Arthur Thibault, Dr. A. C. Payette.

The charter members were Dr. Pacifique Contre, J. W. Goulet, J. J. E. Bellemare, A. N. Boulais, C. M. Bourgeois, Timothee Vigeant, J. B. G. Martin, Jos. D. Gadoua, J. F. Milot, L. N. Milot, Samuel Roy, Avila P. Lussier, Dr. L. V. Rochette, Stephen Rochette, David Rhault, J. B. Domors, J. H. Domors, J. Boucher, Narcisse Desloges, Amedee Gelinas, Hippolyte Geoffroy, Onesime Forget, Philippe Leduc.

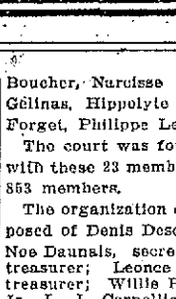

The court was founded Feb. 16, 1896, with these 23 members. It now counts 853 members.

The organization committee was composed of Denis Descheneaux, president; Noe Daunais, secretary; J. H. Gregoire, treasurer; Leonce Fortin, assistant treasurer; Willie Peltier, Henri Achin, Jr., L. J. Cornellier, J. J. Bellemare, Joseph Parant, Lucien Ducharme, Joseph Robitaille, Alex Morin, A. J. Poulin, Patrick Lacourse, J. B. Sicard, Jean Paradis, Onesime Tremblay, Arthur Lavellie, Alberic Ducharme, Philippe Cote, Charles Delaronde.

At 8 o'clock in the morning at St. Jean Baptiste church, a requiem mass was sung for the deceased members of the court. Rev. Fr. Arthur Berneche, O. M. I., officiated.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength, and proved worth mountains of gold to me. For the sake of other suffering women I am willing you should publish my letter." — Mrs. CHARLES BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills.

MEETING OF THE HOUSE OF GOVERNORS: ITS SIGNIFICANCE AND IMPORTANCE

"A new idea in American politics, aiming to promote uniform legislation on vital questions, to conserve state rights, to lessen centralization, to secure a fuller, freer voice of the people and to make a stronger nation."

By CHARLES N. LURIE.

IN the words quoted above is sounded the call to the American people to give heed to the coming meeting of the governors and the governors elect of the states at Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 29, and in Louisville, Nov. 30 to Dec. 3. Not only should the thinking American follow the reports of the deliberations of the meetings as brought to him by the press, but he should endeavor to grasp the significance of the conference and of the subsequent annual gatherings and to fix in his mind their new place in the scheme of American government.

A body without power save that of recommendation to the legislatures, yet the only practicable method of co-operation by the states of the Union in those matters which require concerted action—such is the house of governors. Its primary purposes are, first, the institution of personal association and contact of the governors; second, enabling them individually and their states to profit by one another's experiences in directing state affairs; third, advancement of the cause of uniform legislation, where such legislation is deemed desirable, by united state action where United States action has failed and must fail because of constitutional limitation of power.

There is also the combating of the idea of centralization, but it should be understood clearly that there is no suggestion of antagonism toward the federal government. The spheres of national and state action are separated by the constitution and must remain separated if the provisions of the constitution are to be observed. The father of the house of governors plan, William George Jordan, who is the permanent secretary of the house, states this last named purpose of the conferences thus: "The states are called upon through the house of governors to give heed to the lapse of state rights and powers consciously or unconsciously abrogated."

Remedy Sought For Evils.

Rights and powers, duties and responsibilities belonging legally and morally to the states have been permitted to lapse through the neglect of the states themselves. It is to alter this state of affairs and to effect a cure of some of the evils from which we are suffering—evils which can be remedied only through the action of the state governments working in harmony—that the house of governors will be called upon to lend its collective wisdom.

The federal constitution was ratified by the thirteen original states and has been indorsed by the thirty-three which have since entered the Union. (Arizona and New Mexico are not yet full fledged states.) Each state is an independent commonwealth, with sovereign powers within its own boundaries. The powers conferred by the states on the federal government, which stands, therefore, toward the state governments in the relation of creature to creators, are those only which are explicitly and expressly conferred on it and are not reserved to the states themselves. They are seventeen in number, carefully enumerated and defined. Any action by the federal government outside of these restricted powers is extra legal and illegal and will not bear test before the United States supreme court, the interpreter and guardian of the constitution.

Power of the Governors.

As stated above, the power of the governors is that of recommendation solely, but that recommendation would have vastly more power if indorsed by the united action of the state executives. It is contended that only through co-operation by the states, functioning through the state legislatures and actuated by the recommendations of the governors, can concerted state action as deemed necessary by the wisdom of the governors be made effective. The need of agreement and uniform laws on certain important matters, such as divorce, extradition of fugitives from justice, life insurance and automobile regulations, is conceded.

Cannot the federal government attend to those matters and apply the proper remedies by means of federal legislation? The reply is simply that the central power may not legislate on such matters without exceeding its rights as defined by the constitution. Constitutional amendment may be suggested, but the process of changing the fundamental law of the nation cannot be undertaken to meet such cases and need not be undertaken when so simple a plan as concerted state action to be procured through the action of the house of governors is available.

Granted, therefore, that concerted state action is desirable, how shall it be obtained? There is no provision in the constitution for periodical meetings of representatives of the states. It may be urged that the senators represent the states. They do so only in relation to the federal legislation enacted in pursuance of the objects expressly enumerated in the national pact. Taken collectively, the senators are only a second chamber for the consideration of proposed laws. With the house of governors in active, continuous operation we shall have a perfect bicameral or two chamber system, congress filling the need of national legislation and the house of governors representing the relations of the states to one another.

Simplicity of the Idea.

Given annual meetings of the governors, what better engine of intercommunication and interchange of ideas can be devised? These broad minded men will meet and will discuss in harmony the needs of their states. They will talk over what has been done and is being done to solve the problems common to all of the states, and they will reach bases of agreement.

It should be understood that uniformity of laws is not the only purpose of these governors' meetings, but that uniformity of desire to enact the best laws for each individual state is a desired end. Uniformity of laws is neither desirable nor desired in some instances. It is as a clearing house of ideas on state government and as a medium of friendly association of the state executives that the house of governors finds its highest expression.

Foremost in the minds of the governors at the coming meeting will be no doubt the question of the conservation of natural resources, now much discussed, and it probably will be one of the subjects of formal debate. It is asserted by the advocates of state conservation that the subject of conservation must be considered from two viewpoints, one presenting the duty and right of the federal government to conserve the resources of its own property, the other showing a similar duty and right of the states in regard to their natural wealth and that of their citizens. The vital interest of the states in this question is well evidenced by the fact that four-fifths of the standing timber of the country is owned by private persons or corporations, subject to the jurisdiction of the states. With this four-fifths the federal government can have no direct relationship. The same condition exists between the states and the owners of the water rights, the minerals, etc.

The problem of the conservation of the greatest part of the country's resources is solvable by the states and by the states only, say the men who see in the house of governors a means of salvation for the idea of a federal union, challenged, they assert, by the tendency of a centralized federal government to enter upon the consideration of matters with which it has no proper concern.

The first business of the house of governors at the coming meeting will be that of organization. The committee of arrangements consists of Governor Willson of Kentucky, the host of his fellow executives; Governor Ansel of South Carolina and Governor Hadley of Missouri. Among the governors who will deliver addresses before the conference are Burke of North Dakota and Norris of Montana. A budget will be adopted, and the governors will consult on the matter of asking the states to appropriate the money needed to carry on the permanent organization of the house. It will be assessed in proportion to the states' population. The expenses will be small in comparison to the good to be gained. Provision will be made for a permanent office, probably in New York. The first meeting of the house of governors was held in Washington in January, 1910, but probably never again will there be a meeting in the national capital. It is proposed to hold the meetings in the state capitals, in each of them in turn.

William George Jordan is the man who conceived this new idea in the American governmental system. He made it public in a pamphlet issued in 1907, and it met with instant favor. Its simplicity and utility appealed to the publicists, and they gave to it their enthusiastic indorsement. Many of them have recorded their opinions that it supplied an essential, heretofore missing part in the mechanism of our government inadvertently omitted by the fathers. The man to whom credit must be awarded for remedying the defect is a native and a resident of New York city and an editor and author of high standing. He has been connected with some of the country's best known periodicals and has written several books.

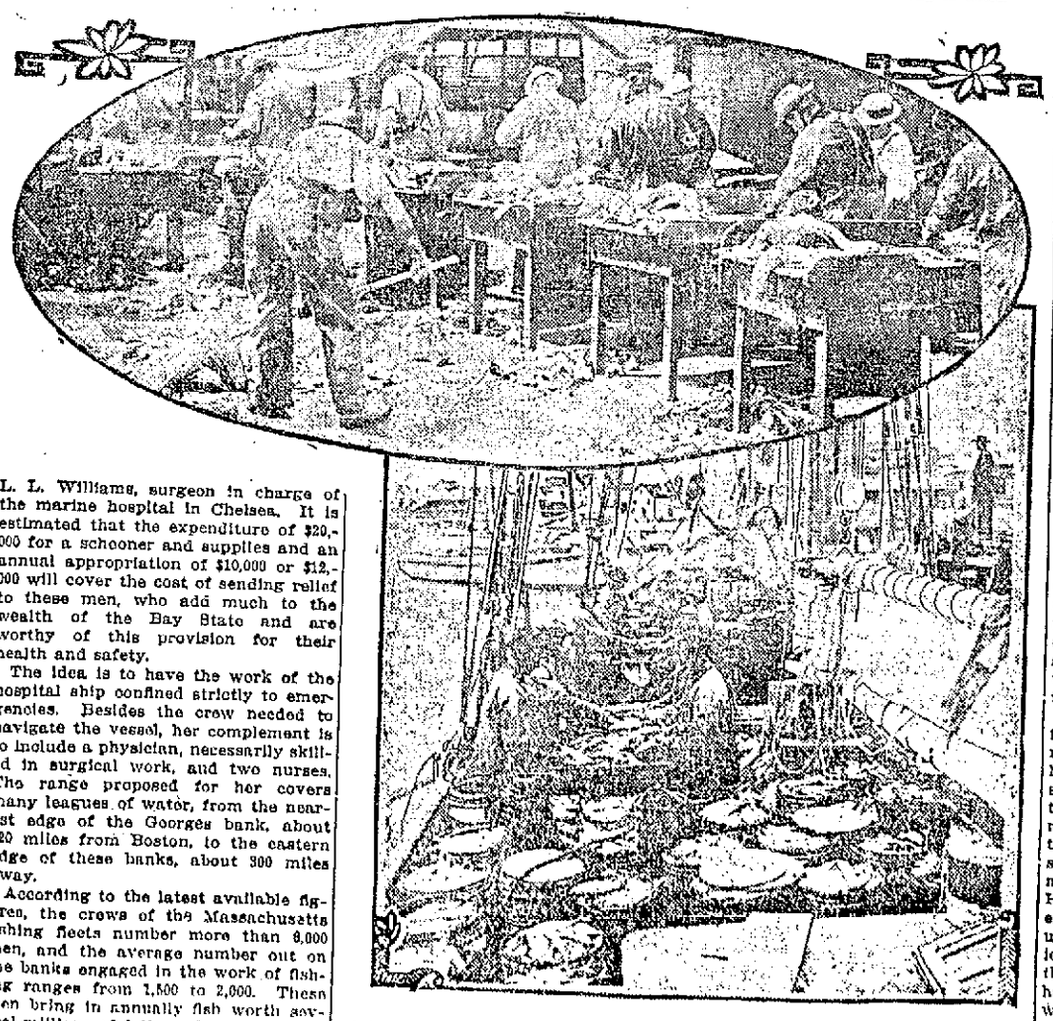

HOSPITAL SHIP TO BE GOOD SAMARITAN OF THE GLOUCESTER FISHERMAN

A GOOD SAMARITAN of the seas is what Massachusetts has planned to send out for the succor of its sons who meet with disaster on the waters of the great deep. A floating hospital well equipped to meet the emergencies of medical and surgical work among the fishermen has been recommended by Dr. L. L. Williams, surgeon in charge of the marine hospital in Chelsea. It is estimated that the expenditure of $20,000 for a schooner and supplies and an annual appropriation of $10,000 or $12,000 will cover the cost of sending relief to these men, who add much to the wealth of the Bay State and are worthy of this provision for their health and safety.

The idea is to have the work of the hospital ship confined strictly to emergencies. Besides the crew needed to navigate the vessel, her complement is to include a physician, necessarily skilled in surgical work, and two nurses. The range proposed for her covers many leagues of water, from the nearest edge of the Georges bank, about 120 miles from Boston, to the eastern edge of these banks, about 300 miles away.

According to the latest available figures, the crews of the Massachusetts fishing fleets number more than 8,000 men, and the average number out on the banks engaged in the work of fishing ranges from 1,500 to 2,000. These men bring in annually fish worth several millions of dollars. Their ports are Boston, Gloucester, Salem, Provincetown and other coast towns, but the majority of them call Gloucester their home.

For four centuries, without a break, the men of the Atlantic coasts of Europe and America have taken fish from the waters off the coast of Newfoundland and adjacent territories. No other industry in America can boast of so long an ancestry. During all these centuries men have reaped the harvest of the seas, paying for it in many cases with their lives and limbs. Not a year in all those 400 has passed without adding its quota to the ever lengthening list of the dead and maimed. The perils of the sea are many in winter, when much of the fishing is done.

UPPER PICTURE—CLEANING FISH ON A GLOUCESTER WHARF.
LOWER PICTURE—SCENE ON A FISHING SCHOONER.

Of all the perils of the fishing banks that of collision with a liner is the one most feared. "Collision" is hardly the word, since the shock so frequently fatal to the schooner, invariably mortal to the dory or smaller boat, is hardly felt by the leviathan of the seas. The preface to the disaster comes with the settling down of the fog which hides all things, even the sea, from the lookout on the steamer's bow and from the man in the dory. Then come the high, sharp steel prow of the liner looming out of the murk, the rending and crashing of timbers and the immersion in the icy water, followed in too many cases by crushing against the side of the big vessel. Such cases generally mean death without hope of rescue.

Other accidents of the sea, such as falls on the schooners, severe injuries due to cutting with the fish knives which play so large a part in the business, amputations of toes or fingers or greater members made necessary by freezing, shocks due to long immersion, etc., fall within the province of the hospital ship. The captains of the fishing schooners are amateur physicians and surgeons in many cases and carry with them remedies for the simple ills which might befall their men. But they are helpless in severe cases, and the hospital ship is to supply this need.

"Lines are graven early on the faces of the women of Gloucester," says a magazine writer. "The girl who marries a fisherman in her early twenties takes more than even chances of being a widow in her thirties. Memorial day in Gloucester is unique in its celebration of the terrible tax levied upon human life by a human industry. On that midwinter day children cast flowers upon the freezing waters of Gloucester harbor—one child to each flower, one flower for each victim of the sea during the preceding year. After the exercises in the harbor there is a memorial service at the city hall, with addresses, reading the names of the dead and prayers.

"In the winter the fisherman must fight to a finish his battle with the elements, for on the banks there is no harbor. He must brave storms which sweep his decks with waves so high that even a seaman dares not estimate them and which roll his craft until the coals burning in the galley are spilled upon its roof and the common name of all his stores of food is hash. He struggles with the wheel in weather that exhausts him in a fifteen minute shift and in the bitterest cold beats ice from rigging and decks, knowing that neglect means more flowers in the harbor on Memorial day. He rides out winter gales at the end of half a mile of cable, which it often takes a full day to hoist aboard."

WALTON WILLIAMS.

WINTER MAKES ACUTE THE QUESTION OF THE CITY BEGGAR

WHAT shall we folks of the big cities do with our beggars? Or, failing a satisfactory answer to this question, what shall we permit our beggars to do to us? We are called upon to reply to one or the other of these queries, especially at this season of the year, when mendicancy is on the increase in the big centers of population.

A glance at the calendar supplies the reason. Thanksgiving heralds the approach, or perhaps emphasizes the arrival, of the winter, and it also ushers in the ante-holiday season, when the thoughts of all turn to Christmas shopping and the streets begin to be filled with buyers. In the presence of throngs in the city streets lies the earnest of success for the beggar's efforts.

The first breath of approaching winter in the fields and roads of the rural sections turns the thoughts of the homeless wanderer to the city. It is cold work tramping, and the thought of the heated, if squalid, cheap city lodging house is grateful to the recollection. And, too, the city folk are "easy." They will part with their hard earned money without hesitation at the sight of distress, real or simulated.

Herein lies the very crux of the mendicancy problem, which is almost as old as the world itself and still ever now in its recurring phases. Shall we—"we" are the persons of moderate circumstances, to whom a dollar or its fraction represents real work and effort—yield to our praiseworthy charitable instincts and give without hesitation to the beggar who is obviously incapacitated by disease or deformity from earning his livelihood, or shall we pry and question and investigate and probe while the sufferer hungers and thirsts? Human charity sends the hand unhesitatingly to the pocket or the purse. Human wisdom bids us hesitate lest in giving "charity" we work directly a real injustice to the recipient and an indirect injury to the public.

The latter viewpoint is that of organized charity, the conclusion of wise, thoughtful men and women who look from the granting of immediate relief to the permanent uplifting of the mendicant. It is proved by investigation, say these sociologists, that money given on the street does little real good. It aids directly in the permanent pauperization of the beggar. It supplies him with the means of indulging vicious propensities, and it works an injury to the public by aiding in the dissemination of the diseases with which these street solicitors of aid are frequently afflicted. Very seldom, indeed, does the mendicant retire on his "earnings." Once a beggar, always a beggar, seems to be the rule.

To aid in remedying this condition, through which the charitable instincts of the public are made the instrument of perpetuating an undesirable state of affairs, the National Association For the Prevention of Mendicancy and Charitable Imposture has been established, with headquarters in New York and with James Forbes as its permanent secretary and director.

The pictures printed herewith show what the beggar of a large city is and what he may become if he evinces an interest in the improvement of his own condition. One of the pictures is that of a New York beggar gnawing at a crust of bread picked up in the street in the sight of passersby in order to excite pity and stimulate the giving of alms. The other is that of a man deprived of one of his legs in a railroad accident and enabled through organized charity to set up in business for himself selling newspapers.

INCENDIARY FIRE

Several Persons Rescued From Building

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Julius Mesigner, a step-brother of Belle Elmore, the actress, for whose murder Dr. Hawley Crippen was hanged in London on Wednesday, played a rescuer's part in an incendiary fire which raged in a Williamsburg apartment house today.

Mesigner, who lives in the house, rushed out of his rooms when the fire was discovered, gave warning to all the tenants on his floor, assisted a woman and her two children to safety and then half-dragged and half-carried an aged man and his daughter, both of them partially overcome by smoke, to the roof. The panic-stricken tenants all made their way across the roofs to safety.

The blaze was found to have started in the cellar and spread rapidly through the halls, the woodwork of which had been soaked with kerosene. The building was saved after a hard fight by the firemen.

DEATHS

DUNN—Miss Lucy Agnes Dunn died Thursday morning at St. John's hospital, aged 22 years.

Miss Dunn was a very popular and highly esteemed young resident of Biddeford, Me., where she was born, Feb. 18, 1888. She was educated in the schools of that city, graduating from the Biddeford high school, after which she entered St. John's hospital of this city and commenced the regular course of training which would fit her for her chosen profession of trained nurse.

Her loving and tender nature endeared her to the Sisters of Charity and respect and esteem of the nurses of the hospital. The body was placed on the 3.40 train by Undertaker John A. Finnegan and sent to the young woman's home, accompanied by the sister and brother of deceased. She also leaves three other brothers, William, Frederic and Charles.

O'CONNOR—The many friends of Garret J. O'Connor will be grieved to learn of his death, which occurred yesterday morning at St. John's hospital, at the age of 21 years, 6 months. He was born in this city, and was a graduate of St. Patrick's boys' academy, later attending Boston college, until ill health compelled him to relinquish his studies. He leaves a mother, Mrs. Ellen O'Connor. The body was taken to his home, 21 Coburn street, by Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

DONOVAN—Mrs. Elizabeth Donovan, a devout and much esteemed resident of St. Patrick's parish for the past 56 years, died last night at the home of her sister, Mrs. Daniel F. Lyons, 25 Cross street. She leaves one daughter, Miss Elizabeth Donovan, and a sister, Mrs. Daniel F. Lyons.

KENNESON—Mrs. Delia Kenneson, wife of William Kenneson, died suddenly yesterday afternoon. While seeing relatives to the car, a short distance from her house, she was taken ill and carried to the home of Mr. Coburn Emery nearby, where she expired after a few hours. Besides her husband, she leaves a mother, two brothers and three sisters and five children. The body was moved to her home, 25 Hadley street by Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

THE HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAM

STANDING—BAILEY, ROSTLER, EDGAR, MOYNAHAN, W. SPALDING, CARTER, D. SPALDING.
KNEELING—CAWLEY, CAPT. LEGGAT, DONOVAN, BOWERS.

The Lowell High school football team closed its season yesterday by defeating Arlington High by a score of 15 to 0 at Washington park. There was no question at any stage of the game as to which team would win, the only question in the minds of the spectators being relative to the score. The large attendance at the game demonstrated the fact that local lovers of football were well satisfied with the work of the team during the season.

Captain Leggat proved to be the star of the game. His run from the second kick-off for a touchdown, a distance of 70 yards, was one of the features of the game, the play causing the spectators to go wild with enthusiasm.

The game opened with Arlington kicking off to Lowell and from the centre of the field the Lowell team carried the ball over the goal line for a touchdown. Cawley made the touchdown and Donovan kicked the goal.

On the next kick-off Leggat received the ball and traveled down the field for the second touchdown, and Donovan later kicked the ball over the bar.

In the second period Arlington, on a series of open plays and forward passes carried the ball to about five yards of Lowell's goal line where it was lost on downs. Donovan punted out of immediate danger. When time was called the ball was in the centre of the field.

In the third period Lowell ran the ball towards her line and when on the 25 yard line Leggat kicked a goal from the field.

With a number of her substitutes in the lineup, Lowell started in the last period and carried the ball well down the field, only to lose it on a fumble. Soon after Lowell again started down for what seemed another touchdown, but because of alleged hurdling of the line was penalized and again lost her chance to score. The ball was in midfield when time was called.

Game Forfeited to Haverhill

The game between Lawrence and Haverhill High school football teams at Haverhill yesterday morning resulted in the game being awarded to Haverhill by a score of 1 to 0 after Lawrence had refused to abide by a decision of the officials.

Lawrence had the advantage during the first and second periods, but in the third period Haverhill started a series of forward passes and the ball was carried well into Lawrence territory.

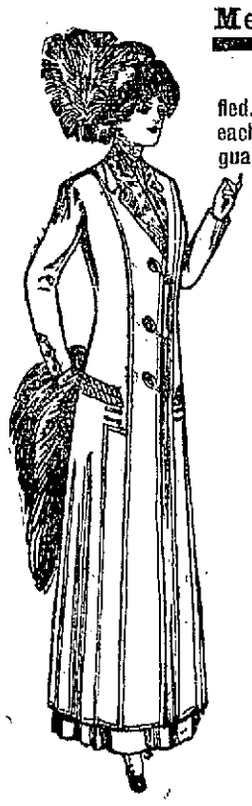

During the fourth period the ball was in Haverhill's possession on Lawrence's 15 yard line. Time was called to allow a substitute to replace one of the regular Lawrence players. On the next play Haverhill started a forward pass which carried the ball over for a touchdown, but Lawrence claimed that she only had 10 men in her lineup at the time. The referee claimed that he asked the Lawrence captain if he was ready for play before the game was resumed and received a nod from the Spickelville player, indicating that he was. Lawrence claimed that the ball should come back to where it was before the play was started, but the officials allowed the play to stand and Lawrence refused to continue and Haverhill was awarded the game by a score of 1 to 0.

SAGE MILLIONS

Are to go to Found a Model City

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The preliminary plans of the Russell Sage foundation, established by Mrs. Sage as a memorial to her husband, for the establishment of a model suburban city, providing healthful and beautiful homes for persons of moderate means, were announced yesterday.

Briefly, the project is to utilize a tract of 142 acres of land at Forest Hills gardens, Long island, nine miles from this city, in laying out a town for 1500 families.

The initial financial expenditure for the plan, it is announced now, amounts to $2,250,000. How much more will be needed to carry the plans to completion is not known, but the foundation trustees state that Mrs. Sage is prepared to supply all the funds required to carry out her ideas.

Through yesterday's announcement it is made plain that the enterprise is not a charity, but is to be made self-supporting, and yield a fair return on the investment. Its purpose rather is to enable persons in moderate circumstances to own their own homes at a minimum cost, while obtaining buildings of better construction than the average individual could erect, and amid surroundings and under restrictions that will make the little city an ideal residence place.

The minimum cost of paying for a home there, it is estimated, will be $21 a month, including principal and interest.

The officers of the foundation, who are associated with Mrs. Sage in the enterprise, are Robert W. De Forest president, Edward H. Bouton vice-president, Cleveland H. Dodge treasurer, and John M. Glenn general director. The statements outlining their plans were issued from Mr. De Forest's office yesterday.

For the present, laboring men whose wages are small will not benefit directly from Mrs. Sage's enterprise. The cost of land in Forest Hills, it is explained, precludes provision being made there for the working class.

FREIGHT RATES

The Evidence of Experts Heard Today

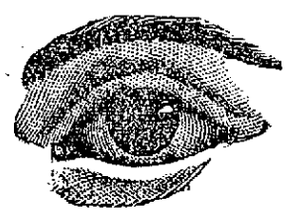

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.— Expert freight tariff testimony featured today's session of the interstate commerce commission, which is investigating the proposed advance in rates in the official classification territory. Several of the witnesses told of the effect of these scheduled increases by the eastern trunk lines, dwelling on the discriminatory phase of the railroads' plan to meet the alleged need for more freight revenue.

Henry Barlow of Chicago, a director of the Chicago Association of Commerce and for twenty years experienced in railroad business, testified that the class rates between New York and Chicago were unjust and therefore unreasonable and that the proposed advances were not fairly distributed. He said that the railroad plan put the entire increase of only 10 per cent. of the freight tonnage while the pretext of meeting wage increases applied to 100 per cent of all tonnage. He said that the proposed advance put 44 per cent of the burden on the first class freight and that substantially 75 per cent of the burden rested on shippers of first, second and third classes of freight. He estimated that substantially 10 1-10 per cent of the total railroad tonnage in the territory affected would bear the burden of the advance. He said that substantially 85 per cent of the total increase would be on class rates and 15 per cent on commodity rates. He contended that the big shippers would not bear as much of the burden as the small shippers and that the shippers under class rates during the past decade had contributed their full share of the proposed increased rates.

MICHIGAN'S LEFT GUARD AND YALE'S LEFT END THE TWO GREATEST PLAYERS OF YEAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—With the football season of 1910 at an end the time has come, following a long honored custom, to reward the gridiron heroes who have played the best and most consistent football during the season by selecting an All-American eleven to be composed of players worthy of such recognition. While the experts do not all agree as to what players shall be placed on the mythical eleven, there are two players who will be given positions on the team by every critic in the country, and they are Benbrook, captain and left guard of the Michigan team, and Kilpatrick, left end of the Yale eleven. These two men have shone brilliantly on the gridiron all season. In all Michigan's games Benbrook's playing has been one of the leading features. In the battle with Penn and Minnesota, Benbrook dominated the Wolverene team. He smashed line plunges unaided and several times bore back the players to make holes for Magidsohn, the Michigan halfback. Injuries kept Kilpatrick from showing his true form in the earlier games of the season, but in the battles with Princeton and Harvard he was the scintillating star. He handled the forward pass in perfect style all season, proved himself a wonderful runner in a broken field and covered all the kicks in great shape, besides proving himself a sure tackler. All he had to do to bring his man down was to lay his hands on him. Even with his hands extended his grip was vise-like. The two men are without doubt the greatest of the stars of the season.

NEW YORK POLICE

Think They Have Clue to Old Murder Case

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Henry D'Anaro is the name of a Frenchman the police are seeking today and possibly have information which will help solve the murder mystery uncovered recently through the finding of a man's body after eight years' concealment in a trunk in a West 37th street cellar.

William Lewis, a waiter and a Bohemian, the reputed owner of the trunk has been missing since his marriage day in January, 1905. Albert Callier, a French artist with whom Lewis is known to have chummed, disappeared in 1902, shortly after he is said to have received a remittance of $10,000 from a brother in Africa.

The police believe that the body found in the trunk is that of Callier. D'Anare is brought into the story as a man who chummed with Lewis and Callier for a time before the latter's disappearance. Two years afterward D'Anara appeared in his old haunts. He seemed poverty stricken and after lingering for a few months about the French boarding houses on the middle West Side disappeared for good.

It is now known that Lewis received a letter on the eve of his intended wedding and that he seemed greatly excited on reading it. He left his boarding-house hurriedly and neither his waiting fiance nor other former friends here have since seen him.

Whether the letter which Lewis received was from D'Anare and whether it contained reference to Callier which agitated Lewis and caused his summary departure, is something which the police would like to learn. Hence their search for D'Anare, no trace of whose whereabouts since early in 1905 appeared to have been found up to today.

ENGINEER DEAD

Lives of 300 Passengers in Danger

RACINE, Wis., Nov. 25.—The lives of 300 passengers on train number 26 on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, bound to Chicago, hung in the balance yesterday when Michael Crowley, engineer, was stricken with apoplexy at his post and died while the train was running at the rate of forty miles an hour. The fireman, noting that his engineer did not sound signals for crossings, called to him and, receiving no answer, went to Crowley's side and found him dead. The fireman stopped his train and backed into Corliss, where the dead engineer's body was removed and another engineer was obtained to guide the train.

GENERAL THOMAS

SAID TO HAVE STARTED WITH TROOPS FOR THE BORDER

PRESCOTT, Ariz., Nov. 25.—Although everything is reported quiet along the border, General Thomas left with Company B of the 18th infantry for Naco, Arizona, early today. While the general will neither deny nor affirm, there is a rumor that the entire garrison of three companies will leave for the border Saturday. Army officials say that the cavalry at the fort at Huachuca has also been ordered to the border. In view of the present situation this movement of troops is considered as a precautionary measure in order to protect American interests should any outbreak occur.

CHICAGO MAN

MAY HAVE BEEN KILLED IN MEXICO

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Somewhere down in Mexico, enveloped by the rebellion against President Diaz, is Noble B. Judah, Jr., who has just been elected a member of the Illinois legislature. Fears for his safety have been excited because of inability to communicate with him by telegraph since last Saturday.

"The last word I had from my son," said Noble B. Judah "was last Saturday, when he wired at some length that he was about to go to Chilpanzo, in the state of Mexico. He said that a company of rurales was patroling the neighborhood, which at that time was quiet, although published reports were that the rebellion was spreading in that direction. He promised to wire from Chilpanzo but did not do so and I have received no answer to several inquiries. While I do not suppose there is cause for worry, I cannot help being anxious."

FEDERATION OF LABOR

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 25.—The building trades committee reported to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor today. The report was long and included recommendations in several controversies that have been before the delegates in other conventions. It was decided by the socialist delegates today that no resolutions of a socialistic character will be introduced.

BOWLING GAMES

Some High Scores Were Made Yesterday

Perron's Juniors defeated the Jewelers in a game on the alleys yesterday, winning by a score of 1193 to 1141. Lafeniere of the winning team was the high man.

In the game between the Ramblers and Starlights, held yesterday, the former team had little difficulty in defeating the latter.

Two teams, one known as the Married Men and the other as the Single Men, met, and if the scores can be taken as a criterion the game must have been an interesting one. The Married Men won, the team total being just 15 shy of the 1500 mark. Wynne of the winning aggregation was high man with a single of 126 and a triple of 344.

GARDNER - KLAUS

Local Sports Interested In Coming Bout

The principal topic of discussion among the sports since the caucuses passed is the coming match between Jimmie Gardner and Frank Klaus which will be held next Tuesday evening in the Armory club, Boston.

Since the last match of the pair at which several hundred Lowell sports were in attendance while a large number lost good money on Jimmie, there has been great speculation as to whether or not Jimmie could turn the trick on Klaus if right, for he certainly was not right when they met.

Then they were matched a second time and the affair was called off and many considered it Gardner's fault and thought that he was getting cold feet, which was far from being the case. Now they are matched again and Jimmie has informed the writer that if he never fights again he will make good with Klaus next Tuesday night just to show his friends that he hasn't been kidding them or that he hasn't gone back.

Even the skeptical ones are coming around to Jimmie again since the report got out that he has been training with Sam Langford and the biggest crowd that ever went down to the Hub to a fight will be on hand when they meet. Gardner will finish his training in this city with Joe Thomas to spar with him and Morgan and Billy Gardner to handle him.

Another match of importance to Lowell sports that will precede the Gardner-Klaus bout next Tuesday night will be that of Freddie Maguire of this city and Tom Flanagan of Cambridge in a six round preliminary. Maguire once put Flanagan away in two rounds but the Cambridge boy has grown bigger and cleverer since then, and Freddie will have his hands full. Maguire is training with Jimmie Moriarty, Young Sullivan and Tommy Mack, and is in fine shape, having completely recovered from his recent illness. Fred Tighe and Ed Cushing are the Lowell members of the membership committee of the Armory club and will receive assessments from local members.

JOHNNY KILBANE WON

AKRON, O., Nov. 25.—Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland had a little the better of Benny Kaufman of Philadelphia in a 10 round bout between the two lightweights here last night. The proceedings were opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. Biederwols, an evangelist, who was introduced by Mayor W. T. Sawyer.

MANIFESTO ISSUED

TROOPS PARADING IN MEXICO CITY

People of Mexico Asked to Rise Up Against Pres. Diaz

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—A manifesto credited to and signed by Francesco I. Madero, calling on the people of Mexico to rise against the government of President Diaz was made public here last night by friends and partisans of Madero, who said that it was received in this city yesterday.

The manifesto is in Spanish and it is dated at San Luis Potosi, Mex., October 5, 1910. A footnote to it says it is for private circulation up to November 15, and thereafter it is to be circulated broadcast.

"In their uninterrupted struggle for the triumph of the ideals of liberty and justice, peoples are compelled at certain historical moments to make their greatest sacrifices," is the way in which it begins.

"Our beloved fatherland has reached such a stage," it continues, "a despotism such as we Mexicans have not been accustomed to bear since we secured our independence, opposes us to such a degree that it has become intolerable."

The manifesto recites that a feeling of unrest has pervaded the republic because of this system of government and because of the efforts of Diaz to saddle upon the nation a successor of his own choice. This, it is declared, decided many Mexicans to undertake a struggle for a recovery of popular sovereignty and the anti-reelection national party was formed for the purpose. It named Madero and Dr. Francisco Pasquez Gomez for the offices of president and vice president but, the manifesto goes on, Diaz had Madero imprisoned before the elections. The elections took place, it is stated, but the people were excluded from the meetings by violence, prisons were filled with independent citizens and shameful frauds occurred.

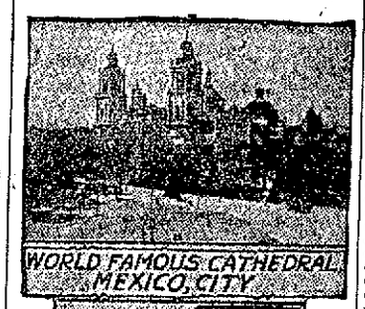

"This unlawful and ruthless situation can no longer subsist," the manifesto continues. "I have thoroughly comprehended that, if the people have designated me as a candidate for the presidency, it is not because they have discerned in me the gifts of a statesman or ruler, but the manliness of a patriot determined, if necessary, to sacrifice himself provided liberty can be achieved.

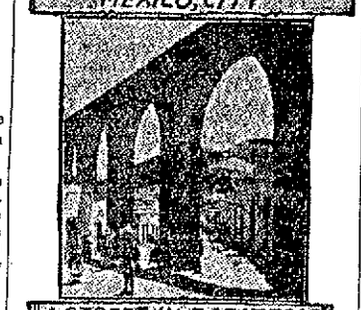

"In virtue of the above as an echo of the national will, I declare herewith the past elections to be illegal and the republic to be without lawful government, and I assume provisionally the presidency of the republic until the people will designate the rulers in conformity with the law.

"To attain this end it is necessary to remove from power the audacious usurpers, that, as sole title of legality, display scandalous and immoral frauds."

The manifesto designates Sunday, the 20th of November, from 6 o'clock on, as the date and time for the rising. The plan includes the following:

"In order to avoid as far as possible the troubles resulting from all revolutionary commotions, the laws promulgated by the actual government are declared to be in force until they may be reformed through constitutional methods.

WORLD FAMOUS CATHEDRAL MEXICO CITY

A STREET IN ZACATECAS

DIAZ'S CARRIAGE AT CHAPULTEPEC CASTLE

"In addition to the constitution and the laws in force, the principle of non-reelection of the president and vice president of the republic, of the governors of the states and municipal presidents, is declared to be supreme law of the republic.

"I assume the character of provisional president of the United States of Mexico with the power and requisite faculties of making war upon the usurpatory government of General Diaz. As soon as the capital of the republic and more than one-half of the states of the federation will be in the power of the forces of the people, the provisional president will convocate to extraordinary general elections to be held one month later, and he shall turn over his powers to the president-elect as soon as the result of the elections shall be known.

"On the 20th of November from 6 o'clock p. m., on, all the citizens of the republic will take up arms to thrust from power the authorities governing it now.

"Attention is also called of every Mexican of the duty to respect persons as well as property of foreigners.

"One of the first acts of the provisional government shall be to set at liberty all political prisoners.

"The new authorities shall dispose of all moneys found in the public offices in order to provide for the ordinary expenses of the administration and for the cost of war, keeping account with the greatest scrupulosity. When funds are not sufficient for military outlays, voluntary or forced loans shall be resorted to, but the latter only from citizens or from national institutions."

INSTANTLY KILLED

James Brennan Struck by N. Y. Express at No. Chelmsford

James Brennan, aged 44 years, and residing at 82 Common street, this city, was struck and instantly killed by the Portland-New York train on the Stony Brook branch of the railroad early yesterday morning. The accident happened on what is known as Mulligan's bridge, which is located a short distance from the Moore mills. Death was instantaneous; the train was traveling at such a high rate of speed that the body was thrown into the water in the brook.

One of the sad features of the accident was the fact that Mr. Brennan had left his home earlier than usual in order to do some work at the Moore mill, where he was engaged as a fireman, so that he might return to his home at noon to eat his Thanksgiving dinner with his family. He had traversed the same route over the railroad tracks morning after morning for a long time, never before having met with an accident. It is thought that when he was walking the tracks yesterday morning he did not realize that the fast express had not passed.

It had been his custom to leave Lowell on an electric car that arrived at North Chelmsford at about 5.45 o'clock in the morning. It was his habit to walk up the track of the Stony Brook branch and crossing Mulligan's bridge to the boiler room about fifty yards distant. It is said that he never met a train on his trips along the tracks in the morning.

Yesterday the mill was closed, but there was some work to be done on the boilers requiring his attention.

After leaving the electric car yesterday morning he walked up the track and was on the bridge when the express train approached. The engineer blew the whistle, but before Brennan realized that the train was so near it was upon him. The body was tossed into the canal, only a torn coat being found near the bridge.

Patrick Ready, the night watchman at the mill, was one of the first to come upon the body, and he notified Engineer Hemlow of the mill, who identified it as that of his fireman. Hemlow speaks in high terms of Brennan's faithfulness and efficiency as a worker.

He worked in the Moore mills before the big fire of a few years ago, and then found employment in various places, returning to the Moore plant only three weeks ago.

He leaves a widow, one daughter, Catherine, and two sons, John J. and James J.

Dr. James J. Hoban and Dr. Fred E. Varney were notified and they went to the scene of the accident, but the man was beyond the aid of medical or surgical skill. Later the body was brought to the funeral parlors of James F. O'Donnell & Sons in Market street. The deceased was a member of the Emerald Associates and Court City of Lowell, F. of A.

BIG AUTO RACE

Tetzlaff the Hero of the Event

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Nov. 25.—Teddy Tetzlaff of Los Angeles, in a Lozier car, was the hero of the second annual Santa Monica road race. He not only piloted his big racer to victory in the stock car event, winning over five competitors, breaking the American stock car record and coming within one mile an hour of the world's record, but he also started a few minutes later in the 202.3 mile free for all against seven other entries and duplicated his victory.

In the race for heavy stock cars, which was over a course of 151.506 miles, he established a new record for this country by averaging 73.29 1-100 miles an hour.

Bert Dingley in his Pope-Hartford was second in both the heavy stock car and free for all races.

The Maxwell was the victor in the 161-230 cubic inches displacement class.

TOM LONGBOAT

WAS DEFEATED BY SHRUBB IN 15 MILE RACE

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—"Alfie" Shrubb last night defeated Tom Longboat, the Onondaga Indian, in a 15 mile race by three-quarters of a lap. Shrubb's time was 1 hour, 26 minutes and 8 3-5 seconds.

Shrubb led from start to finish and owing to a mixup in counting the laps of the final mile, ran three laps more than the distance. Both men ran in good form and each had a sprint left for the final round of the course. Shrubb took the lead at the start and at the end of the first mile was a trifle less than one-half lap ahead of his rival.

CORONER'S JURY

Viewed Bodies of Couple Murdered Near Trenton

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 25.—A jury empaneled by Coroner Bower of Mercer county today viewed the bodies of the Rev. Amziel Armstrong and his wife, who were murdered at their home in Dutch Neck Wednesday night. The jury also inspected the house in which the aged couple were killed. The coroner fixed Dec. 9 as the day for taking testimony. The date was deferred, it is said, to allow Prosecutor Crossly to develop his case.

John Sears, son of the housekeeper employed by the Armatrongs, and who lived with his mother at the Armstrong homestead, slept well last night in the county jail, where he was taken last evening, charged with the double murder. Sears is of a surly temperament and does not have much to say. He is a halfbreed negro and has lived with his mother at the Armstrong home since he was an infant.

Prosecutor Crossly was not prepared today to say what action he will finally take regarding Mrs. Sears, the housekeeper, who is under espionage of two constables at Dutch Neck. Mr. Crossly refuses to discuss the motive for the crime nor will he talk about the many theories advanced. He also declined to say whether a will had been found in the Armstrong home, showing that Mrs. Sears had been named as a beneficiary in the Armstrong estate.

An autopsy held by the coroner at the Armstrong home disclosed the fact that the aged couple had been killed by a shotgun. After the murder a shotgun which Sears had borrowed from a neighbor, saying that he was going gunning, was found in the kitchen of the Armstrong house.

Prosecutor Crossly, it is understood, feels fully able to upset any alibi which Sears seeks to establish. Sears says he went to New Brunswick about 7.30 o'clock Wednesday night but it is alleged that he was seen around Dutch Neck about two hours later.

Dr. George Franklin of Hightston, who arrived at the Armstrong home about 3 o'clock Thursday morning, said today that the condition of the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong indicated that death occurred about six hours earlier. This would have made the hour of the murder 9 o'clock on Wednesday night, which is before the time when it is asserted Sears was seen in Dutch Neck.

TRUTH CROPS OUT

WHY PILE SUFFERERS SO OFTEN FAIL TO GET RELIEF

Science is getting to the bottom of everything, including the cause and cure of piles. The brightest doctors now admit that piles are caused internally and can be cured only by internal treatment. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt some time ago perfected a remedy in tablet form—Hem-Roid, which cures the cause of piles, and therefore cures permanently. It is sold by Carter & Sherburne, Lowell, Mass., under money-back guarantee, $1 for 24 days' treatment. Dr. Leonhardt Co., Station B, Buffalo, N. Y. Write for booklet.

THE GRAND JURY

To Take Up the Gallagher Case

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Prosecuting officials in Jersey City today were preparing for action which was expected to result shortly in bringing James J. Gallagher to trial for the shooting of Mayor William J. Gaynor on the deck of the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse last summer.

No indictment has ever been found against Gallagher who has been held a prisoner in the Jersey City jail, awaiting the result of the injuries he inflicted on the mayor. Prosecutor Pierre Garven said that he expected and looked for grand jury action on the case within a day or so. Gallagher will not be brought into court until he is called to plead to the indictment, if one is found.

ASK CONFERENCE

To Urge Prompt Action on Hospital

At a conference of the boards of health and charities held last Monday evening, Dr. McCarty of the board of charities, and Dr. Martin of the board of health were appointed on a committee to frame a joint communication to the mayor and the city council, asking for $50,000 for a contagious hospital, and the following communication was filed with the city clerk this forenoon:

Lowell, Mass., Nov. 25, 1910.

To the Honorable Mayor and City Council of Lowell.

As a result of a recent conference, held at the office of the board of charities, between the members of said board, the members of the board of health, and the mayor, the undersigned were instructed by said joint conference to send a communication to your body, urging upon you the necessity of some immediate steps being taken towards the erection of a hospital for contagious and infectious diseases in this city.

And we are further instructed to appear before your body, and urge upon you the appropriation of $50,000 for said purpose.

The reasons and arguments for the said proposition can best be laid before you at a meeting for the purpose. If you see fit to refer this matter to the committee on appropriations, we would respectfully request that such committee shall meet us immediately after the meeting of your joint bodies tonight.

Yours respectfully,
James J. McCarty, M. D.,
Chairman Board of Charities.
C. Forrest Martin, M. D.,
Chairman Board of Health.

WOUNDS FATAL

MAN WAS SLASHED DURING A QUARREL

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Nov. 25.—Nicholas Fahad died at the Memorial hospital here today from stab wounds he received yesterday, and the police of this city and nearby towns and cities are searching for Armine Matham, who they believe is responsible for the crime. Fahad, an Armenian shoemaker, about 22 years old, and his compatriot were last seen yesterday afternoon in a store where they are said to have quarreled and left the store to settle their difficulties. Last night Fahad was found lying in a vacant lot in a dying condition. Matham has been in this country only a few weeks. He did not return to his home in Central Falls last night.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

The driver of a wagon, or the chauffeur who knocks a man down on the street and hurries away in order to conceal his identity is one of the meanest characters with which the police have to deal. There should be a special penalty provided by law for this offense.

THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS

The democrats certainly made as good a selection as they could possibly do from the candidates who sought the nomination for the various offices. If they show equally good judgment on election day all will be well. The democrats are to be commended for their judgment in nominating two French-American democrats on their ticket, two good men, but a nomination is an empty honor unless it be followed up by an earnest endeavor to elect the nominees. As the two parties stand at present, the republican is the stronger, so that if the democrats wish to elect the men they nominated from the mayor down they will have to close their ranks, suppress all their petty wrangles and stand loyally by their ticket.

GENESIS OF THE TRUSTS

A correspondent in the Buffalo Times traces the genesis of the trusts and monopolies in this fashion:

"Republicanism begat high tariff.
High tariff begat trusts.
Trusts begat monopolies.
Monopolies begat high prices, and
High prices begat revolution.

The revolution referred to is the recent democratic victory, but it will require a continuance of this revolution in 1911 to complete the victory. The trusts have merely sustained a slight scare. They are still in the ring.

AGAIN THE POISONOUS PRESERVATIVES

The pure food campaign does not seem to have accomplished very much in the city of New York where it has been found that meat sprayed with sulphurous acid to conceal its putridity has been sold in large quantities to poor people, and that candy treated in the same manner is disposed of to children. It has also been found that rotten eggs had been used for cake and pastry in fifty bakeries, so that undoubtedly hundreds of thousands have been imposed upon by the sale of food, treated by this poisonous preservative.

When such dangerous adulterants are used it is no wonder that Dr. Wiley and others are so enthusiastic about the enforcement of the pure food laws.

POWER OF THE BEEF TRUST

In regard to the price of meat and the prospect of the price being lower, it is unfortunately a fact that there are many obstacles in the way. In the first place the American Beef Trust is hard to vanquish. It controls not only the meat produced in this country, but it has gone into the Argentine Republic, and acquired large tracts of land for the raising of cattle; it has established large plants for the handling of the meat supply in that country.

It is, therefore, plain that a branch of the American Beef Trust has been formed outside of the United States, where it cannot be reached by this government. With the tariff on beef reduced the people of this country would look to the Argentine republic and to Canada for importations that would cause the price to be reduced in the United States. But if the beef trust extends its operations into both of these countries, then the main source of relief would be cut off.

The proper course, therefore, for the people of this country to adopt is to see that the beef trust be stamped out of existence in this country. There is no other way of putting an end to its extortions.

FOR UNIFORM AUTO LAWS

There is an agitation on foot for uniform automobile laws in the different states so that autoists who have complied with the regulations of their home state can tour the other states and territories without being subjected to additional legal requirements.

The Touring Club of America is leading this movement, and if it should succeed, the people who tour the country in automobiles would certainly be relieved of a great many inconveniences. It will be remembered that President Taft when he entered this state in an automobile was held up on account of his license, and would have been greatly inconvenienced but for the tact of Governor Draper in settling the matter promptly in his own way.

The Tourist club has suggested certain rules that we surmise will be very difficult of adoption throughout the country, because some of them seem to be rather drastic in regard to the people who can legally operate automobiles.

Among the requirements suggested are provisions requiring every operator of an automobile to have a state license obtained upon passing a satisfactory examination, and that no person under 18 years of age shall operate an automobile until he has obtained a special permit to do so, and such permit shall be granted only after a variety of tests as to character and ability shall have been satisfactorily met. It is, however, provided that any person who has complied with the auto laws in his own state shall be allowed to operate a motor vehicle in another state without interference for a period not to exceed 15 days at any one time.

The experience in trying to secure uniform laws on the question of divorce and some other matters would naturally discourage those who expect to have the states adopt uniform automobile laws. It requires a great deal of agitation, influence and long continued wire pulling to secure uniform laws upon anything among the states of this republic. While the suggestion of uniform laws made by the American Touring Club may be very good, we do not expect that the club will be able to move the state legislatures to take such action.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

King George's Christmas card is to be very different from the cards his father, King Edward, was accustomed to devise, which represented Christmas jollity or religious subjects. George has ordered a card representing Henry VIII. visiting Cardinal Wolsey at Hampton court. The king recently visited Hampton court, which gave him the idea. Queen Mary's card represents Prince Charlie taking leave of Flora Macdonald on his escape from Scotland. Queen Alexandra's represents the landing of King Canute. The firm which produces these cards is preparing a card for Emperor William representing Charles II. embarking from Holland aboard the Royal Charles on his restoration. The queen of Spain's card represents the marriage of Edward I. and Eleanor of Castile. The queen of Italy represents the Madonna and Child.

A romance of fact, strange as anything in the pages of fiction, is the story of Mrs. Clarissa Truesdell, of Grand Rapids, Mich. Mrs. Truesdell is 105 years old and is an inmate of the Kent county poorhouse. In her youth she was one of the social leaders of the country, has danced with General Lafayette, and was hostess of Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, Jenny Lind, Louis Kossuth and the Prince of Wales, afterward King Edward VII. And now she is a pauper. All the facts that go between are not revealed.

C. M. Zieback of Grand Falls, N. D., claims the distinction of being the oldest man ever arrested in the United States. He is 107 and is in custody at Fort Totten for taking liquor into an Indian reservation.

Samuel Putnam of New Salem has reached the great age of 104 years. Mentally he has failed some during the past two years, but physically he is remarkably well. He was born in New Salem and always has lived there. Mr. Putnam is a descendant of the Putnam family made famous during the Revolutionary days by the deeds of General Putnam. He has been an influential and public-spirited man in New Salem and served one term as representative. He has never touched alcohol or tobacco in any form. He is a great temperance advocate, and on this question and that of establishing world-wide peace he always has lived with his son, Willard Putnam, a graduate of Amherst college, and who, like his father, has represented his district in the legislature. Mr. Putnam has a grandson, Dr. Samuel Willard Putnam of Cambridge, and three little great-grandchildren.

THE MEXICAN REVOLUTION

(Providence Tribune.)

Beyond question at the bottom of the present troubles in Mexico, complicated though they are, it is easy to see a distinct popular movement against President Diaz and all that in the way of government he represents. Whatever ill treatment of Mexicans in the United States there may have been, it figures only as a pretext in the disturbances now going on. The real animating purpose in these disturbances is antagonism to the Diaz government, though of course, as in all such cases, some are participating in the outbreaks in a spirit of sheer lawlessness and criminality in which politics has no part.

The situation thus created is one which puts the Mexican government to a severe test. But there can be no question as to its duty in the premises, and it seems to be setting about it in a way that promises success. It is a situation which permits no hesitation regarding the use of force to crush disorder mercilessly. There has been much loss of life already, and as many more lives as may be necessary must be sacrificed. The Mexicans are a fighting people, with their naturally revolutionary spirit only thinly crusted over by their recent advances in civilization, and they cannot safely be trifled with or temporized with. Leniency is absolutely out of the question in the case of any Mexican lawbreaker or disturber of the peace.

For the United States, too, the course of duty is perfectly clear. The duty which our country owes to itself as well as to its neighbor is neither to foster nor to tolerate any hostile movement within our borders that is directed against the established Mexican authority. Of the worthiness or justice of that authority it is not for us now to raise any question. We must not allow Texas to be made a base of operations for the Mexican raiders and brawlers. Self-interest as well as international obligation requires that the government at Washington now give the government at the city of Mexico all possible encouragement and support in the immediate business of eliminating lawlessness and preserving stability.

THE N. J. SENATORIAL PRIMARY

(Providence Journal.)

If the Republicans had elected a majority of the legislature in New Jersey this month, ex-Governor Stokes would have made a sharp contest for the senatorship on account of his narrow victory in the primaries. But the legislature will be in the hands of the democrats, so that Mr. Stokes, of course, must defer his ambition. There were two democrats, however, who were candidates at the primaries, and one of them, Mr. James E. Martine, the so-called "farmer-orator," received forty-eight thousand votes, or more than any of the republican candidates. He takes this indorsement seriously, much to the embarrassment of the Smith machine, and the Jersey Journal goes so far as to say that public opinion is almost a unit for his election. "The defeat of Martine," it asserts, "would be the most colossal party blunder that could be imagined." Certainly the election of Mr. Martine would be a step in the direction of strengthening and dignifying the present optional primary system.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Foreign trade during October showed a decrease in importation of manufacturers' materials, but increased importation of foodstuffs; and on the export side an increased outward movement of both manufactures and manufacturers' materials, and a further decline in foodstuffs. The October statement of the bureau of statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor, naming the principal articles imported and exported during the month and ten months, shows for October, 1910, decreased values for India rubber, hides and skins, wool, fibers, leaf tobacco, lumber, copper ore and pulp wood brought into the United States; and increased values for sugar, coffee, tea, fruits and other foodstuffs imported. On the export side an increase is shown in the value of agricultural implements, builder's hardware, boots and shoes, sheets and plates of steel, automobiles, scientific instruments, typewriters, naphtha, electrical machinery, metal working machinery, patent medicines, books, structural iron and steel, copper, lumber and naval stores exported; also of unmanufactured cotton, coal and fertilizers; while of foodstuffs, flour, wheat, lard, bacon, oleo oil, fresh beef and food animals show a decline.

TO GROW HAIR ON A BALD HEAD

By a Specialist.

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequaled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any chemist: Bay Rum 6 ounces, Lavona de Composee 2 ounces, Menthol Crystals ½ drachm. If you wish it perfumed add half to one teaspoonful of To-Kalon Perfume, which unites perfectly with the other ingredients. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists, and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics. Do not apply to the face or where hair is not desired.

Be sure to ask the druggist for all the enclosures in the Lavona de Compose' package. One of them entitles you to a handsome free sprinkler top for your hair tonic bottle and you are also entitled to receive the free advice of an expert on the hair by simply writing to the address you will find enclosed in the carton.

The above ingredients are all standard and are kept by almost any up-to-date drug store. Riker-Jaynes Drug company, for instance, state that they are obliged to fill this prescription many times each week and that all of their patrons have reported the greatest degree of satisfaction.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Two large audiences saw "The Final Settlement," presented at the Opera House yesterday afternoon and last evening. It is a melodrama and relates the story of a wife's trouble, whose husband desires to shine in society, an ambition that does not appeal to her. The husband leaves her and takes as his second wife an actress, who is favored with wit and beauty and a goodly knowledge of the world. For a time the husband lives in the shallow world he has long desired. Eventually the round of pleasure palls on him and he is brought to his senses and there is a reconciliation effected with his former wife.

Elizabeth Royall as Ellen Stowe portrayed the ever faithful, true and sensible wife. All through her tribulations she never gave way to despair, never flinched from her unbending rectitude, despite the humiliation heaped upon her. Her acting was of a high order and was warmly applauded. Gladys Gillen as Madge Stowe, the daughter, was also good, while J. A. Whiteside as John Stowe, the discontented husband, showed a brilliant conception of the role. The rest of the support was good and many of the climaxes are quite thrilling in their realism and force.

"The Final Settlement," will be given this afternoon and tonight and twice on Saturday.

"THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER."

Miss Gene Luneska, who portrays the mischief making Mascha in "The Chocolate Soldier," which comes to the Opera House on December 9 and 10, gives to the American stage for the first time, during the progress of the opera, a true Bulgarian dance. This is remarkable in that the people of the Balkans are more ready to burst into song or dance than almost any other nation, and that their folk songs and dances, while lacking generally in the grace of some other countries, are so infused with the flame and gypsy-like spirit of their country as to make them picturesque from the point of view of the stage. The men and women sing while working in the fields, and the festivals and weddings in which they rejoice are continually vivified by the whirling groups and bursts of song. Miss Luneska dances the 'Machranka," which was seen for the first time at Earl's Court, London, year before last. She is said to be the only foreigner who was ever instructed in this dance and was able to master its intricacies.

"THE STAMPEDE."

If you are an expert mathematician, here is a problem which may test your ability. In "The Stampede," which comes to the Opera House, Dec. 29 and 30, the star, Lillian Buckingham, in the role of Wanga, the half-breed Indian girl, wears a beaded head dress encircling her forehead and fastened to her hair (which by the way, is her own), every bead attached to the webbing separately with mathematical precision. Try to estimate the number, and when you have definitely decided, ask Miss Buckingham if you are within one thousand of the sum total. She knows exactly because she spent many leisure moments making the head dress and other beaded ornaments she wears.

DOCKSTADER'S MINSTRELS

The singing contingent of Lew Dockstader's "20th Century Minstrels" is one of the features of this year's entertainment including such artists as Charles Falk, Harry A. Ellis and Tom McKenna, late of "The Quartette," Alan Campbell, Charles Raymond, and William Smith. The musical numbers have all been especially written and are of great beauty, particularly the ballads. The Messrs. Shubert are responsible for this year's production and, it is said, have given minstrelsy its most pretentious offering. The company includes besides Mr. Dockstader such artists as Carroll Johnson, Eddie Mazier, "Happy" Naulty, Johnny Foley and eighty others.

Lew Dockstader and his "20th Century Minstrels" will be at the attraction at the Opera House next Monday night.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

All records for attendance were broken yesterday at this popular vaudeville and picture house and the patrons witnessed one of the best shows given there in a long time.

Lew Welch in "Levinsky's Old Shoes" pleased immensely, and Mr. Welch shows himself to be a Hebrew comedian of the first water. The Four Stagpoles have a clever acrobatic novelty which keeps the audience in roars of laughter. Floyd and Castano are original singing and talking comedians, while Cartoonist Todd is a clever manipulator with the brush and crayon, and is out of the ordinary run of sketch artists.

Tonight the amateurs will hold forth. Four reels of the latest motion pictures are being presented which are varied and interesting and are sure to please.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Kenney and Hollis, the college boys, are going to be at the Merrimack Square theatre only today and tomorrow.

"The Wildflower" is a little comedy which is a delight from curtain to curtain. It is the story of an Indian girl and her army lover, and it is presented by an unusually capable company. There are other good things also. Tom Ratchan is a comedian better than the best. The Three Ross Sisters are dainty singers and dancers appearing in a novel act and The Rosses are singing a lot of new songs. The best moving pictures in the city are also on the bill.

EMPIRE THEATRE

By long odds the finest singing act ever presented at the Empire theatre is that which made its first appearance there yesterday in the Three Italian Troubadours. These young men dress their act appropriately, put life and spirit into their action, play several Italian instruments well, and give, as has been said the finest, and most finished singing act the patrons of the Empire have yet seen.

Gracey and Burnett created many hearty laughs and won plenty of applause.

Frank Barry passes out a budget of bright sayings and stories, and sings a couple of songs that win the applause.

THEATRE VOYONS

The new republic of Portugal is of special interest to Lowell people because of the thousands of Portuguese citizens here and today the Theatre Voyons shows a series of motion pictures taken in Lisbon a day after the republic was proclaimed. The streets with their barricades, the camps of the citizens, and soldiers, the destruction wrought by the bombardment, the republican meetings, the prominent officials of the new republic and even the ex-King Manuel are shown. Then, too, there is a pleasing picture of the evolutions of the military cycle corps of Belgium, an organization without an equal in its line of work.

COLONIAL THEATRE

The audiences that filled the Colonial to the doors yesterday saw a show that pleased in every particular. In the evening standing room was hard to find at 8 o'clock and it was a case of follow the crowds to the Colonial during the entire day.

Sachs and Vallin, the headliners, are a merry pair, and kept the audiences in roars of laughter. The impersonation of a Hebrew messenger boy is enough of itself to make a smile a noisy one. At the request of the management, during the rest of the week he will not only do his regular skit but will also do a monologue act and sing some of the parodies that have made him famous. The other acts on the program are excellent and in keeping with the present management of the house. A good word should be said for the pictures. They are the best ever seen in the city.

SOCIAL CLUB

HELD ITS ANNUAL THANKSGIVING FEAST

The annual Thanksgiving eve banquet of the Centralville Social club was held at its hall in Lakeview avenue, Wednesday evening and was attended by 250 members and friends. Among the speakers were Mayor Meehan, Councilman Henry Achin, Jr., who presided; Charles A. Delaronde, Alderman Smith J. Adams, Z. A. Normandin, Charles B. Rogers, John Powers, Alderman Qua, Alderman Connors, H. A. Toupin and Rosario Lucier, president of the club.

There was a musical program after the speeches? Albert Boucher, Frank Lecours, S. Paquet, George St. George, E. J. Larochelle, Arcole Brunelle, Wm. Brunelle, David Houde, Chrystome Legare, Telesphore Beauparlant, Elzear Vezina, J. B. A. Lebrun, Eusebe Champagne, Theodore Lussier, the Centralville quartet and the Jolly Five Minstrels.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R.V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

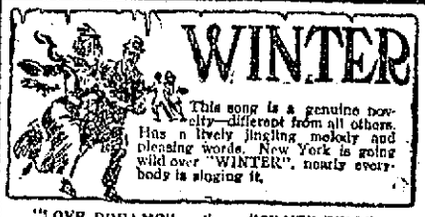

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and strengthen Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

DR. KING, THE ADVERTISING DENTIST

DR. THOS. JEFFERSON KING.

Dr. King's "Natural Gum" sets of teeth absolutely defy detection.

A local paper, speaking of advertising dentists, says of Dr. King: "He, with his big dental practice, acquires a knowledge of up-to-date dentistry and little niceties of the profession that the smaller practitioners, even with their years of experience, rarely earn. And then, his modern advertising dental office, luxuriously furnished, with his costly equipped laboratory, would die inside of a year if he failed to do good work—and as to price, Dr. King does a cash business only, and when you patronize him you are not taxed extra to help make up for the bills unpaid by 'the other fellow,' as you surely do when you patronize the ordinary dentist, who fails to collect 50 per cent. of his bills, and must 'get it out of you.'"

Best set Teeth $8, good set $5. Gold crowns $5, bridgework $5, gold fillings $1 up, other fillings 50c; painless extraction free when sets are ordered.

The Famous Rayo

Does Not Strain the Eyes

Don't use a small, concentrated light over one shoulder. It puts an unequal strain on your eyes. Use a diffused, soft, mellow light that cannot flicker, that equalizes the work of the eyes, such as the Rayo Lamp gives, and avoid eye strain.

The Rayo is designed to give the best light, and it does.

It has a strong, durable shade-holder that is held firm and true. A new burner gives added strength. Made of solid brass and finished in nickel. Easy to keep polished. The Rayo is low priced, but no other lamp gives a better light at any price.

SHOWER OF NOVEMBER TICKLERS

A POSSIBILITY.

Mrs. Nubride—What do you think of my pie crust, Jack?

"Very nice. But didn't you get the shortening in lengthwise?"

MORE MODERN RULE.

Fond Dad—I s'pose you are trying to live up to your essay, "Beyond the Alps Lies Italy?"

"No, gov'nor. It's now 'Over the Fence Is Out.'"

A CASE OF MUST.

"I wonder why Miss Wrinkles always wears a veil?"

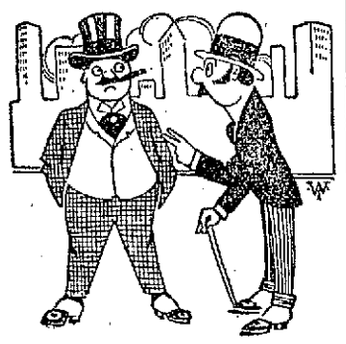

"I suppose she has not got the face to go without it."

FAMILY FINANCIERING.

Mrs. Crabitall—When postal banks are established I hope we can put away a postal card with every penny.

Old G.—I don't know. You'll be sticking money in the stovepipe and burn it up, as you always do.

WHERE ALL LOOK ALIKE.

Kowrie—Is there any color line in Wall street?

Kirbstun—Not any. We'd just as lief shear a white lamb as a black one.

A DESPERATE CASE.

"How Tillie's clothes hang about her! Why, they don't fit her at all!"

"But think how much worse she would look if they did!"

A STAR BOARDER.

KEEPING HIM DOWN.

"What was the best bit of work you ever did?" inquired the first barber.

"I once shaved a man," replied the second barber.

"Go on."

"Then I persuaded him to have a hair cut, shampoo, facial massage, singe, sea foam, electric buzz, tar spray and tonic rub."

"What then?"

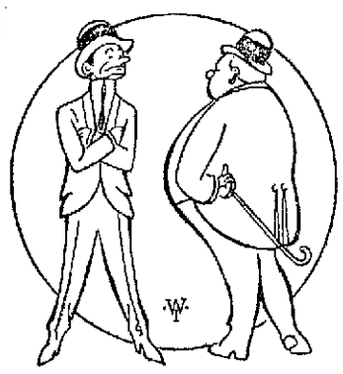

"By that time he needed another shave."

MAMMA'S BAD BAIT.

Mrs. Mouser—Dingbat would make you a good husband. He has none of the small vices.

"No; he is too busy with big ones to pay any attention to smaller ones."

TO MAKE IT POPULAR.

"What do you think of President Taft's suggestion for a sixty days' vacation?"

"He should have added, 'With pay.'"

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Stephanie—Marcel literally fell at my feet.

Pierre—Aeroplane or intoxication?

STILLING THE TEMPEST.

Mother—What's that I hear? Gerald actually kissed you at the railway station? And what did you do, pray?

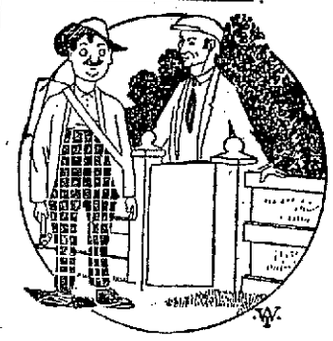

Daughter—Well, so as to make everybody think he was a relative and so prevent a scandal I kissed him too.

MISPLACED CONFIDENCE.

Sitting on the sofa, his right arm stole about her form. "This," he said, "is what I call making glad waste places."

"Oh, no," she replied. "A waste place is one that has never been cultivated."

NO USE.

Itinerant Mechanic—Fix yer gate, boss? Seems to be saggin'.

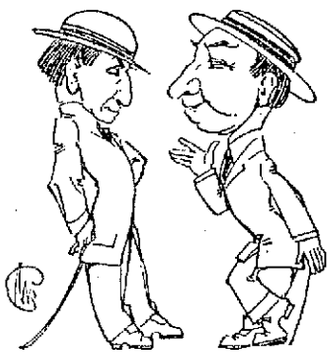

"No use. There are three other girls in the house who are coming out soon."

HIS LONG SUIT.

"Pop, what is a fatigue suit?"

"The messenger boy's."

QUICK RELIEF.

"Did you row much during your vacation?"

"Yes; it helped a lot. Every time I went on the water I was daffy, but the motion of the boat always took it out of me."

QUALIFIED.

Plumber (to applicant for work)—Where were you employed last?

"I was making out bills for an iceman all summer."

DEBATE ON DIMENSIONS.

Small Man (to tall one)—I'd have you know, sir, I was well brought up.

"But you were not brought up far enough."

HIT ALL OVER.

Butcher—What's this?

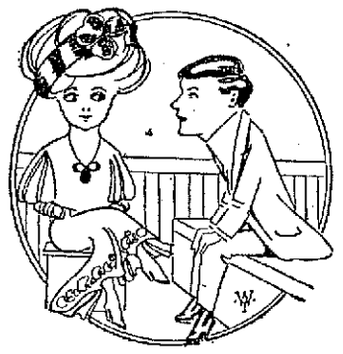

Hunter—A bird I shot.

"Nonsense! I might buy it for old lead."

A GAMBLING TERM.

EVERYTHING IS WIDE OPEN.

THE SAFE AND SANE HOUR.

Charley—When is the best time to see your father, Miss Dorothy?

"In the evening. He wears his slippers then."

CHEERING HER BOY.

Fond Mother—Charles, why don't you propose to Miss Sinjin?

"She says I am green."

"Maybe she is color blind, my son."

SAFE AND SANE.

"A canoe has been made that can be carried on a man's back."

"That's the safest place for a canoe so long as the fools are alive."

HOW HE ESCAPED.

"Does your wife always insist on talking to you when you are shaving?"

"No. Sometimes I shave when she is away from home."

ANOTHER WASH OUT.

Rembrandt (in the studio)—That young student downstairs tells me that he has something on the line.

Appelles—Yes? Changed his shirt?

"NAVAL RESERVE."

NO RACE SUICIDE IN HIS DAY.

Solomon: "If this family continues to increase at this rate I also will be the father of my country."

BADGE OF SISTERHOOD.

Boy—Please give me a cigarette, miss.

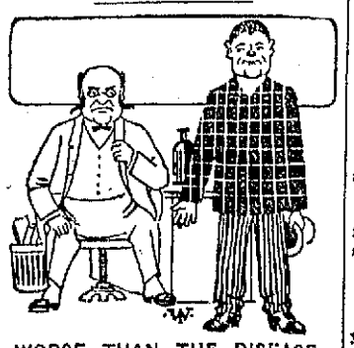

Stage Girl—Is it for yourself, child?

"No; for my grandmother. She also is in the chorus."

A SIGN OF GENTLE BIRTH.

"Is he a fine gentleman?"

"Yes, madam. He has already called me a jackass."

WORSE THAN THE DISEASE.

Doctor—You must take something before going to bed.

Burglar—An' here I am tryin' to reform!

MAKING SURE.

"The Goldskins are always on the safe side."

"So?"

"Yes. They have invited their friends to be present at their guaranteed pure silver wedding."

DIAGNOSIS BY THE STENO.

Cousin Harry—And how do you like your new boss, Nellie?

Typist—Oh, he isn't so bad, but he's bigoted!

Cousin Harry—Bigoted? How?

Typist—He's got an idea that words can only be spelled his way.

AFTER THE GAME.

"Charlie (in the football suit), you were drunk last night!"

"By Jove, old chap. That's awfully good of you to say so!"

NAVAL MUTINEERS

Surrendered After Being Granted Amnesty by Congress

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 25.—The naval mutineers surrendered today, congress voting amnesty.

The demands of the mutineers were granted by the government. The capital slept last night with the guns of its own navy trained upon it. Toward 1 o'clock this morning one of the mutinous fleet fired on the naval arsenal. The scout cruiser Deodora joined the battleships Minas Geraes and Sao Paulo and the scout Bahia in revolt. Last evening the Sao Paulo and the Bahia withdrew from the harbor, supposedly because they feared a night attack from the loyal torpedo boat destroyers. The Minas Geraes, however, remained opposite the government palace and was joined by the cruiser Deodora.

For several hours everything was quiet. Then watchers on shore noted activity on board the Deidora.

The hour following midnight passed anxiously. Then the small guns of the Deodora awoke the town. It was at first thought that the revolting vessels were making a combined attack upon the city.

For a time a panicky feeling was general. Then it was discovered that the firing was confined to the scout and was directed only at the naval arsenal. The cannonading did not last long and no great damage was done.

The local garrisons and the loyal torpedo boats did not respond, although, according to this morning's papers their officers had received sinister orders as to their duty in certain contingencies. When the Deodora had ceased firing she put to sea, accompanied by the Minas Geraes. Morning broke with the mutinous craft still outside the harbor and they did not return to port until some hours later.

Congress met in extraordinary session this morning. The chamber of deputies assented to the senate's proposition to grant amnesty. Both houses then passed resolutions acceding to the demands of the sailors. As soon as the action of congress became known the mutinous crews surrendered and the revolt was at an end. The city was soon quiet and resuming its normal activities.

TO ASK RECOUNT

Of Council Vote in 3, 4, 5 and 9

Up to noon today papers for recounts of the councilmanic votes in wards 3, 4, 5 and 9 were taken out at the office of the city clerk and it was expected that others would be heard from. In ward three, Harrison, republican, asks for the recount. He is sixteen behind the nearest man, Albert G. Cheney.

Sharkey, democrat, asks for the recount in ward four. According to the original figures he is 12 votes behind Thomas Donohoe and his friends think that a recount will overcome those 12 votes.

The recount in ward 5 is asked for by Sullivan, democrat. The next lowest man to Sullivan, according to the original figures, is Thomas J. Corbett, and Sullivan is 33 behind Corbett.

Richard Sykes, republican, asks for the recount in ward 9. He is next man to Chapman and he has 29 votes to overcome. According to the first figures announced at city hall on Tuesday night Mr Sykes was nominated high and dry, but it seems that there was a mistake in precinct figures, Mr. Sykes being credited with 146 instead of 46 votes. Mr. Sykes says he wants to find out all about that mistake.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25.—J. Armstrong Drexel broke the world's aviation record in a flight from Point Breeze Wednesday afternoon. The barograph recorded 10,000 feet. The best previous record, 9714 feet, was made by Johnstone on Oct. 31 at Belmont park.

100,000 MILE RUN

To be Made by Big Automobile

An Abbott-Detroit automobile, of the "Bull Dog" pattern, which is on a 100,000 mile endurance run, which will include a visit to every state in the United States, passed through Lowell early this afternoon. The mud-stained car showed that it had passed over some pretty rough roads, but a look at the equipment of the car, which included block and tackle, shovels, axes and other necessities for rough and muddy roads, demonstrated the fact that the crew of the car is ready for any emergency.

Last July the car was shipped to the Kansas City agent of the company, where it was used as a demonstrating car, covering 6000 miles. It then competed in the Kansas City Star's reliability run to Colorado Springs and return, a distance of 2300 miles, after which it left Denver, Colo., for Detroit, Mich., and when it arrived there it had been run a total of 15,000 miles.

The car left Detroit on Nov. 17th in charge of Dr. Charles G. Percival, a noted long distance automobilist, and Montague Roberts, the famous 24-hour champion and the driver of the winning car in the New York to Paris race, carrying with them a letter from Mayor Philip Breitmeyer to the mayors of the various cities of the United States. The trip as scheduled goes to Portland, Maine, and from there via New York city, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburg, Dayton, Cincinnati, Louisville, Nashville, Chattanooga, Atlanta, Jacksonville, Savannah, and up the Atlantic coast to New York city to the opening of the automobile show at the Grand Central palace on New Year's eve. After a week at the automobile show the "Bull Dog" will go up New York state by way of Binghamton, Elmira to Buffalo through Canada, back to Detroit and from Detroit to Chicago to the automobile show in that city and from Chicago to New Orleans across the state of Texas to the City of Mexico and from Mexico to Southern California up the Pacific coast to Vancouver and back to Detroit through all the principal provinces of the Canadian empire, going through every state in the United States, Mexico and Canada. In its journey the car will have crossed the continent twice and gone completely around the borders of the United States and will have traveled a distance of 50,000 miles or one-half of its required distance.

The car left Boston this morning about 11.30 o'clock with a letter from Mayor Fitzgerald to President Taft. After spending about half an hour in this city the auto was headed towards Lawrence, and from that city the route led through Haverhill to Portland, Me., where a stop will be made tonight.

When the machine stopped in Merrimack square it had passed through 19 states of the union and 16,027 miles had been traversed.

LOCAL NEWS

Political printing at Tobin's Printery.

Thomas H. Gallagher of Providence, R. I., spent the holiday with Lowell relatives.

Mrs. Herbert J. Millington and daughter May of Lawrence are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Chaloux of Belvidere.

Arthur Eggleston, eastern salesman for the Queen City Ink company, is in town on a periodical visit to Lowell, where he sells to The Sun and other concerns that know real printers' ink. "Egg," as he is familiarly called, is no cold storage proposition nor does he need to repose in an "ink-cubator" before warming up on his subject. "Egg" admits that The Sun is the best printed paper along his circuit which extends from New Foundland to New York, and that's what they all say.

PENN. AND BROWN

Winners of Yesterday's Big Games

Pennsylvania and Brown were the winners in the two big games which closed the eastern college football season yesterday. Penn defeated Cornell 12 to 6 in the annual contest on Franklin Field, meeting with a more strenuous opposition than had generally been expected. The Quakers scored two touchdowns, while Cornell's total was from two goals from placement by Quarterback Butler.

Brown had expected to run up a very large total against the Indians, but only won by 15 to 6. The Carlisle eleven was outclassed, however. Penalties deprived Brown of two touchdowns, each made after a sensational run.

SENT TO PRISON

SUFFRAGETTES GIVEN TWO MONTHS AT HARD LABOR

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Twenty suffragettes who were arrested during the night for smashing in the windows of the government offices were sentenced in the Bow street police court today, each to two months' hard labor.

In pronouncing sentence, Sir Albert De Rutzen, chief magistrate of the metropolitan courts, said:

"You disorderly women have been treated with too much leniency in the past."

BODY OF PRINCE

LOCATED IN PAUPER SECTION OF CEMETERY

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 25.—After a search, lasting eight years in which the aid of the Prince States was enlisted, the body of Prince Ylian Chow Cum, a leader in the Boxer uprising, has been located in the pauper section of a cemetery at Alamosa, Colo. The body was exhumed. It was clothed in mandarin robes, with yellow jacket and peacock-feathered cap, enclosed in a splendid coffin, emblazoned with golden dragons—and yesterday it was started on its return to China, where it will be interred in the vaults of the Ming dynasty.

Prince Ylian fled from China after a yellow silk cord, the Chinese order to commit suicide, had been given him. He was a cousin of Emperor Kwang Su. He died of tuberculosis among some poor Chinese, who did not know his identity.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET

Appeals Strongly to the Citizens in General

From Top to Bottom Democrats Have Shown the Better Judgment in Their Caucus Selections — A Strong Aldermanic Ticket

Mayor Meehan having disposed of the obligations of Thanksgiving is now ready for a strenuous campaign for a second election, fully cognizant of the fact that the position must be fought for despite the fact that under ordinary circumstances his record of the current year should entitle him to a re-election without the necessity of a busy campaign. His Honor appeared at the Thanksgiving eve festivities of the Centralville social club, Wednesday night, most of the members of which are French republicans, and owing to an incident of the meeting that was not anticipated made many friends.

Mayor Meehan will cover the city speaking many times in many places though he will not permit the campaign to interfere with his duties as chief executive. He invites public criticism of his record as mayor and is prepared to answer any honest critics.

Edward H. Foye, the democratic nominee for purchasing agent, seems destined to be the next man to hold that position. Last year he reduced the majority of Purchasing Agent Mackenzie so completely that that gentleman withdrew from the contest this year, although he would not have been opposed in the republican caucuses had he chosen to be a candidate again. With two candidates against him in the caucuses, one of whom, Mr. Fitzgerald, was particularly popular and strong with his party, Mr. Foye again won the nomination by a substantial majority which shows beyond a peradventure that his party wants him. Mr. Fitzgerald put up a vigorous but clean fight and was quick to send his successful opponent the following letter:

November 23, 1910.

Mr. Edward H. Foye.

Friend Ed.: The voters have decided that you should be the candidate for chief of the department of supplies. Please accept my heartiest congratulations. My services are at your command.

Sincerely,
Thomas J. Fitzgerald.

Anyone who personally knows Mr. Fitzgerald also knows that he means what he says at all times and that Mr. Foye will have no more loyal supporters than Mr. Fitzgerald and his friends.

Aldermanic Ticket

The democracy of Lowell appears to be thoroughly satisfied with the ticket nominated for aldermen and not a few republicans have been found who reluctantly agree that in the selection of an aldermanic ticket the democrats showed better judgment. Much talk has been made since the nominations as to the fact that the democrats nominated two French-Americans for aldermen, while the republicans threw down the only French-American on the ticket, Mr. Bergeron. Originally there were two French-Americans on the republican aldermanic ticket, ex-Councilman Edmond Cheney being the other candidate. But prior to the caucuses the matter having been discussed, Mr. Cheney withdrew in the interest of Mr. Bergeron, believing, according to report, that one French-American might get by while two couldn't. The one did not get by, despite the fact that the French-American vote is overwhelmingly republican. As far as the democrats are concerned, notwithstanding the fact that the French-American vote is largely republican, whenever a French-American has run for office in the democratic party the question of nationality has never arisen in the caucuses and he has been treated like any other democrat. Mr. Hercule Toupin has been nominated by the democrats for representative but failed of election. Through thick and thin, for many years, Mr. Toupin has been a staunch democrat, though in a minority of his compatriots. This time he is going to win. Mr. Joseph Jodoin first came to notice in politics as a democratic candidate in ward six and he was nominated and elected. He has served several terms in the common council and if any member, republican, democratic, French-American or any other nationality has a better record as a public servant we would like to see it. Mr. Jodoin was the originator of the Little Canada park idea. The files of the daily papers show that. But he couldn't get it through because of republican opposition. A year later a couple of republican councilmen took up his idea and got it through, Mr. Jodoin lending his aid just as loyally as if it were his own measure of a year previous.

So much for the French American candidates.

Alderman Jeremiah Connors having served in the board of aldermen comes back with the largest vote of the ticket which certainly is evidence that he has satisfied the voters.

Ex-Alderman John W. Daly, who dropped out of the aldermanic fight a few years ago to run for mayor comes back to the aldermanic field and goes in with the second highest vote. Mr. Daly is too well known to need any introduction at this time. He has always been elected by a flattering vote and his record defies adverse criticism regardless of party.

The ability of a candidate to come back after several years out of the game is the best evidence that his past record still retains a favorable flavor with the voters. James J. Gallagher, a former alderman at the request of his friends became a candidate again this year and he received the third highest vote.

In the order of promotion Councilman James J. Flanagan received a fine vote from the party as a candidate for alderman. Mr. Flanagan was the leader of the democratic minority in the lower branch and was looked upon by members of both parties as one of the most level-headed men in that body.

Mr. Alexander E. Rountree is a strong man politically and widely known in business circles. He is a local salesman for Simpson & Rowland and is most favorably known throughout the retail trade of the city. He is prominent in the United Commercial Travelers, Owls, being vice-president of the order in this city, and also in the Knights of Equity, Royal Arcanum and Foresters.

Andrew E. Barrett, who a few years ago served the city with distinction as purchasing agent, responded to the demand of his friends and became a candidate and was picked from the start as one of the sure winners. Mr. Barrett has been prominent in politics as a boomer of party candidates. He is connected with the Knights of Columbus and other organizations. He is in the grocery business in Salem street. His experience as purchasing agent aside from his record as a successful business man gives him a peculiar fitness for the office.

James A. Burns, the present councilman from ward six, like Councilman Flanagan has shown a record in the lower branch that entitles him to promotion, as it were. Mr. Burns is intelligent and able, honest and clean cut. His record as a councilman is a valuable asset in his contest for the upper board.

AUTO WRECKED

OCCUPANTS OF THE MACHINE WERE UNINJURED

MALDEN, Nov. 25.—Harry J. Phipps of 18 Greenleaf street, an instructor in the local high school, and Philip Cox of North Easton had a narrow escape from serious injury while returning from the Malden and Medford football game yesterday morning in an automobile. The machine was being driven by Mr. Phipps, and while attempting to run across Ferry street into Fairmont street his machine was struck by an inbound Broadway elevated car and turned over.

Both occupants were thrown out but in some manner landed on their feet. The accident was witnessed by several hundred persons. Neither man was injured, but the auto was badly wrecked, the wheels and side and back being badly smashed in. It was necessary to have the auto towed away to a garage.

A TWO-STORY HOUSE OF NINE ROOMS AND ABOUT 4820 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT 74 ELM STREET

On the premises, regardless of any condition of the weather, I shall offer for sale this two-story house of nine rooms. On the first floor there is parlor, sitting-room, dining-room, kitchen, chamber, pantry and toilet. On the second floor are four large, airy and well lighted chambers. The house is very conveniently laid out and the rooms are all good sized. There are front and back stairs, good cellar, gas lighting and best of sewerage. The interior of the house is in good condition, having recently been papered and painted throughout. The lot, which has a good frontage on Elm street, contains about 4820 square feet of land and is all fenced in, giving a good yard. The location is one of the very best in this section of the city. This parcel is located about opposite the court house, within short walking distance of many industries, close to schools, churches and cars, and handy to the center of the city. Now this is a grand opportunity for a large family who are looking for a home, or it would be a good proposition for someone who wished to rent rooms as it is an excellent location for lodgings.

The present owner of this property purchased the same but a short time ago with intentions of residing there, but has since decided to remain in her present home, and rather than have the care of renting the property will offer it for absolute sale on the day and hour advertised.

Terms: $300 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off. A good liberal mortgage can remain at 5 per cent.

AMERICAN KILLED

He Was Shot Down by a Mexican Officer

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 25.—James M. Reid of Houston, Miss., a civil engineer, was, according to a despatch today from Mexico City, killed there by a policeman named Sebastien Vardel, who sought, by taking the life of an American, to avenge the burning of Antonio Rodriguez by a mob in Texas.

Vardel was placed in jail. The United States ambassador has instituted a thorough investigation and will make demands for indemnity on the Mexican government.

Reid was 33 years old and spent 10 years in Argentine as a surveyor and civil engineer.

HOTEL DESTROYED

Woman and Son Jumped From Window and May Die

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—In a wild scramble to escape from the flames which destroyed Young's hotel at Winthrop early this morning a mother and her son leaped from the windows and were so frightfully injured that probably neither can recover. The remaining guests, escaping amid scenes of frenzy, were uninjured, though there were numerous thrilling escapes. The hostelry was burned to the ground together with the garage in the rear and two adjoining cottages, known as the Idle Hour and the Commonwealth. The total loss will probably be considerably in excess of $50,000.

The injured are Mrs. John C. Beggs and her son, John C. Beggs, Jr., aged 17 years, of Springfield. They were asleep on the second floor of the building when the fire broke out at 2 a. m. Hastily dressing themselves with such articles of clothing as they could find within reach, they rushed out into the hallway and started to make their way down the stairs. They suddenly turned back with the evident purpose of recovering something from their apartments. When they returned the hallways were filling up with smoke and, thinking that escape was impossible save through the windows, they again retraced their steps and, frantic with terror, jumped to the sidewalk below. Both were unconscious when picked up. They were immediately taken to the Metcalf hospital, where it was found that their injuries would probably prove fatal. The boy landed on his head and sustained a fractured skull. The hospital physicians stated that his death was a matter of a few hours. Mrs. Beggs had both of her thighs broken, her right knee pan splintered and her left foot dislocated.

The fire was the most obstinate with which the Winthrop department has had to deal with in years. Aid was sent from Boston and Revere and not until 6 a. m. was the blaze under control. For a time the entire Shore Drive, on which the hotel was located and which is lined with cottages, was threatened. Only the persistent work of the firemen prevented heavier damage.

The blaze started in a linen closet over the furnace. The watchman was aroused by the crying of little Tommy Hearn on an upper floor when he awoke to find the building in flames. It was this circumstance that enabled him to early sound the alarm and thus in all probability save the lives of most of the guests, of whom there were thirty-five.

Soon after the fire was discovered the structure was a mass of flames and from the outside it was apparent that it would be a complete loss. The firemen then directed their attention toward saving the adjacent buildings.

The guests engaged in a mad rush for safety. Some jumped frantically from the windows; others fled pell-mell through the hallways and down the stairs. Mrs. John Slate knotted two sheets together and, fastening them to a bureau, slid to the ground. Mrs. James Hearn, her son Tommy, and Richard Tobin plunged from the piazza and escaped without a scratch.

The hotel was owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Young, widow of the former proprietor. It was four stories in height and of frame construction, being patronized principally as a resort. The conflagration was a spetcaular one, the flames lighting up the country for miles around.

CONTAGIOUS HOSPITAL

Special Meeting of City Council to Act on Matter

Mayor Meehan has called special meetings of both branches of the city council for this evening for the purpose of taking some action relative to the contagious hospital matter which will be introduced in the city council in the form of a joint communication from the boards of health and charities, asking for a contagious and infectious hospital. The joint communication appears in another column.

The board of health will hold its regular meeting this afternoon and it is expected that after the special meetings of the aldermen and council have adjourned tonight there will be held a meeting of the appropriations committee and the chairmen of the boards of health and charities will attend the meeting and present arguments in favor of the proposition to appropriate the money asked for.

It was stated at the city hall this forenoon that an effort would be made to refer the contagious hospital matter over to next year's government, but it is believed that that effort will be defeated and that the matter will be referred to the committee on appropriations.

LABOR OFFICIALS

Asked to Show Cause Why They Should Not be Enjoined

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—Judge Pierce in the equity session of the superior court has issued an order of notice returnable on Wednesday next requiring Desire Houle, Thomas Dalton, Fred J. Reardon and Thomas Means, all of Haverhill, and John Burns, Jeremiah Brown, S. J. Bouthilier and Aldrice Danderman, all of Lynn, officers and members of a shoe workers' protective union to show cause why they should not be enjoined from ordering a strike at the shoe factory of Fred J. Thompson of Haverhill.

Thompson conducts an open shop, which, it is claimed, the defendants are attempting to unionize. Thompson says that on Oct. 10 the union officials named entered into a conspiracy to injure his business by threatening to place on the "blacklist" the names of such members of the union as refused to leave his employ. A strike is also in contemplation and Thompson asks for an injunction to prevent the strike. He further asks that the defendants be restrained from in any way interfering with his business or with men who desire to continue in his employ.

SHOT HIS SISTER

Neceta Then Probably Fatally Wounded Man

FITCHBURG, Nov. 25.—Because his sister, Stavioula Neceta, on Monday last went to live at the home of Gustas Tetalas, Peter Neceta today emptied his revolver at the couple, wounding his sister in the hand and probably fatally wounding Tetalas. Neceta was later arrested. The shooting took place on Main street in the business centre of this city. Hearing the shots and seeing the couple fall, several men chased Neceta to the Greek district, where he was cornered in the attic of a house on Board street and arrested without resistance.

The two wounded persons were removed in an ambulance to a police station, where the city physician, Dr. G. P. Norton, attended them.

For some time past Tetalas, whom Neceta disliked, has been attentive to Miss Neceta, and last Monday she took up her abode at Tetalas' home and was to be married to him in a few days.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Three persons were shot, one of them George Gabler, a saloonkeeper, being wounded seriously, and many others were subjected to a rain of bullets here today in a riot caused by striking garment workers attacking non-union workers on the Northwest Side. Gabler was in his saloon and the bullet that struck him came through a window. Bricks, sticks, and stones also were thrown by the fighters and several wagonloads of police were called.

Vincent Bellano and his wife, Anna, non-union workers, were accused by the police of firing the shots and were arrested. A revolver which had been fired several times was found on Bellano.

IN THE CHURCHES

Thanksgiving Services With Sermons Appropriate to Occasion

Union Services Were Held by the Congregational and Methodist Churches—Strong Sermon by Rev. St. John Chambre

Union services were the order of the day in the Protestant churches of the city yesterday and all of them were well attended. For the first time in the history of the city the Swedish Protestant churches of all denominations held a union service.

Congregational Churches

The Congregational churches held a Thanksgiving day service at the First church. The order of service was as follows:

Organ prelude, Solon W. Stevens; invocation, Rev. A. F. Dunnels of the Highland church; response by the children's choir; responsive reading, led by Mr. Dunnels; hymn, by the congregation; scripture reading, by Dr. Kyle, the Portuguese missionary; prayer, Dr. Kyle; reading of Thanksgiving proclamation, Rev. F. E. Alger of the Pawtucket church; offering, for the Congregational board of ministerial relief; hymn; sermon by Rev. J. E. Gregg of Kirk street church; prayer; hymn; benediction by Rev. B. A. Willmott of First church, and organ postlude by Mr. Stevens.

"Courageous Thankfulness" was the subject of Mr. Gregg's sermon, and the text was: Acts 28:15: "And from thence, when the brethren heard of us, they came to meet us as far as the Market of Appius and the Three Taverns; whom when Paul saw, he thanked God, and took courage."

Having sketched some of the reasons why we may thank God and take courage as we look out upon the whole world and as we survey this fair land in which we live, he spoke briefly in regard to the commonwealth and the city, saying:

I do not suppose that there has been a time since the 17th century when the people of Massachusetts did not have reason to be thankful that they were members of this body politic. The name of this commonwealth has stood in the past and still stands for independence of thought, and action, for an enlightened public opinion, for wise laws, honestly administered, for generosity toward the afflicted and helpless, for practical Christianity in public affairs. Let us thank God that he has saved the commonwealth of Massachusetts unto this day. Let us take courage to believe that He will guard and bless her in all the days to come. And let us pray that He will permit us, everyone, to share in this high task.

As for our own city, I cannot speak with great assurance, having lived here only a little more than a year. But I venture to express by strong conviction that we ought to be thankful that Lowell is a "mill city." There is real value in that solid industrial foundation for municipal life. It means not only material assets, but spiritual assets, too. It gives a certain genuineness, a certain concreteness, a certain business-like vigor, to the spirit of the community such as no luxurious suburb can ever possess. Our thinking can hardly help being practical, and that is a distinct advantage; and to no one more than to the preacher of religion.

Methodists and Presbyterians

The Gorham Street Methodist church was the scene of a union Thanksgiving service by the Methodist and Presbyterian congregations, yesterday morning at 10.30. There was a large attendance.

Rev. Hiram W. Hook, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church, preached the sermon.

Rev. J. W. Stephan, pastor of the Worthen Street M. E. church, presided at the services. The governor's proclamation was read at the opening by Rev. S. A. Jackson, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church. Rev. N. W. Matthews, pastor of the Gorham Street Methodist church, gave the responsive reading, and the Scripture lesson was read by Rev. J. T. Carlyon, pastor of the Centralville M. E. church. Hymn 263 was read by Rev. Panos Ginieres, pastor of the Greek Methodist mission, and benediction was conferred by Rev. Mr. Stephan. The music was given by the choir of the church under the direction of Joseph Wilmot. J. B. Leith was the organist.

The Swedish Churches

A union Thanksgiving service by the Swedish churches was held in the Swedish Methodist Episcopal church in Moore street. Rev. John Elmen of the Swedish Congregational church had charge of the service, and the following program was carried out:

Song by the congregation.
Reading of the Thanksgiving proclamation, by Rev. John Elmen.
Bible reading and prayer, by Rev. Nelson Hedeen of the Swedish Baptist church.
Violin solo by Miss Esther Anderson.
Sermon by Rev. John J. Hamilton of the Swedish Methodist church.
Song by male chorus.
Praise and prayer service led by Rev. John Elmen.
Singing of the doxology and benediction by Rev. Nelson Hedeen.

A Birthday Party

Last evening a birthday social was held at the Swedish M. E. church and the affair was a very successful and a very enjoyable one. The program included selections by a male quartet, composed of Victor Hedlund, Charles Laurin, Franz Heiston and Mr. Forsberg. Among the other features were: Piano duet, Misses Gerda and Emelie Laurin; vocal solo, Charles Laurin; vocal duet, Mr. Hedlund and Miss Emelie Laurin and violin solo, Albin Pihl. The pastor, Rev. John Hamilton, spoke briefly during the evening.

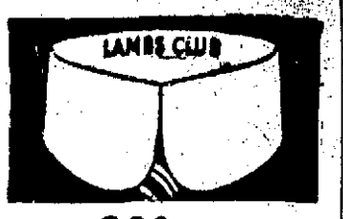

Individual Responsibility

The Thanksgiving Day service at St. Anne's church yesterday morning was well attended. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Chambre, preached a strong sermon on individual responsibility. "Let us realize," he said, "that we are citizens of no mean country; that we are citizens of no mean city; and as citizens, let use discharge our duty in the fear and love of God and for the good of our fellow creatures.

Eighty Years Old

The Eliot Congregational church will observe its 80th birthday anniversary this evening. The exercises will commence at 7.30 and there will be special music by the Eliot quartet.

A letter from Dr. Greene, the pastor emeritus, will be read, and an address of fellowship will be given by Rev. Smith Baker, D. D., who participated also in the 50th anniversary exercises 30 years ago.

CABINET CHANGE

Is Urged on President Taft

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Western republicans, not identified with the insurgent cause, are urging that President Taft put his administration upon a new basis. From their standpoint the time is very opportune. Their conversation, as they arrive for the session of congress, centres much upon a reorganization of the cabinet.

They speak much, also, about the president getting an administration candidate for the minority leadership into the field for the purpose of sidetracking "Uncle Joe" Cannon. These are only two instances, but in a general way the westerners would have the president assert himself toward the control of the party and a possible reorganization of its factions.

They say, as matters stand now, that Mr. Taft's renomination in 1912 is almost a foregone conclusion. They take quite as unkindly, as do many eastern republicans, to the candidacy of Senator Cummins, arguing that the Iowan could hardly hope to win eastern votes against a fairly acceptable democratic candidate. They claim there is doubt whether Col. Roosevelt wants another nomination and whether he could get the nomination if he would. By such a process of elimination they see the president's renomination well assured.

Unless he can gain popular confidence they fear he could not be re-elected. But they say it is 18 months till the National convention meets, during which time much could be done toward putting the party into shape for a victory.

Cabinet Changes Urged

They are singling out three members of the cabinet as meeting with more or less popular disapproval in their section of the country. These are Atty.-Gen. Wickersham, Postmaster General Hitchcock and Secretary of the Interior Ballinger.

LOST AN ARM

LAWRENCE MAN VICTIM OF GUNSHOT WOUND

LAWRENCE, Nov. 25.—Word was received here yesterday that Irving Brainerd, a chauffeur of 32 Washington street, this city, underwent amputation of his right arm in the Portland General hospital as a result of a gunshot wound.

He started Monday with the touring car of A. F. Trumbull of this city and drove to Bridgton, Me., Mr. Trumbull having left here previously on a hunting trip. Brainerd was to accompany him on a further trip. A gun that rested between the two seats of the auto was exploded and the charge entered Brainerd's arm.

INJURIES FATAL

Boy Killed in a Football Game

WINSTED, Conn., Nov. 25.—Harry Lee, aged 17 years, was killed here yesterday in a football game between the T. A. B. team and the Gilbert preparatory school eleven.

While attending an end run young Lee, who was fullback on the T. A. B. team, was tackled so forcibly that his head protection was loosened and fell from its place and he was thrown backward. Dr. W. S. Richards, who reached the field before Medical Examiner William S. Hulbert, says the lad was unconscious when he arrived and that he died within a few minutes of concussion of the brain, sustained probably by his head coming in contact with a stone hidden on a level with the grass of the gridiron.

Some of his team mates declare that the injured player not only walked a few steps after being tackled, but that he murmured something which sounded like "Don't mind this. Little hard luck. Go ahead and beat 'em."

DIED OF WOUND

Mrs. Butterworth Passed Away Today

Mrs. Louisa Butterworth who during a temporary aberration of mind slashed her throat with a razor at the home of her daughter, 840 Lakeview avenue, Monday morning, died at 3.25 o'clock this morning at the Lowell hospital, where she had been since she committed the rash act.

Mrs. Butterworth, who was 64 years of age, had been ill for 10 or 12 years, and during the past couple of years had been an invalid. Monday morning while her daughter was hanging clothes on the line Mrs. Butterworth entered her son's room and securing a razor drew it across her throat, severing the windpipe.

The ambulance was summoned and the woman was taken to the Lowell hospital, but after she had been examined and everything possible done to save her life the hospital officials announced that the chances for recovery were very small.

She is survived by one son, Charles A. Butterworth, and six daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Hill, Mrs. Christiana Leach, Mrs. Louisa Holt, Mrs. Annie Kershaw, Mrs. Eleanor Cummings, and Miss Agnes Butterworth. The body was moved to the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Leach, No. 840 Lakeview avenue, by Undertaker Geo. M. Eastman.

FRUIT GROWER

FOUND DEAD IN FIELD AT ROCHESTER, N. H.

ROCHESTER, N. H., Nov. 25.—The body of Frank H. Tuttle, 22 years old, a fruit grower, who disappeared late yesterday afternoon, was found yesterday lying face downward in a field some distance from his home with a bullet hole through the heart.

A revolver with one chamber empty was found 30 feet from the body. An autopsy was held and it was found that death was probably due to accident. Tuttle left his home to set traps.

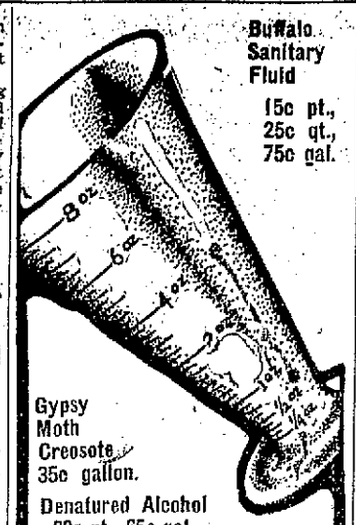

He was one of the leading fruit growers of the state, his specialty being apples. He leaves a wife.

IN POLICE COURT

Very Small Docket After the Holiday

This morning's session of the police court was a comparatively short one despite the fact that yesterday was a holiday. The number of prisoners in the dock this morning was very small, even smaller than the average daily attendance, which speaks well of the law abiding qualities of the citizens of Lowell together with the manner in which the police department keeps tabs on the liquor traffic.

Neglect of Wife

The continued case of Louis Kavoures, charged with failing to provide proper support for his wife, was called. Lawyer Daniel J. Donahue for the defense and Lawyer J. Joseph Hennessy for the complainant. Several months ago the defendant appeared before the court and was ordered to pay to his wife the sum of $2 each week. He did not do this, the contention being that he was unable to work all of the time owing to a serious illness and also that when he did work he received but $6 a week.

When the case was called this morning Mr. Donahue produced a doctor's certificate to the effect that Kavoures is an invalid and practically unable to work. The court decided to continue the matter until one week from tomorrow morning in order that the doctor might be summoned into court in order to testify as to the defendant's condition.

Codding Was Defaulted

Jesse H. Codding, who during the early part of the week was ordered to pay $6 per week towards the support of his children and who was to come into court this morning to furnish a bond to assure the court that the money would be paid, failed to put in an appearance and at the order of the court Codding was declared defaulted.

Drunken Offenders

Joseph Twoomey and Thomas A. Coan, charged with being drunk, were each ordered to pay a fine of $6. There was one first offender who was fined $2 and seven simple drunks were released.

John Maculalevich was arrested late Wednesday afternoon by Lieut. James Brosnan on a complaint charging him with feloniously assaulting Mrs. Eva Markelova on November 21.

He was arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning and entered a plea of not guilty. The case was continued till Wednesday.

TIM MURNANE

Timothy H. Murnane, the noted baseball authority and president of the New England league, gave an interesting talk on baseball at the Y. M. C. A., Wednesday before a large and appreciative audience. In the course of his remarks Mr. Murnane made the following prediction:

"Baseball—why, baseball is going to be the universal game. Before many years, world's series games will be truly such, between teams from all parts of the world, instead of between teams from the United States."

LIVES IN PERIL

Ten Persons Escaped From Building

EVERETT, Nov. 25.—Ten lives were imperiled in East Everett early yesterday morning by a fire which broke out at 60 Malden street while all occupants of the building were sleeping. Neighbors, who were awakened by the glare of the flames bursting through the roof of the house, hastily aroused the sleepers by pounding on their doors and all escaped in scanty clothing, but were able to save few effects. Although the building was not destroyed, the upper part of the house was gutted and the contents of the lower floor were badly damaged by the volumes of water poured upon the flames by the fire department.

The building was a two and one-half story wooden double house, numbered 58 and 60 Malden street. The fire started from an unknown cause in the upper part of No. 60, occupied by Frederick L. Skerry. The women members of the Skerry family were away, but Mr. Skerry's brother-in-law, Alton Knowlton, was sleeping in the house and they escaped just in time to save their lives. The lower floor was vacant.

NEARLY DROWNED

MAN JUMPED OFF TRAIN AND FELL INTO RIVER

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 25.—George Hannon of Revere had a narrow escape from being drowned in the Piscataqua river Wednesday night. He came home to pass Thanksgiving with his family on the late train, being a passenger in the last car. The train was a long one and when it stopped in this city the car containing Mr. Hannon was well up in the freight yard.

When the train pulled through the station he thought it was Portsmouth, but being uncertain he walked through several cars until he met the porter, who informed him that they were leaving Portsmouth and the next stop was Biddeford.

The train at this time was under good headway, but Hannon, without saying anything, walked to the platform and jumped off. The train was just crossing Nobles island bridge, and when Hannon jumped he struck the ground near the abutment and being unable to stop himself was thrown headlong into the river.

He managed to keep afloat until his cries for help attracted the attention of Grossing Tender John Leary, who with George McIntosh of Noble's island and John Williams, watchman at the Dover branch switch, ran to the rescue.

BOMB CHECKED

Police Officer Took a Great Risk

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—At the risk of being blown to pieces, Policeman Benjamin Fay rushed into a tenement house yesterday and extinguished the burning fuse of a bomb just in time to save 16 families from possible death. Salvatore Pizza, janitor of the tenement, saw in the dark hallway a tiny jet of flame sputtering at the end of the fuse. Not knowing what it was he picked up the bomb, but set it down in a hurry and ran from the building. He found Policeman Fay and had told him what had happened. Fay ran into the hallway and stepped on the burning fuse.

The tenants in the building say they have received no black hand letters.

SWAMPED

The most terrific Thanksgiving rush of my career leaves me engulfed in a sea of Overcoat and Suit orders. All over my circuit from Boston westward to Buffalo, business has been of unprecedented volume---so much so that I had to stop taking orders Saturday for Thanksgiving delivery.

Can You Give Me a Week's Time?

If you can give me a week's time on your order I beg of you to come in to my store today or tomorrow. I know you think a good suit can't be made for my prices. That's what the other fellow used to think till he saw the goods. The men who swamp me with business bought clothing before as well as you. They are intelligent men, the same as you. They doubted, but they called to satisfy themselves. I sold them by the force of bargains---by the strength of comparisons.

Can you give me a week on your order---there is no question about your buying---you can't resist the goods at the price. But I want a week's time.

BOY WAS KILLED

Was Shot Dead by His Companion

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 25.—Charles Mulchy, 15 years of age, was shot and killed by his companion of the same age, Charles Jones, near their home at Forest Port yesterday. They had been hunting and were on their way home when, according to the story told last night to Coroner Sparks, Jones pointed his gun playfully at Mulchy, telling him to "halt." The gun went off and the charge entered the lad's head, death being almost instantaneous. Jones says he did not know the gun was loaded.

SEARS ARRESTED

Two Charges of Homicide Against Him

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 25.—The murder of Rev. Anzi L. Armstrong and his wife, at their home at Dutch Neck last Wednesday night, has resulted in two charges of homicide being preferred against John Sears, who was last night held without bail.

Rudolph Norhaus, who was taken with Sears, was released.

Early last evening, after having submitted Sears to a severe examination, Prosecutor Crossley and County Detective Kirkham went to Dutch Neck and, as the prosecutor expressed himself, Sears' mother, the housekeeper in the Armstrong household, was impounded in the custody of constables.

Mr. Crossley would not discuss the surveillance of the mother. The prosecutor also refused to discuss the motive for the murder.

The investigation, it was stated, established the fact that the Rev. Mr. Armstrong and his wife were killed by a shot from a double barrelled gun, which was found yesterday standing in a corner in the kitchen of the Armstrong home. This gun was borrowed by Sears two weeks ago from a neighbor for gunning.

Sears is a half breed and his mother is a negress. Mrs. Sears has been housekeeper in the Armstrong family for more than 35 years.

THREE DROWNED

The dead are J. Hogstrom, Harry Hopper and Louis Kester, all of Brooklyn. They were drowned when the 25 foot launch Landerer was capsized by the breakers off Rockaway Point. Bernard Blumquist was picked up by launches.

HOUSE OF LORDS

Has Ignored the Government's Bill

LONDON, Nov. 25.—The house of lords last night, without a division, adopted the resolutions of Lord Lansdowne, the opposition leader of the house of lords and decided to send them, together with Lord Rosebery's plans for the reformation of the membership of the lords to the house of commons. The upper chamber then adjourned until Monday, when dissolution of parliament will take place. Thus the government's veto bill has been ignored by the house of lords.

A noticeable feature of the debate has been the number of liberal peers who supported Lord Lansdowne's scheme and opposed the government's veto bill.

One True Medicinal Whiskey

Beware of imitations and substitutes unscrupulous dealers tell you are "just as good as" Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

These cheap concoctions are foisted on the people with the intent to deceive, by dealers mindful of their profits only and caring nothing for the health of their patrons. Some go so far as to try to make you believe it is Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

Substitutes Are Dangerous

When a remedy has been before the public for more than half a century, has been prescribed and used by the best doctors and in prominent hospitals, and has carried the blessings of health into as many thousands of homes as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has, imitations are bound to arise. But they can imitate the bottle and label only—no one can imitate the contents.

Facsimile of package and bottle greatly reduced.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey Is Beneficial

It is an absolutely pure distillation of malted grain. Its palatability and its freedom from injurious substances render it so that it can be retained by the most sensitive stomach. It has been used with remarkable results in the treatment of consumption, pneumonia, grip, coughs, colds, asthma, malaria, low fevers, stomach troubles and all wasted and diseased conditions.

THANKSGIVING JOY

Carried to the Inmates of the Various Institutions Yesterday

Keeper Shaw and Supt. Conley Made the Day a Memorable One for the People at the Jail and Chelmsford Street Hospital

While in the homes Thanksgiving day was grandly observed the inmates in the different local institutions were not forgotten and in each a special observance was made.

At Ayer Home

The 101 children of the Ayer Home enjoyed Thanksgiving day in a royal manner. The morning was devoted to games indoors and at 1.45 all sat down to a grand repast of turkey and all the fixin's, topped of by a marvelous pudding. They ate until their little "tummies" were plum full so full in fact that when supper hour arrived nobody wanted any. In the evening 14 of the children put on a vaudeville show, each number of which was received with tumultuous applause. After the show the performers were given an oyster supper.

St. Peter's Orphanage

The 60 children of St. Peter's orphanage opened the day by attending mass in the chapel, after which the morning was devoted to games. Promptly at noon a big dinner of turkey, etc., followed by ice cream and cake was served. In the afternoon the children took a long walk into the country.

Edson Orphanage

At the Theodore Edson orphanage, the boys attended the Thanksgiving day service at St. Anne's church in the morning, after which a special dinner, bountiful as befits the day, was served, the rector, Rev. Dr. Chambre, being a guest at the table. After dinner the boys amused themselves with play, in and out of doors, making a genuine holiday of the occasion.

French American Orphanage

Jail and Hospital

At the Lowell jail 130 inmates consumed 14 turkeys and a host of other things for dinner and pies and doughnuts galore for supper. During the afternoon they were allowed the freedom of the corridors.

At the Chelmsford street hospital 400 inmates had a sumptuous dinner and a social time was enjoyed in the afternoon. The inmates were treated to a dinner abounding with good things and one that was fully appreciated by all those whose health enabled them to join in the festivities.

At Y. W. C. A. Rooms

A special Thanksgiving dinner was served at the Young Women's Christian Association, for all of the boarders and a few invited guests. In the afternoon there was a gathering for social purposes, of those who are resident in the Association home.

Children's Festival

A delightful children's festival was held in the Sacred Heart school yesterday afternoon with a large and merry attendance. The children conducted everything except the refreshment department and they did it well. The candy table was under the charge of Miss Nora Ryan, assisted by Misses Anna Ryan, Katherine Boyle and Margaret Connolly. There was a fish pond conducted by Miss May Cowell, assisted by Misses Margaret Hansburg and Katie Foley, and John Tully. An electric shocking machine was conducted by Frank Kneafsey, and the "hoop-la" was cared for by Cornelius Lynch, assisted by Joseph Jennings and Eddie Kenney, the latter as spieler. A tonic booth was conducted by Jerry Keohane, assisted by Arthur Spencer and Leo Constantineau as spieler.

Dr. J. B. O'Connor, James Burns and George Brennan conducted the games in the hall. The candy table had a beautifully dressed doll, which was drawn by Miss Esther King, 9 Fay street.

Wednesday night's entertainment was repeated and the school room scene and the school room pranks made a decided hit with the children. Miss Elizabeth Miskella and her troupe of boys and girls deserve much credit for their fine performance.

At St. Michael's

The annual Thanksgiving day entertainment by the children of St. Michael's parochial school was held in the school hall Wednesday and was in keeping with the high order of entertainments held at that school. Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor, and the curates of St. Michael's were present as the special guests of the occasion. The program was as follows:

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

The Disease Now Threatening Children

Prevent It If Possible

The spread of infantile paralysis has become alarming throughout the country. If your children complain of headache and fever, with pain in the back and limbs, send immediately for your family doctor, as these symptoms usually denote the approach of this dreaded disease.

While awaiting the arrival of your physician, bathe the spine and legs the entire length with warm water, using brisk friction.

If your children are ailing, puny or fretful, don't wait, but give them Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. This wonderful remedy is, above all, a family medicine, and its name is a household word in thousands of homes all over the land. Parents give the children Nervura as a and thereby ward off this terrible disease.

Don't let the little ones remain weak, nervous and run down in health for in their weakened condition a sudden attack of any disease may prove fatal. You can readily tell when they are out of order—they seem dull, lie about listlessly, lose interest in their work, play or studies; lose their appetite, look pale, are nervous and restless nights, and complain of feeling tired mornings. They may be billious, constipated, and have a coated tongue, with possibly some nervous twitchings. The best medicine in the world is Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, known and used everywhere as the great household remedy. It is not a patent medicine, and is perfectly harmless, being made from pure vegetable remedies and harmless herbs, wonderful in their health restoring powers, and can be given to infants, children or the weakest invalid with absolute confidence and assurance of good results.

strengthens and invigorates the entire system, restoring a healthful color to the cheek, refreshing sleep, strong nerves, stout limbs, and that bounding health and vitality which all children should have.

Parents have confidence in Dr. Greene's Nervura, and remember the great advantage of giving their children a medicine put up by Dr. Greene, a regular practising physician, who guarantees his Nervura and will stand behind it at all times. Dr. Greene will give free consultation and advice, personally or by mail, at his office, 34 Temple place, Boston, Mass.

GANG OF THIEVES

Proved to be Crowd of Boys

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—To their admitted astonishment the police of the East Side precincts from Forty-second to Ninety-sixth streets dscovered that the "Showense gang," of which they have been long in pursuit, was made up apparently of about 15 small boys, some so young they lisp, with a 17-year-old fellow as stern master.

Wednesday night there faced the desk lieutenant in East Fifty-first street Joseph Lynch, 17 years, of 341 East Sixty-second street; John Kelly, 12 years, of 1109 First avenue, and George Lynch, 10 years, brother of Joseph. Though Joe sneered, Johnny and George howled. When the police demanded that they reveal the names of the other young marauders they howled louder than ever.

Johnny Kelly and six or seven other boys swooped into Jacob Greenwald's art store at 926 Third avenue, Tuesday night, grabbed a half dozen pictures and bolted. A few doors below stood Herman Germaine of the Germaine company, which has a 5 and 10 cent store. He seized young Kelly, took the pictures from him and returned them to Greenwald.

Wednesday night the youngsters repeated the attempt to rob Greenwald. Germaine again captured Johnny Kelly. This time he called Patrolman Frazier. Fierce questioning got Johnny to say that he mustn't stay there longer 'cause the "boss" was waiting for him at Fifty-Seventh street. Patrolman Frazer borrowed Germaine's hat and coat and left his helmet and tunic for security. He made Johnny walk up the street and trailed him. Thus Joseph Lynch was captured. On the return trip Georgie ran out to speak to his brother and was gathered in.

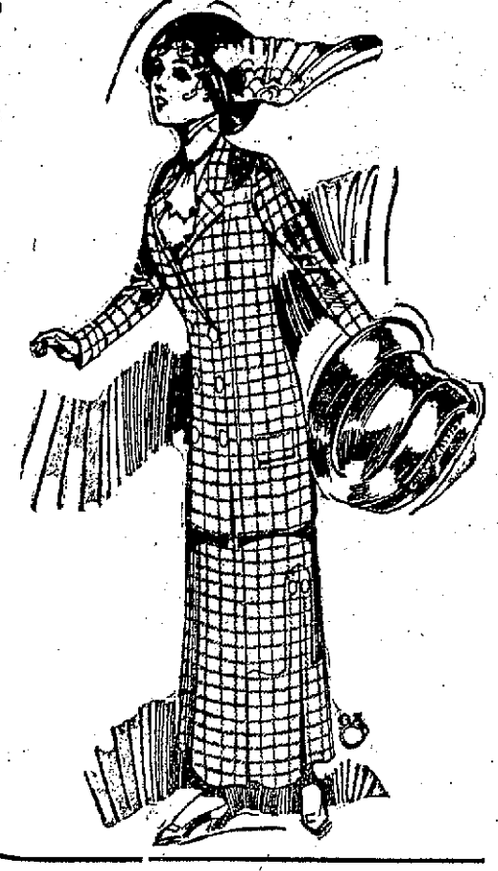

Johnny Kelly had three pairs of men's gloves, nine boxes of rouge and a picklock fashioned out of a silver spoon, the bowl of which had been filed to a fine V shaped wedge.

CT. ST. ANTOINE

Held Reception to Its Charter Members

Count St. Antoine, C. O. F. held a delightful reception to its charter members at St. Joseph's college hall, last evening on the occasion of the presentation by the court of the silver cup won by Court St. Antoine in the last membership recruiting contest. In addition to many friends of the members, high state court officers were present from Lawrence, Haverhill and Cambridge.

Frank Ricard, chief ranger of the court, was master of ceremonies and Mayor Meehan was the first speaker. His Honor extended the greetings of the city to the visiting dignitaries and also to the charter members and chief rangers for whom the reception was given. Himself a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters, His Honor spoke in high terms of the work done by it and by benevolent organizations in general.

Rev. Fr. Joseph Lefebvre, O. M. I., spoke on "The Clergy," outlining the duties, ideals and usefulness of the Catholic priesthood; J. A. Dauphinais of New Bedford, state trustee, spoke on "The Catholic Order of Foresters;" N. V. Marcotte of Cambridge, state chief ranger, spoke on "Our Celebration;" Eugene Soulliere, of Worcester, state treasurer, spoke on "Our Societies;" A. N. Boulais spoke on "Our Charter Members," and J. J. E. Bellemare, first chief ranger of the court, spoke on "Our Past Chief Rangers."

The cup was presented by F. X. Bilodeau of Montreal, vice chief ranger of the high court. Mr. Bilodeau in presenting the cup outlined interestingly the conditions and details of the contest in which Court St. Antoine had won such a signal victory. Only one court in America, Court St. Elizabeth of Chicago, is larger than Court St. Antoine, and that by a small number, while Court St. Antoine surpassed all others for the number of new members recruited during the contest.

Mr. Ricard gracefully accepted the cup in the name of the court.

The former chief rangers present were J. J. E. Bellemare, J. W. Goulet, Napoleon Cossette, Azarie Thibault, Frederick Giroux, Arthur Thibault, Dr. A. G. Payette.

The charter members were Dr. Pacifique Contre, J. W. Goulet, J. J. E. Bellemare, A. N. Boulais, G. M. Bourgeois, Timothee Vigeant, J. B. G. Martin, Jos. D. Gadoua, J. F. Miliot, L. N. Miliot, Samuel Roy, Avila P. Lussier, Dr. L. V. Rochette, Stephen Rochette, David Thault, J. B. Domers, J. H. Domers, J. Boucher, Narcisse Desloges, Amedee Gelinas, Hippolyte Geoffroy, Onesime Forget, Philippe Leduc.

The court was founded Feb. 16, 1896, with these 23 members. It now counts 853 members.

The organization committee was composed of Denis Descheneaux, president; Noe Daunais, secretary; J. H. Gregoire, treasurer; Leonce Fortin, assistant treasurer; Willis Peltier, Henri Achin, Jr., L. J. Cornellier, J. J. Bellemare, Joseph Parent, Lucien Ducharme, Joseph Robitaille, Alex Morin, A. J. Poulin, Patrick Lacourse, J. B. Sicard, Jean Paradis, Onesime Tremblay, Arthur Lavellie, Alberic Ducharme, Philippe Cote, Charles Delaronde.

At 8 o'clock in the morning at St. Jean Baptiste church, a requiem mass was sung for the deceased members of the court. Rev. Fr. Arthur Berneche, O. M. I., officiated.

MEETING OF THE HOUSE OF GOVERNORS: ITS SIGNIFICANCE AND IMPORTANCE

"A new idea in American politics, aiming to promote uniform legislation on vital questions, to conserve state rights, to lessen centralization, to secure a fuller, freer voice of the people and to make a stronger nation."

By CHARLES N. LURIE.

IN the words quoted above is sounded the call to the American people to give heed to the coming meeting of the governors elect of the states at Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 29, and in Louisville, Nov. 30 to Dec. 3. Not only should the thinking American follow the reports of the deliberations of the meetings as brought to him by the press, but he should endeavor to grasp the significance of the conference and of the subsequent annual gatherings and to fix in his mind their new place in the scheme of American government.

A body without power save that of recommendation to the legislatures, yet the only practicable method of co-operation by the states of the Union in those matters which require concerted action—such is the house of governors. Its primary purposes are, first, the institution of personal association and contact of the governors; second, enabling them individually and their states to profit by one another's experiences in directing state affairs; third, advancement of the cause of uniform legislation, where such legislation is deemed desirable, by united state action where United States action has failed and must fail because of constitutional limitation of power.

There is also the combating of the idea of centralization, but it should be understood clearly that there is no suggestion of antagonism toward the federal government. The spheres of national and state action are separated by the constitution and must remain separated if the provisions of the constitution are to be observed. The father of the house of governors plan, William George Jordan, who is the permanent secretary of the house, states this last named purpose of the conferences thus: "The states are called upon through the house of governors to give heed to the lapse of state rights and powers consciously or unconsciously abrogated."

Remedy Sought For Evils.

Rights and powers, duties and responsibilities, belonging legally and morally to the states have been permitted to lapse through the neglect of the states themselves. It is to alter this state of affairs and to effect a cure of some of the evils from which we are suffering—evils which can be remedied only through the action of the state governments working in harmony—that the house of governors will be called upon to lend its collective wisdom.

The federal constitution was ratified by the thirteen original states and has been indorsed by the thirty-three which have since entered the Union. (Arizona and New Mexico are not yet full fledged states.) Each state is an independent commonwealth, with sovereign powers within its own boundaries. The powers conferred by the states on the federal government, which stands, therefore, toward the state governments in the relation of creature to creators, are those only which are explicitly and expressly conferred on it and are not reserved to the states themselves. They are seventeen in number, carefully enumerated and defined. Any action by the federal government outside of these restricted powers is extra legal and illegal and will not bear test before the United States supreme court, the interpreter and guardian of the constitution.

Power of the Governors.

As stated above, the power of the governors is that of recommendation solely, but that recommendation would have vastly more power if indorsed by the united action of the state executives. It is contended that only through co-operation by the states, functioning through the state legislatures and actuated by the recommendations of the governors, can concerted state action as deemed necessary by the wisdom of the governors be made effective. The need of agreement and uniform laws on certain important matters, such as divorce, extradition of fugitives from justice, life insurance and automobile regulations, is conceded.

Cannot the federal government attend to those matters and apply the proper remedies by means of federal legislation? The reply is simply that the central power may not legislate on such matters without exceeding its rights as defined by the constitution. Constitutional amendment may be suggested, but the process of changing the fundamental law of the nation cannot be undertaken to meet such cases and need not be undertaken when so simple a plan as concerted state action to be procured through the action of the house of governors is available.

Granted, therefore, that concerted state action is desirable, how shall it be obtained? There is no provision in the constitution for periodical meetings of representatives of the states. It may be urged that the senators represent the states. They do so only in relation to the federal legislation enacted in pursuance of the objects expressly enumerated in the national pact. Taken collectively, the senators are only a second chamber for the consideration of proposed laws. With the house of governors in active, continuous operation we shall have a perfect bicameral or two chamber system, congress filling the need of national legislation and the house of governors representing the relations of the states to one another.

Simplicity of the Idea.

Given annual meetings of the governors, what better engine of intercommunication and interchange of ideas can be devised? These broad minded men will meet and will discuss in harmony the needs of their states. They will talk over what has been done and is being done to solve the problems common to all of the states, and they will reach bases of agreement.

It should be understood that uniformity of laws is not the only purpose of these governors' meetings, but that uniformity of desire to enact the best laws for each individual state is a desired end. Uniformity of laws is neither desirable nor desired in some instances. It is as a clearing house of ideas on state government and as a medium of friendly association of the state executives that the house of governors finds its highest expression.

Foremost in the minds of the governors at the coming meeting will be no doubt the question of the conservation of natural resources, now much discussed, and it probably will be one of the subjects of formal debate. It is asserted by the advocates of state conservation that the subject of conservation must be considered from two viewpoints, one presenting the duty and right of the federal government to conserve the resources of its own property, the other showing a similar duty and right of the states in regard to their natural wealth and that of their citizens. The vital interest of the states in this question is well evidenced by the fact that four-fifths of the standing timber of the country is owned by private persons or corporations, subject to the jurisdiction of the states. With this four-fifths the federal government can have no direct relationship. The same condition exists between the states and the owners of the water rights, the minerals, etc.

The problem of the conservation of the greatest part of the country's resources is solvable by the states and by the states only, say the men who see in the house of governors a means of salvation for the idea of a federal union, challenged, they assert, by the tendency of a centralized federal government to enter upon the consideration of matters with which it has no proper concern.

The first business of the house of governors at the coming meeting will be that of organization. The committee of arrangements consists of Governor Willson of Kentucky, the host of his fellow executives; Governor Ansel of South Carolina and Governor Hadley of Missouri. Among the governors who will deliver addresses before the conference are Burke of North Dakota and Norris of Montana. A budget will be adopted, and the governors will consult on the matter of asking the states to appropriate the money needed to carry on the permanent organization of the house. It will be assessed in proportion to the states' population. The expenses will be small in comparison to the good to be gained. Provision will be made for a permanent office, probably in New York. The first meeting of the house of governors was held in Washington in January, 1910, but probably never again will there be a meeting in the national capital. It is proposed to hold the meetings in the state capitals, in each of them in turn.

William George Jordan is the man who conceived this new idea in the American governmental system. He made it public in a pamphlet issued in 1907, and it met with instant favor. Its simplicity and utility appealed to the publicists, and they gave to it their enthusiastic indorsement. Many of them have recorded their opinions that it supplied an essential, heretofore missing part in the mechanism of our government inadvertently omitted by the fathers. The man to whom credit must be awarded for remedying the defect is a native and a resident of New York city and an editor and author of high standing. He has been connected with some of the country's best known periodicals and has written several books.

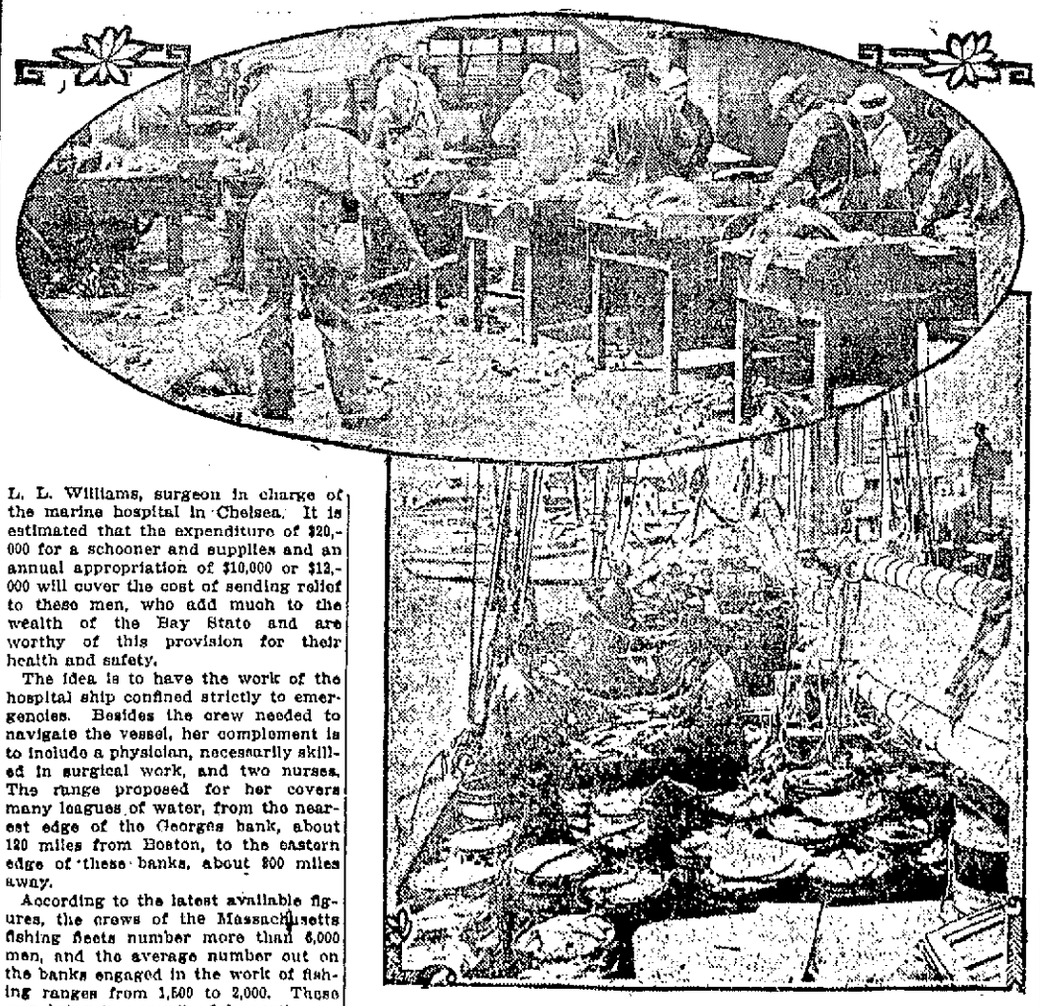

HOSPITAL SHIP TO BE GOOD SAMARITAN OF THE GLOUCESTER FISHERMAN

A GOOD SAMARITAN of the seas is what Massachusetts has planned to send out for the succor of its sons who meet with disaster on the waters of the great deep. A floating hospital well equipped to meet the emergencies of medical and surgical work among the fishermen has been recommended by Dr. L. L. Williams, surgeon in charge of the marine hospital in Chelsea. It is estimated that the expenditure of $20,000 for a schooner and supplies and an annual appropriation of $10,000 or $12,000 will cover the cost of sending relief to these men, who add much to the wealth of the Bay State and are worthy of this provision for their health and safety.

The idea is to have the work of the hospital ship confined strictly to emergencies. Besides the crew needed to navigate the vessel, her complement is to include a physician, necessarily skilled in surgical work, and two nurses. The range proposed for her covers many leagues of water, from the nearest edge of the Georges bank, about 120 miles from Boston, to the eastern edge of these banks, about 300 miles away.

According to the latest available figures, the crews of the Massachusetts fishing fleets number more than 6,000 men, and the average number out on the banks engaged in the work of fishing ranges from 1,500 to 2,000. These men bring in annually fish worth several millions of dollars. Their ports are Boston, Gloucester, Salem, Provincetown and other coast towns, but the majority of them call Gloucester their home.

For four centuries, without a break, the men of the Atlantic coasts of Europe and America have taken fish from the waters off the coast of Newfoundland and adjacent territories. No other industry in America can boast of so long an ancestry. During all these centuries men have reaped the harvest of the seas, paying for it in many cases with their lives and limbs. Not a year in all those 400 has passed without adding its quota to the ever lengthening list of the dead and maimed. The perils of the sea are many in winter, when much of the fishing is done.

Of all the perils of the fishing banks that of collision with a liner is the one most feared. "Collision" is hardly the word, since the shock so frequently fatal to the schooner, invariably mortal to the dory or smaller boat, is hardly felt by the leviathan of the seas. The preface to the disaster comes with the settling down of the fog which hides all things, even the sea, from the lookout on the steamer's bow and from the man in the dory. Then come the high, sharp steel prow of the liner looming out of the murk, the rending and crashing of timbers and the immersion in the icy water, followed in too many cases by crushing against the side of the big vessel. Such cases generally mean death without hope of rescue.

Other accidents of the sea, such as falls on the schooners, severe injuries due to cutting with the fish knives which play so large a part in the business, amputations of toes or fingers or greater members made necessary by freezing, shocks due to long immersion, etc., fall within the province of the hospital ship. The captains of the fishing schooners are amateur physicians and surgeons in many cases and carry with them remedies for the simple ills which might befall their men. But they are helpless in severe cases, and the hospital ship is to supply this need.

"Lines are graven early on the faces of the women of Gloucester," says a magazine writer. "The girl who marries a fisherman in her early twenties takes more than even chances of being a widow in her thirties. Memorial day in Gloucester is unique in its celebration of the terrible tax levied upon human life by a human industry. On that midwinter day children cast flowers upon the freezing waters of Gloucester harbor—one child to each flower, one flower for each victim of the sea during the preceding year. After the exercises in the harbor there is a memorial service at the city hall, with addresses, reading the names of the dead and prayers.

"In the winter the fisherman must fight to a finish his battle with the elements, for on the banks there is no harbor. He must brave storms which sweep his decks with waves so high that even a seaman dares not estimate them and which roll his craft until the coals burning in the galley are spilled upon its roof and the common name of all his stores of food is hash. He struggles with the wheel in weather that exhausts him in a fifteen minute shift and in the bitterest cold beats ice from rigging and decks, knowing that neglect means more flowers in the harbor on Memorial day. He rides out winter gales at the end of half a mile of cable, which it often takes a full day to hoist aboard."

WALTON WILLIAMS.

WINTER MAKES ACUTE THE QUESTION OF THE CITY BEGGAR

WHAT shall we folks of the big cities do with our beggars? Or, failing a satisfactory answer to this question, what shall we permit our beggars to do to us? We are called upon to reply to one or the other of these queries, especially at this season of the year, when mendicancy is on the increase in the big centers of population.

A glance at the calendar supplies the reason. Thanksgiving heralds the approach, or perhaps emphasizes the arrival, of the winter, and it also ushers in the ante-holiday season, when the thoughts of all turn to Christmas shopping and the streets begin to be filled with buyers. In the presence of throngs in the city streets lies the earnest of success for the beggar's efforts.

The first breath of approaching winter in the fields and roads of the rural sections turns the thoughts of the homeless wanderer to the city. It is cold work tramping, and the thought of the heated, if squalid, cheap city lodging house is grateful to the recollection. And, too, the city folk are "easy." They will part with their hard earned money without hesitation at the sight of distress, real or simulated.

Herein lies the very crux of the mendicancy problem, which is almost as old as the world itself and still ever new in its recurring phases. Shall we —"we" are the persons of moderate circumstances, to whom a dollar or its fraction represents real work and effort—yield to our praiseworthy charitable instincts and give without hesitation to the beggar who is obviously incapacitated by disease or deformity from earning his livelihood, or shall we pry and question and investigate and probe while the sufferer hungers and thirsts? Human charity sends the hand unhesitatingly to the pocket or the purse. Human wisdom bids us hesitate lest in giving "charity" we work directly a real injustice to the recipient and an indirect injury to the public.

The latter viewpoint is that of organized charity, the conclusion of wise, thoughtful men and women who look from the granting of immediate relief to the permanent uplifting of the mendicant. It is proved by investigation, say these sociologists, that money given on the street does little real good. It aids directly in the permanent pauperization of the beggar. It supplies him with the means of indulging vicious propensities, and it works an injury to the public by aiding in the dissemination of the diseases with which these street solicitors of aid are frequently afflicted. Very seldom, indeed, does the mendicant retire on his "earnings." Once a beggar, always a beggar, seems to be the rule.

To aid in remedying this condition, through which the charitable instincts of the public are made the instrument of perpetuating an undesirable state of affairs, the National Association For the Prevention of Mendicancy and Charitable Imposture has been established, with headquarters in New York and with James Forbes as its permanent secretary and director.

The pictures printed herewith show what the beggar of a large city is and what he may become if he evinces an interest in the improvement of his own condition. One of the pictures is that of a New York beggar gnawing a crust of bread picked up in the street in the sight of passersby in order to excite pity and stimulate the giving of alms. The other is that of a man deprived of one of his legs in a railroad accident and enabled through organized charity to set up in business for himself selling newspapers.

As He Is. As He May Be.

INCENDIARY FIRE

Several Persons Rescued From Building

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Julius Mesigner, a step-brother of Belle Elmore, the actress, for whose murder Dr. Hawley Crippen was hanged in London on Wednesday, played a rescuer's part in an incendiary fire which raged in a Williamsburg apartment house today.

Mesigner, who lives in the house, rushed out of his rooms when the fire was discovered, gave warning to all the tenants on his floor, assisted a woman and her two children to safety and then half-dragged and half-carried an aged man and his daughter, both of them partially overcome by smoke, to the roof. The panic-stricken tenants all made their way across the roofs to safety.

The blaze was found to have started in the cellar and spread rapidly through the halls, the woodwork of which had been soaked with kerosene. The building was saved after a hard fight by the firemen.

LOWELL HIGH DEFEATED ARLINGTON HIGH

THE HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAM

KNEELING—CAWLEY, CAPT. LEGGAT, DONOVAN, BOWERS.

The Lowell High school football team closed its season yesterday by defeating Arlington High by a score of 15 to 0 at Washington park. There was no question at any stage of the game as to which team would win, the only question in the minds of the spectators being relative to the score. The large attendance at the game demonstrated the fact that local lovers of football were well satisfied with the work of the team during the season.

Captain Leggat proved to be the star of the game. His run from the second kick-off for a touchdown, a distance of 70 yards, was one of the features of the game, the play causing the spectators to go wild with enthusiasm.

The game opened with Arlington kicking off to Lowell and from the centre of the field the Lowell team carried the ball over the goal line for a touchdown. Cawley made the touchdown and Donovan kicked the goal.

On the next kick-off Leggat received the ball and traveled down the field for the second touchdown, and Donovan later kicked the ball over the bar.

In the second period Arlington, on a series of open plays and forward passes carried the ball to about five yards of Lowell's goal line where it was lost on downs. Donovan punted out of immediate danger. When time was called the ball was in the centre of the field.

In the third period Lowell ran the ball towards her line and when on the 25 yard line Leggat kicked a goal from the field.

With a number of her substitutes in the lineup, Lowell started in the last period and carried the ball well down the field, only to lose it on a fumble. Soon after Lowell again started down for what seemed another touchdown, but because of alleged hurdling of the line was penalized and again lost her chance to score. The ball was in midfield when time was called.

Game Forfeited to Haverhill

The game between Lawrence and Haverhill High school football teams at Haverhill yesterday morning resulted in the game being awarded to Haverhill by a score of 1 to 0 after Lawrence had refused to abide by a decision of the officials.

Lawrence had the advantage during the first and second periods, but in the third period Haverhill started a series of forward passes and the ball was carried well into Lawrence territory.

During the fourth period the ball was in Haverhill's possession on Lawrence's 15 yard line. Time was called to allow a substitute to replace one of the regular Lawrence players. On the next play Haverhill started a forward pass which carried the ball over for a touchdown, but Lawrence claimed that she only had 10 men in her lineup at the time. The referee claimed that he asked the Lawrence captain if he was ready for play before the game was resumed and received a nod from the Spicketville player, indicating that he was. Lawrence claimed that the ball should come back to where it was before the play was started, but the officials allowed the play to stand and Lawrence refused to continue and Haverhill was awarded the game by a score of 1 to 0.

SAGE MILLIONS

Are to go to Found a Model City

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The preliminary plans of the Russell Sage foundation, established by Mrs. Sage as a memorial to her husband, for the establishment of a model suburban city, providing healthful and beautiful homes for persons of moderate means, were announced yesterday.

Briefly, the project is to utilize a tract of 142 acres of land at Forest Hills gardens, Long island, nine miles from this city, in laying out a town for 1500 families.

The initial financial expenditure for the plan, it is announced now, amounts to $2,250,000. How much more will be needed to carry the plans to completion is not known, but the foundation trustees state that Mrs. Sage is prepared to supply all the funds required to carry out her ideas.

Through yesterday's announcement it is made plain that the enterprise is not a charity, but is to be made self-supporting, and yield a fair return on the investment. Its purpose rather is to enable persons in moderate circumstances to own their own homes at a minimum cost, while obtaining buildings of better construction than the average individual could erect, and amid surroundings and under restrictions that will make the little city an ideal residence place.

The minimum cost of paying for a home there, it is estimated, will be $21 a month, including principal and interest.

The officers of the foundation, who are associated with Mrs. Sage in the enterprise, are Robert W. De Forest president, Edward H. Bouton vice-president, Cleveland H. Dodge treasurer, and John M. Glenn general director. The statements outlining their plans were issued from Mr. De Forest's office yesterday.

For the present, laboring men whose wages are small will not benefit directly from Mrs. Sage's enterprise. The cost of land in Forest Hills, it is explained, precludes provision being made there for the working class.

FREIGHT RATES

The Evidence of Experts Heard Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.— Expert freight tariff testimony featured today's session of the interstate commerce commission, which is investigating the proposed advance in rates in the official classification territory. Several of the witnesses told of the effect of these scheduled increases by the eastern trunk lines, dwelling on the discriminatory phase of the railroads' plan to meet the alleged need for more freight revenue.

Henry Barlow of Chicago, a director of the Chicago Association of Commerce and for twenty years experienced in railroad business, testified that the class rates between New York and Chicago were unjust and therefore unreasonable and that the proposed advances were not fairly distributed. He said that the railroad plan put the entire increase of only 10 per cent. of the freight tonnage while the pretext of meeting wage increases applied to 100 per cent of all tonnage. He said that the proposed advance put 44 per cent of the burden on the first class freight and that substantially 75 per cent of the burden rested on shippers of first, second and third classes of freight. He estimated that substantially 10 1-10 per cent of the total railroad tonnage in the territory affected would bear the burden of the advance. He said that substantially 55 per cent of the total increase would be on class rates and 15 per cent on commodity rates. He contended that the big shippers would not bear as much of the burden as the small shippers and that the shippers under class rates during the past decade had contributed their full share of the proposed increased rates.

STOCK MARKET

WAS STEADY AND LIFELESS AT CLOSE TODAY

The Swing Of Prices Was Very Irregular—Sale Of 100 Shares Of American Snuff

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Opening dealings in stocks were so light as scarcely to move prices from the closing level of Wednesday. Exceptions were General Electric, which advanced 1¾, and National Railways of Mexico 2nd pfd 1¼, the latter on the more reassuring advices from Mexico. Interborough-Metropolitan pfd also rose ¾. Otherwise the small changes were mixed between gains and losses.

A slow hardening movement sent the level of prices up all around, the gain amounting to a point in Am. Smelting and Pacific Mail 3¼ in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie pfd. American Hide & Leather pfd yielded a point.

Demand for stocks was so dull that prices were poorly held. Attendance after the holiday was light. Fractional declines were general. Northern Pacific fell 1 and St. Louis Southwestern 1½. Western Maryland rose 1. Bonds were irregular.

The market closed steady and lifeless. The swing of prices was barely preceptible and was very irregular and inconstant, even within its narrow range. There was a sale of 100 shares of American Snuff.

CHARTER REFORM

Mass Meeting for Sunday Afternoon

A public mass meeting for the discussion of charter revision will be held in Hamilton hall, Odd Fellows building, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the proprietor, Mr. Jesse D. Crook, having contributed the free use of the hall. William N. Osgood will preside and all citizens are invited. Ex-president Eliot is to address a mass meeting next Wednesday evening at Associate hall.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—Despatches to R. G. Dun & Co. indicate that business operations are conducted on a conservative basis, but current trade is well sustained and future orders come forward freely in certain lines. Buyers still operate cautiously at Boston, although the distribution of merchandise shows some further expansion. Demand for cotton goods is quiet, and there is renewed talk of curtailment, but steady improvement appears in all branches of woolen goods.

Bank clearings this week reflect further improvement and the progress toward betterment noted last week is maintained, total exchanges at all leading cities in the United States being $2,377,998,582 a loss of 5.7 per cent, compared with a year ago, but a gain of 1.0 per cent. over the corresponding week of 1908.

THE ARMY TEAM

GIVEN A GREAT SENDOFF BY THE CADETS.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 25.—The Army team left this morning for the scene of the annual football game to be played tomorrow at Philadelphia between the naval cadets and those of the military academy.

When the team fell into march to the station rain was falling in torrents but this did not dampen the enthusiasm of the corps of cadets, who, led by the West Point band, sang the Army songs and cheered their team as the thirty-two men of the squad fell in and marched toward the station.

The squad was accompanied by Head Coach Nolly, Coach Beacham and Captain Grove, treasurer of the Athletic Association.

It does not look as if Cadet Walmsley has any chance to get into the game, as he walked only with the aid of crutches this morning and had to be taken to the station in a carriage. His knee is in bad shape still and Englehart will probably start the game, with Huston as a substitute.

FEDERATION OF LABOR

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 25.—The building trades committee reported to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor today. The report was long and included recommendations in several controversies that have been before the delegates in other conventions. It was decided by the socialist delegates today that no resolutions of a socialistic character will be introduced.

BOWLING GAMES

Some High Scores Were Made Yesterday

Perron's Juniors defeated the Jewelers in a game on the alleys yesterday, winning by a score of 1193 to 1141. Lafeniere of the winning team was the high man.

In the game between the Ramblers and Starlights, held yesterday, the former team had little difficulty in defeating the latter.

Two teams, one known as the Married Men and the other as the Single Men, met, and if the scores can be taken as a criterion the game must have been an interesting one. The Married Men won, the team total being just 15 shy of the 1500 mark. Wynne of the winning aggregation was high man with a single of 126 and a triple of 344.

GARDNER - KLAUS

Local Sports Interested In Coming Bout

The principal topic of discussion among the sports since the caucuses passed is the coming match between Jimmie Gardner and Frank Klaus which will be held next Tuesday evening in the Armory club, Boston.

Since the last match of the pair at which several hundred Lowell sports were in attendance while a large number lost good money on Jimmie, there has been great speculation as to whether or not Jimmie could turn the trick on Klaus if right, for he certainly was not right when they met.

Then they were matched a second time and the affair was called off and many considered it Gardner's fault and thought that he was getting cold feet, which was far from being the case. Now they are matched again and Jimmie has informed the writer that if he never fights again he will make good with Klaus next Tuesday night just to show his friends that he hasn't been kidding them or that he hasn't gone back.

Even the skeptical ones are coming around to Jimmie again since the report got out that he has been training with Sam Langford and the biggest crowd that ever went down to the Hub to a fight will be on hand when they meet. Gardner will finish his training in this city with Joe Thomas to spar with him and Morgan and Billy Gardner to handle him.

Another match of importance to Lowell sports that will precede the Gardner-Klaus bout next Tuesday night will be that of Freddie Maguire of this city and Tom Flanagan of Cambridge in a six round preliminary. Maguire once put Flanagan away in two rounds but the Cambridge boy has grown bigger and cleverer since then, and Freddie will have his hands full. Maguire is training with Jimmie Moriarty, Young Sullivan and Tommy Mack, and is in fine shape, having completely recovered from his recent illness. Fred Tighe and Ed Cushing are the Lowell members of the membership committee of the Armory club and will receive assessments from local members.

JOHNNY KILBANE WON

AKRON, O., Nov. 25.—Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland had a little the better of Benny Kaufman of Philadelphia in a 10 round bout between the two lightweights here last night. The proceedings were opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. Riederwols, an evangelist, who was introduced by Mayor W. T. Sawyer.

MANIFESTO ISSUED

People of Mexico Asked to Rise Up Against Pres. Diaz

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—A manifesto credited to and signed by Francesco I. Madero, calling on the people of Mexico to rise against the government of President Diaz was made public here last night by friends and partisans of Madero, who said that it was received in this city yesterday.

The manifesto is in Spanish and it is dated at San Luis Potosi, Mex., October 5, 1910. A footnote to it says it is for private circulation up to November 15, and thereafter it is to be circulated broadcast.

"In their uninterrupted struggle for the triumph of the ideals of liberty and justice, peoples are compelled at certain historical moments to make their greatest sacrifices," is the way in which it begins.

"Our beloved fatherland has reached such a stage," it continues, "a despotism such as we Mexicans have not been accustomed to bear since we secured our independence, opposes us to such a degree that it has become intolerable."

The manifesto recites that a feeling of unrest has pervaded the republic because of this system of government and because of the efforts of Diaz to saddle upon the nation a successor of his own choice. This, it is declared, decided many Mexicans to undertake a struggle for a recovery of popular sovereignty and the anti-reelection national party was formed for the purpose. It named Madero and Dr. Francisco Pasquez Gomez for the offices of president and vice president but, the manifesto goes on, Diaz had Madero imprisoned before the elections. The elections took place, it is stated, but the people were excluded from the meetings by violence, prisons were filled with independent citizens and shameful frauds occurred.

"This unlawful and ruthless situation can no longer subsist," the manifesto continues. "I have thoroughly comprehended that, if the people have designated me as a candidate for the presidency, it is not because they have discerned in me the gifts of a statesman or ruler, but the manliness of a patriot determined, if necessary, to sacrifice himself provided liberty can be achieved.

"In virtue of the above as an echo of the national will, I declare herewith the past elections to be illegal and the republic to be without lawful government, and I assume provisionally the presidency of the republic until the people will designate the rulers in conformity with the law.

"To attain this end it is necessary to remove from power the audacious usurpers, that, as sole title of legality, display scandalous and immoral frauds."

The manifesto designates Sunday, the 20th of November, from 6 o'clock on, as the date and time for the rising. The plan includes the following:

"In order to avoid as far as possible the troubles resulting from all revolutionary commotions, the laws promulgated by the actual government are declared to be in force until they may be reformed through constitutional methods.

"In addition to the constitution and the laws in force, the principle of non-reelection of the president and vice president of the republic, of the governors of the states and municipal presidents, is declared to be supreme law of the republic.

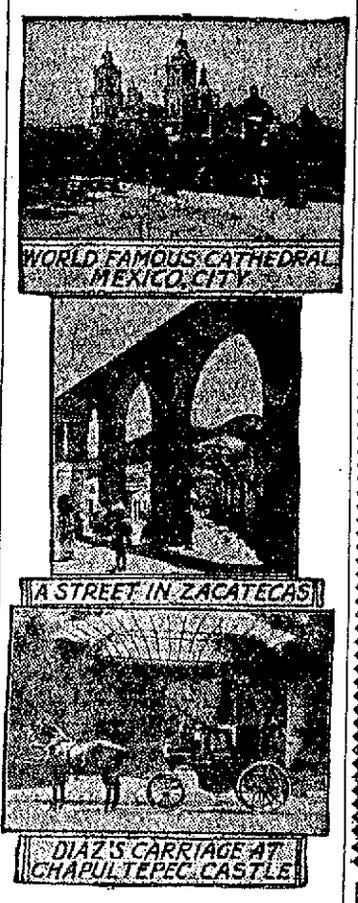

"I assume the character of provisional president of the United States of Mexico with the power and requisite faculties of making war upon the usurpatory government of General Diaz. As soon as the capital of the republic and more than one-half of the states of the federation will be in the power of the forces of the people, the provisional president will convocate to extraordinary general elections to be held one month later, and he shall turn over his powers to the president-elect as soon as the result of the elections shall be known.

"On the 20th of November from 6 o'clock p. m., on, all the citizens of the republic will take up arms to thrust from power the authorities governing it now.

"Attention is also called of every Mexican of the duty to respect persons as well as property of foreigners.

"One of the first acts of the provisional government shall be to set at liberty all political prisoners.

"The new authorities shall dispose of all moneys found in the public offices in order to provide for the ordinary expenses of the administration and for the cost of war, keeping account with the greatest scrupulosity. When funds are not sufficient for military outlays, voluntary or forced loans shall be resorted to, but the latter only from citizens or from national institutions."

INSTANTLY KILLED

James Brennan Struck by N. Y. Express at No. Chelmsford

James Brennan, aged 44 years, and residing at 82 Common street, this city, was struck and instantly killed by the Portland-New York train on the Stony Brook branch of the railroad early yesterday morning. The accident happened on what is known as Mulligan's bridge, which is located a short distance from the Moore mills. Death was instantaneous; the train was traveling at such a high rate of speed that the body was thrown into the water in the brook.

One of the sad features of the accident was the fact that Mr. Brennan had left his home earlier than usual in order to do some work at the Moore mill, where he was engaged as a fireman, so that he might return to his home at noon to eat his Thanksgiving dinner with his family. He had traversed the same route over the railroad tracks morning after morning for a long time, never before having met with an accident. It is thought that when he was walking the tracks yesterday morning he did not realize that the fast express had not passed.

It had been his custom to leave Lowell on an electric car that arrived at North Chelmsford at about 6.45 o'clock in the morning. It was his habit to walk up the track of the Stony Brook branch and crossing Mulligan's bridge to the boiler room about fifty yards distant. It is said that he never met a train on his trips along the tracks in the morning.

Yesterday the mill was closed, but there was some work to be done on the boilers requiring his attention.

After leaving the electric car yesterday morning he walked up the track and was on the bridge when the express train approached. The engineer blew the whistle, but before Brennan realized that the train was so near it was upon him. The body was tossed into the canal, only a torn coat being found near the bridge.

Patrick Ready, the night watchman at the mill, was one of the first to come upon the body, and he notified Engineer Hemlow of the mill, who identified it as that of his fireman. Hemlow speaks in high terms of Brennan's faithfulness and efficiency as a worker.

He worked in the Moore mills before the big fire of a few years ago, and then found employment in various places, returning to the Moore plant only three weeks ago.

He leaves a widow, one daughter, Catherine, and two sons, John J. and James J.

Dr. James J. Hoban and Dr. Fred E. Varney were notified and they went to the scene of the accident, but the man was beyond the aid of medical or surgical skill. Later the body was brought to the funeral parlors of James F. O'Donnell & Sons in Market street. The deceased was a member of the Emerald Associates and Court City of Lowell, F. of A.

BIG AUTO RACE

Tetzlaff the Hero of the Event

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Nov. 25.—Teddy Tetzlaff of Los Angeles, in a Lozier car, was the hero of the second annual Santa Monica road race. He not only piloted his big racer to victory in the stock car event, winning over five competitors, breaking the American stock car record and coming within one mile an hour of the world's record, but he also started a few minutes later in the 202.8 mile free for all against seven other entries and duplicated his victory.

In the race for heavy stock cars, which was over a course of 151.606 miles, he established a new record for this country by averaging 73.29 1-100 miles an hour.

Bert Dingley in his Pope-Hartford was second in both the heavy stock car and free for all races.

The Maxwell was the victor in the 161-230 cubic inches displacement class.

TOM LONGBOAT

WAS DEFEATED BY SHRUBB IN 15 MILE RACE

BOSTON, Nov. 25.—"Alfie" Shrubb last night defeated Tom Longboat, the Onondaga Indian, in a 15 mile race by three-quarters of a lap. Shrubb's time was 1 hour, 26 minutes and 8 3-5 seconds.

Shrubb led from start to finish and owing to a mixup in counting the laps of the final mile, ran three laps more than the distance. Both men ran in good form and each had a sprint left for the final round of the course. Shrubb took the lead at the start and at the end of the first mile was a trifle less than one-half lap ahead of his rival.

CORONER'S JURY

Viewed Bodies of Couple Murdered Near Trenton

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 25.—A jury empaneled by Coroner Bower of Mercer county today viewed the bodies of the Rev. Amziel Armstrong and his wife, who were murdered at their home in Dutch Neck Wednesday night. The jury also inspected the house in which the aged couple were killed. The coroner fixed Dec. 9 as the day for taking testimony. The date was deferred, it is said, to allow Prosecutor Crossly to develop his case.

John Sears, son of the housekeeper employed by the Armstrongs, and who lived with his mother at the Armstrong homestead, slept well last night in the county jail, where he was taken last evening, charged with the double murder. Sears is of a surly temperament and does not have much to say. He is a halfbreed negro and has lived with his mother at the Armstrong home since he was an infant.

Prosecutor Crossly was not prepared today to say what action he will finally take regarding Mrs. Sears, the housekeeper, who is under espionage of two constables at Dutch Neck. Mr. Crossly refuses to discuss the motive for the crime nor will he talk about the many theories advanced. He also declined to say whether a will had been found in the Armstrong home, showing that Mrs. Sears had been named as a beneficiary in the Armstrong estate.

An autopsy held by the coroner at the Armstrong home disclosed the fact that the aged couple had been killed by a shotgun. After the murder a shotgun which Sears had borrowed from a neighbor, saying that he was going gunning, was found in the kitchen of the Armstrong house.

Prosecutor Crossly, it is understood, feels fully able to upset any alibi which Sears seeks to establish. Sears says he went to New Brunswick about 7.30 o'clock Wednesday night but it is alleged that he was seen around Dutch Neck about two hours later.

Dr. George Franklin of Hightston, who arrived at the Armstrong home about 3 o'clock Thursday morning, said today that the condition of the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong indicated that death occurred about six hours earlier. This would have made the hour of the murder 9 o'clock on Wednesday night, which is before the time when it is asserted Sears was seen in Dutch Neck.

TRUTH CROPS OUT

WHY PILE SUFFERERS SO OFTEN FAIL TO GET RELIEF

Science is getting to the bottom of everything, including the cause and cure of piles. The brightest doctors now admit that piles are caused internally and can be cured only by internal treatment. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt some time ago perfected a remedy in tablet form—Hem-Roid, which cures the cause of piles, and therefore cures permanently. It is sold by Carter & Sherburne, Lowell, Mass., under money-back guarantee. $1 for 24 days' treatment. Dr. Leonhardt Co., Station B, Buffalo, N. Y. Write for booklet.

THE GRAND JURY

To Take Up the Gallagher Case

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Prosecuting officials in Jersey City today were preparing for action which was expected to result shortly in bringing James J. Gallagher to trial for the shooting of Mayor William J. Gaynor on the deck of the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosso last summer.

No indictment has ever been found against Gallagher who has been held a prisoner in the Jersey City jail, awaiting the result of the injuries he inflicted on the mayor. Prosecutor Pierre Garven said that he expected and looked for grand jury action on the case within a day or so. Gallagher will not be brought into court until he is called to plead to the indictment, if one is found.

WOUNDS FATAL

MAN WAS SLASHED DURING A QUARREL

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Nov. 25.—Nicholas Fahad died at the Memorial hospital here today from stab wounds he received yesterday, and the police of this city and nearby towns and cities are searching for Arsalus Matham, who they believe is responsible for the crime. Fahad, an Armenian shoemaker, about 22 years old, and his compatriot were last seen yesterday afternoon in a store where they are said to have quarreled and left the store to settle their difficulties. Last night Fahad was found lying in a vacant lot in a dying condition. Matham has been in this country only a few weeks. He did not return to his home in Central Falls last night.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was 16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

The driver of a wagon, or the chauffeur who knocks a man down on the street and hurries away in order to conceal his identity is one of the meanest characters with which the police have to deal. There should be a special penalty provided by law for this offense.

THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS

The democrats certainly made as good a selection as they could possibly do from the candidates who sought the nomination for the various offices. If they show equally good judgment on election day all will be well. The democrats are to be commended for their judgment in nominating two French-American democrats on their ticket, two good men, but a nomination is an empty honor unless it be followed up by an earnest endeavor to elect the nominees. As the two parties stand at present, the republican is the stronger, so that if the democrats wish to elect the men they nominated from the mayor down they will have to close their ranks, suppress all their petty wrangles and stand loyally by their ticket.

GENESIS OF THE TRUSTS

A correspondent in the Buffalo Times traces the genesis of the trusts and monopolies in this fashion:

"Republicanism begat high tariff.
High tariff begat trusts.
Trusts begat monopolies.
Monopolies begat high prices, and
High prices begat revolution.

The revolution referred to is the recent democratic victory, but it will require a continuance of this revolution in 1911 to complete the victory. The trusts have merely sustained a slight scare. They are still in the ring.

AGAIN THE POISONOUS PRESERVATIVES

The pure food campaign does not seem to have accomplished very much in the city of New York where it has been found that meat sprayed with sulphurous acid to conceal its putridity has been sold in large quantities to poor people, and that candy treated in the same manner is disposed of to children. It has also been found that rotten eggs had been used for cake and pastry in fifty bakeries, so that undoubtedly hundreds of thousands have been imposed upon by the sale of food, treated by this poisonous preservative.

When such dangerous adulterants are used it is no wonder that Dr. Wiley and others are so enthusiastic about the enforcement of the pure food laws.

POWER OF THE BEEF TRUST

In regard to the price of meat and the prospect of the price being lower, it is unfortunately a fact that there are many obstacles in the way. In the first place the American Beef Trust is hard to vanquish. It controls not only the meat produced in this country, but it has gone into the Argentine Republic, and acquired large tracts of land for the raising of cattle; it has established large plants for the handling of the meat supply in that country.

It is, therefore, plain that a branch of the American Beef Trust has been formed outside of the United States, where it cannot be reached by this government. With the tariff on beef reduced the people of this country would look to the Argentine republic and to Canada for importations that would cause the price to be reduced in the United States. But if the beef trust extends its operations into both of these countries, then the main source of relief would be cut off.

The proper course, therefore, for the people of this country to adopt is to see that the beef trust be stamped out of existence in this country. There is no other way of putting an end to its extortions.

FOR UNIFORM AUTO LAWS

There is an agitation on foot for uniform automobile laws in the different states so that autoists who have complied with the regulations of their home state can tour the other states and territories without being subjected to additional legal requirements.

The Touring Club of America is leading this movement, and if it should succeed, the people who tour the country in automobiles would certainly be relieved of a great many inconveniences. It will be remembered that President Taft when he entered this state in an automobile was held up on account of his license, and would have been greatly inconvenienced but for the tact of Governor Draper in settling the matter promptly in his own way.

The Tourist club has suggested certain rules that we surmise will be very difficult of adoption throughout the country, because some of them seem to be rather drastic in regard to the people who can legally operate automobiles.

Among the requirements suggested are provisions requiring every operator of an automobile to have a state license obtained upon passing a satisfactory examination, and that no person under 18 years of age shall operate an automobile until he has obtained a special permit to do so, and such permit shall be granted only after a variety of tests as to character and ability shall have been satisfactorily met. It is, however, provided that any person who has complied with the auto laws in his own state shall be allowed to operate a motor vehicle in another state without interference for a period not to exceed 15 days at any one time.

The experience in trying to secure uniform laws on the question of divorce and some other matters would naturally discourage those who expect to have the states adopt uniform automobile laws. It requires a great deal of agitation, influence and long continued wire pulling to secure uniform laws upon anything among the states of this republic. While the suggestion of uniform laws made by the American Touring Club may be very good, we do not expect that the club will be able to move the state legislatures to take such action.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

King George's Christmas card is to be very different from the cards his father, King Edward, was accustomed to devise, which represented Christmas jollity or religious subjects. George has ordered a card representing Henry VIII. visiting Cardinal Wolsey at Hampton court. The king recently visited Hampton court, which gave him the idea. Queen Mary's card represents Prince Charlie taking leave of Flora Macdonald on his escape from Scotland. Queen Alexandra's represents the landing of King Canute. The firm which produces these cards is preparing a card for Emperor William representing Charles II. embarking from Holland aboard the Royal Charles on his restoration. The queen of Spain's card represents the marriage of Edward I. and Eleanor of Castile. The queen of Italy represents the Madonna and Child.

A romance of fact, strange as anything in the pages of fiction, is the story of Mrs. Clarissa Truesdell, of Grand Rapids, Mich. Mrs. Truesdell is 105 years old and is an inmate of the Kent county poorhouse. In her youth she was one of the social leaders of the country, has danced with General Lafayette, and was hostess of Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, Jenny Lind, Louis Kossuth and the Prince of Wales, afterward King Edward VII. And now she is a pauper. All the facts that go between are not revealed.

C. M. Zieback of Grand Falls, N. D., claims the distinction of being the oldest man ever arrested in the United States. He is 107 and is in custody at Fort Totten for taking liquor into an Indian reservation.

Samuel Putnam of New Salem has reached the great age of 104 years. Mentally he has failed some during the past two years, but physically he is remarkably well. He was born in New Salem and always has lived there. Mr. Putnam is a descendant of the Putnam family made famous during the Revolutionary days by the deeds of General Putnam. He has been an influential and public-spirited man in New Salem and served one term as representative. He has never touched alcohol or tobacco in any form. He is a great temperance advocate, and on this question and that of establishing world-wide peace he always has lived with his son, Willard Putnam, a graduate of Amherst college, and who, like his father, has represented his district in the legislature. Mr. Putnam has a grandson, Dr. Samuel Willard Putnam of Cambridge, and three little great-grandchildren.

THE MEXICAN REVOLUTION

(Providence Tribune.)

Beyond question at the bottom of the present troubles in Mexico, complicated though they are, it is easy to see a distinct popular movement against President Diaz and all that in the way of government he represents. Whatever ill treatment of Mexicans in the United States there may have been, it figures only as a pretext in the disturbances now going on. The real animating purpose in these disturbances is antagonism to the Diaz government, though of course, as in all such cases, some are participating in the outbreaks in a spirit of sheer lawlessness and criminality in which politics has no part.

The situation thus created is one which puts the Mexican government to a severe test. But there can be no question as to its duty in the premises, and it seems to be setting about it in a way that promises success. It is a situation which permits no hesitation regarding the use of force to crush disorder mercilessly. There has been much loss of life already, and as many more lives as may be necessary must be sacrificed. The Mexicans are a fighting people, with their naturally revolutionary spirit only thinly crusted over by their recent advances in civilization, and they cannot safely be trifled with or temporized with. Leniency is absolutely out of the question in the case of any Mexican lawbreaker or disturber of the peace.

For the United States, too, the course of duty is perfectly clear. The duty which our country owes to itself as well as to its neighbor is neither to foster nor to tolerate any hostile movement within our borders that is directed against the established Mexican authority. Of the worthiness or justice of that authority it is not for us now to raise any question. We must not allow Texas to be made a base of operations for the Mexican raiders and brawlers. Self-interest as well as international obligation requires that the government at Washington now give the government at the city of Mexico all possible encouragement and support in the immediate business of eliminating lawlessness and preserving stability.

(Providence Journal.)

If the Republicans had elected a majority of the legislature in New Jersey this month, ex-Governor Stokes would have made a sharp contest for the senatorship on account of his narrow victory in the primaries. But the legislature will be in the hands of the democrats, so that Mr. Stokes, of course, must defer his ambition. There were two democrats, however, who were candidates at the primaries, and one of them, Mr. James E. Martine, the so-called "farmer-orator," received forty-eight thousand votes, or more than any of the republican candidates. He takes this indorsement seriously, much to the embarrassment of the Smith machine, and the Jersey Journal goes so far as to say that public opinion is almost a unit for his election. "The defeat of Martine," it asserts, "would be the most colossal party blunder that could be imagined." Certainly the election of Mr. Martine would be a step in the direction of strengthening and dignifying the present optional primary system.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Foreign trade during October showed a decrease in importation of manufacturers' materials, but increased importation of foodstuffs; and on the export side an increased outward movement of both manufactures and manufacturers' materials, and a further decline in foodstuffs. The October statement of the bureau of statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor, naming the principal articles imported and exported during the month and ten months, shows for October, 1910, decreased values for India rubber, hides and skins, wool, fibers, leaf tobacco, lumber, copper ore and pulp wood brought into the United States; and increased values for sugar, coffee, tea, fruits and other foodstuffs imported. On the export side an increase is shown in the value of agricultural implements, builder's hardware, boots and shoes, sheets and plates of steel, automobiles, scientific instruments, typewriters, naptha, electrical machinery, metal working machinery, patent medicines, books, structural iron and steel, copper, lumber and naval stores exported; also of unmanufactured cotton, coal and fertilizers; while of foodstuffs, flour, wheat, lard, bacon, oleo oil, fresh beef and food animals show a decline.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Two large audiences saw "The Final Settlement," presented at the Opera House yesterday afternoon and last evening. It is a melodrama and relates the story of a wife's trouble, whose husband desires to shine in society, an ambition that does not appeal to her. The husband leaves her and takes as his second wife an actress, who is favored with wit and beauty and a goodly knowledge of the world. For a time the husband lives in the shallow world he has long desired. Eventually the round of pleasure palls on him and he is brought to his senses and there is a reconciliation effected with his former wife.

Elizabeth Royall as Ellen Stowe portrayed the ever faithful, true and sensible wife. All through her tribulations she never gave way to despair, never flinched from her unbending rectitude, despite the humiliation heaped upon her. Her acting was of a high order and was warmly applauded. Gladys Gillen as Madge Stowe, the daughter, was also good, while J. A. Whiteside as John Stowe, the discontented husband, showed a brilliant conception of the role. The rest of the support was good and many of the climaxes are quite thrilling in their realism and force.

"The Final Settlement," will be given this afternoon and tonight and twice on Saturday.

"THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER."

Miss Gene Luneska, who portrays the mischief making Mascha in "The Chocolate Soldier," which comes to the Opera House on December 9 and 10, gives to the American stage for the first time, during the progress of the opera, a true Bulgarian dance. This is remarkable in that the people of the Balkans are more ready to burst into song or dance than almost any other nation, and that their folk songs and dances, while lacking generally in the grace of some other countries, are so infused with the flame and gypsy-like spirit of their country as to make them picturesque from the point of view of the stage. The men and women sing while working in the fields, and the festivals and weddings in which they rejoice are continually vivified by the whirling groups and bursts of song. Miss Luneska dances the 'Machranka," which was seen for the first time at Earl's Court, London, year before last. She is said to be the only foreigner who was ever instructed in this dance and was able to master its intricacies.

"THE STAMPEDE."

If you are an expert mathematician, here is a problem which may test your ability. In "The Stampede," which comes to the Opera House, Dec. 29 and 30, the star, Lillian Buckingham, in the role of Wanga, the half-breed Indian girl, wears a beaded head dress encircling her forehead and fastened to her hair (which by the way, is her own), every bead attached to the webbing separately with mathematical precision. Try to estimate the number, and when you have definitely decided, ask Miss Buckingham if you are within one thousand of the sum total. She knows exactly because she spent many leisure moments making the head dress and other beaded ornaments she wears.

DOCKSTADER'S MINSTRELS

The singing contingent of Lew Dockstader's "20th Century Minstrels" is one of the features of this year's entertainment including such artists as Charles Falk, Harry A. Ellis and Tom McKenna, late of "The Quartette," Allan Campbell, Charles Raymond, and William Smith. The musical numbers have all been especially written and are of great beauty, particularly the ballads. The Messrs. Shubert are responsible for this year's production and, it is said, have given minstrelsy its most pretentious offering. The company includes besides Mr. Dockstader such artists as Carroll Johnson, Eddie Mazier, "Happy" Naulty, Johnny Foley and eighty others.

Lew Dockstader and his "20th Century Minstrels" will be at the attraction at the Opera House next Monday night.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

All records for attendance were broken yesterday at this popular vaudeville and picture house and the patrons witnessed one of the best shows given there in a long time.

Lew Welch in "Levinsky's Old Shoes" pleased immensely, and Mr. Welch shows himself to be a Hebrew comedian of the first water. The Four Stagpoles have a clever acrobatic novelty which keeps the audience in roars of laughter. Floyd and Castano are original singing and talking comedians, while Cartoonist Todd is a clever manipulator with the brush and crayon, and is out of the ordinary run of sketch artists.

Tonight the amateurs will hold forth. Four reels of the latest motion pictures are being presented which are varied and interesting and are sure to please.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Kenney and Hollis, the college boys, are going to be at the Merrimack Square theatre only today and tomorrow.

"The Wildflower" is a little comedy which is a delight from curtain to curtain. It is the story of an Indian girl and her army lover, and it is presented by an unusually capable company. There are other good things also. Tom Batcman is a comedian better than the best. The Three Ross Sisters are dainty singers and dancers appearing in a novel act and The Rosses are singing a lot of new songs. The best moving pictures in the city are also on the bill.

EMPIRE THEATRE

By long odds the finest singing act ever presented at the Empire theatre is that which made its first appearance there yesterday in the Three Italian Troubadours. These young men dress their act appropriately, put life and spirit into their action, play several Italian instruments well, and give, as has been said the finest, and most finished singing act the patrons of the Empire have yet seen.

Gracey and Burnett created many hearty laughs and won plenty of applause.

THEATRE VOYONS

The new republic of Portugal is of special interest to Lowell people because of the thousands of Portuguese citizens here and today the Theatre Voyons shows a series of motion pictures taken in Lisbon a day after the republic was proclaimed. The streets with their barricades, the camps of the citizens, and soldiers, the destruction wrought by the bombardment, the republican meetings, the prominent officials of the new republic and even the ex-King Manuel are shown. Then, too, there is a pleasing picture of the evolutions of the military cycle corps of Belgium, an organization without an equal in its line of work.

COLONIAL THEATRE

The audiences that filled the Colonial to the doors yesterday saw a show that pleased in every particular. In the evening standing room was hard to find at 8 o'clock and it was a case of follow the crowds to the Colonial during the entire day.

Sachs and Vallin, the headliners, are a merry pair, and kept the audiences in roars of laughter. The impersonation of a Hebrew messenger boy is enough of itself to make a smile a noisy one. At the request of the management, during the rest of the week he will not only do his regular skit but will also do a monologue act and sing some of the parodies that have made him famous. The other acts on the program are excellent and in keeping with the present management of the house. A good word should be said for the pictures. They are the best ever seen in the city.

TO GROW HAIR ON A BALD HEAD

By a Specialist.

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequaled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any chemist: Bay Rum 6 ounces, Lavona de Composee' 2 ounces, Menthol Crystals ½ drachm. If you wish it perfumed add half to one teaspoonful of Yo-Kalon Perfume, which unites perfectly with the other ingredients. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists, and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics. Do not apply to the face or where hair is not desired.

Be sure to ask the druggist for all the enclosures in the Lavona de Composee' package. One of them entitles you to a handsome free sprinkler top for your hair tonic bottle and you are also entitled to receive the free advice of an expert on the hair by simply writing to the address you will find enclosed in the carton.

The above ingredients are all standard and are kept by almost any up-to-date drug store. Riker-Jaynes Drug company, for instance, state that they are obliged to fill this prescription many times each week and that all of their patrons have reported the greatest degree of satisfaction.

Woman's Power Over Man

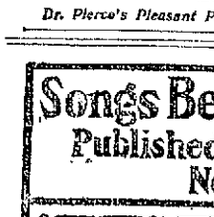

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

DR. KING, THE ADVERTISING DENTIST

DR. THOS. JEFFERSON KING.

Dr. King's "Natural Gum" sets of teeth absolutely defy detection.

A local paper, speaking of advertising dentists, says of Dr. King: "He, with his big dental practice, acquires a knowledge of up-to-date dentistry and little niceties of the profession that the smaller practitioners, even with their years of experience, rarely earn. And then, his modern advertising dental office, luxuriously furnished, with his costly equipped laboratory, would die inside of a year if he failed to do good work—and as to price, Dr. King does a cash business only, and when you patronize him you are not taxed extra to help make up for the bills unpaid by 'the other fellow,' as you surely do when you patronize the ordinary dentist, who fails to collect 50 per cent. of his bills, and must 'get it out of you.'"

Best set Teeth $8, good set $5. Gold crowns $5, bridgework $5, gold fillings $1 up, other fillings 50c; painless extraction free when sets are ordered.

The Famous Rayo

Does Not Strain the Eyes

Don't use a small, concentrated light over one shoulder. It puts an unequal strain on your eyes. Use a diffused, soft, mellow light that cannot flicker, that equalizes the work of the eyes, such as the Rayo Lamp gives, and avoid eye strain.

The Rayo is designed to give the best light, and it does.

It has a strong, durable shade-holder that is held firm and true. A new burner gives added strength. Made of solid brass and finished in nickel. Easy to keep polished. The Rayo is low priced, but no other lamp gives a better light at any price.

SHOWER OF NOVEMBER TICKLERS

A POSSIBILITY.

Mrs. Nubride—What do you think of my pie crust, Jack?

MORE MODERN RULE.

Fond Dad—I s'pose you are trying to live up to your essay, "Beyond the Alps Lies Italy?"

"No, gov'nor. It's now 'Over the Fence Is Out.'"

A CASE OF MUST.

"I wonder why Miss Wrinkles always wears a veil?"

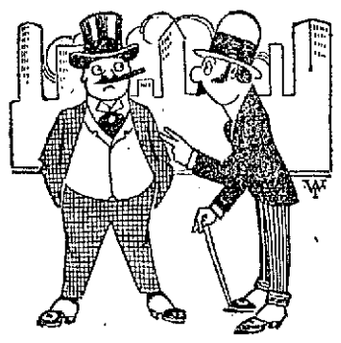

"I suppose she has not got the face to go without it."

FAMILY FINANCIERING.

Mrs. Grabitall—When postal banks are established I hope we can put away a postal card with every penny.

Old G.—I don't know. You'll be sticking money in the stovepipe and burn it up, as you always do.

WHERE ALL LOOK ALIKE.

Kewrio—Is there any color line in Wall street?

Kirbstun—Not any. We'd just as lief shear a white lamb as a black one.

A DESPERATE CASE.

"How Tillie's clothes hang about her! Why, they don't fit her at all!"

"But think how much worse she would look if they did!"

A STAR BOARDER.

KEEPING HIM DOWN.

"What was the best bit of work you ever did?" inquired the first barber.

"I once shaved a man," replied the second barber.

"Go on."

"Then I persuaded him to have a hair cut, shampoo, facial massage, singe, sea foam, electric buzz, tar spray and tonic rub."

"What then?"

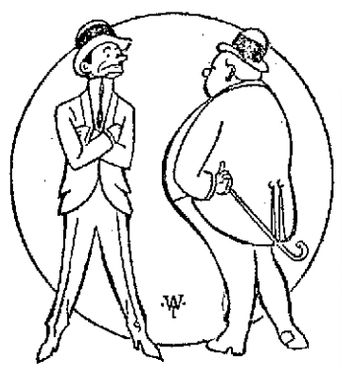

"By that time he needed another shave."

MAMMA'S BAD BAIT.

Mrs. Mouser—Dingbat would make you a good husband. He has none of the small vices.

"No; he is too busy with big ones to pay any attention to smaller ones."

TO MAKE IT POPULAR.

"What do you think of President Taft's suggestion for a sixty days' vacation?"

"He should have added, 'With pay.'"

HOW IT HAPPENED.

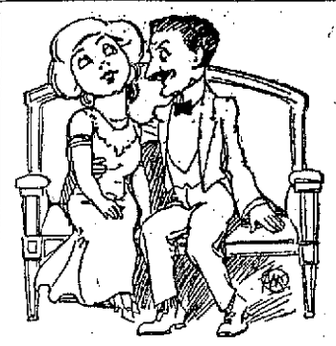

Stephanie—Marcel literally fell at my feet.

Pierre—Aeroplane or intoxication?

STILLING THE TEMPEST.

Mother—What's that I hear? Gerald actually kissed you at the railway station? And what did you do, pray?

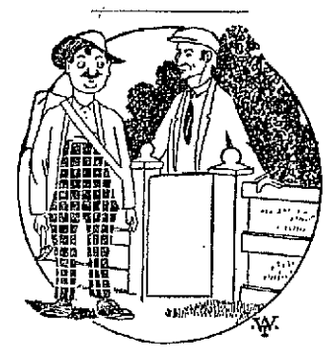

Daughter—Well, so as to make everybody think he was a relative and so prevent a scandal I kissed him too.

MISPLACED CONFIDENCE.

Sitting on the sofa, his right arm stole about her form. "This," he said, "is what I call making glad waste places."

"Oh, no," she replied. "A waste place is one that has never been cultivated."

NO USE.

Itinerant Mechanic—Fix yer gate, boss? Seems to be saggin'.

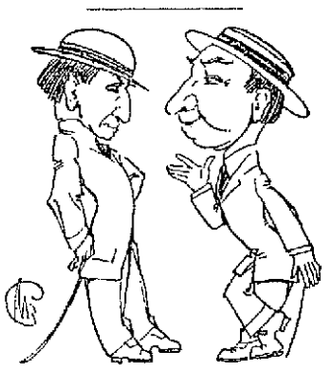

"No use. There are three other girls in the house who are coming out soon."

HIS LONG SUIT.

"Pop, what is a fatigue suit?"

"The messenger boy's."

QUICK RELIEF.

"Did you row much during your vacation?"

"Yes; it helped a lot. Every time I went on the water I was daffy, but the motion of the boat always took it out of me."

QUALIFIED.

Plumber (to applicant for work)—Where were you employed last?

"I was making out bills for an iceman all summer."

DEBATE ON DIMENSIONS.

Small Man (to tall one)—I'd have you know, sir, I was well brought up.

"But you were not brought up far enough."

HIT ALL OVER.

Butcher—What's this?

Hunter—A bird I shot.

"Nonsense! I might buy it for old lead."

A GAMBLING TERM.

EVERYTHING IS WIDE OPEN.

THE SAFE AND SANE HOUR.

Charley—When is the best time to see your father, Miss Dorothy?

"In the evening. He wears his slippers then."

CHEERING HER BOY.

Fond Mother—Charles, why don't you propose to Miss Sinjin?

"She says I am green."

SAFE AND SANE.

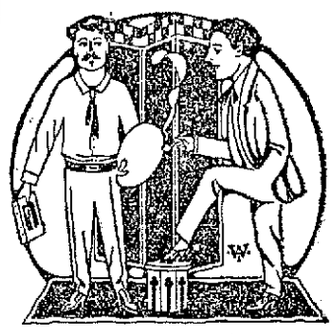

"A canoe has been made that can be carried on a man's back."

HOW HE ESCAPED.

"Does your wife always insist on talking to you when you are shaving?"

"No. Sometimes I shave when she is away from home."

ANOTHER WASH OUT.

Rembrundt (in the studio)—That young student downstairs tells me that he has something on the line.

Appelles—Yes? Changed his shirt?

NO RACE SUICIDE IN HIS DAY.

Solomon: "If this family continues to increase at this rate I also will be the father of my country."

"NAVAL RESERVE."

BADGE OF SISTERHOOD.

Boy—Please give me a cigarette, miss.

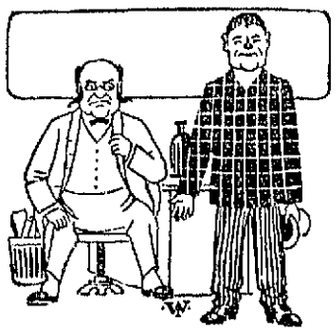

Stage Girl—Is it for yourself, child?

"No; for my grandmother. She also is in the chorus."

A SIGN OF GENTLE BIRTH.

"Is he a fine gentleman?"

"Yes, madam. He has already called me a jackass."

WORSE THAN THE DISEASE.

Doctor—You must take something before going to bed.

Burglar—An' here I am tryin' to reform!

MAKING SURE.

"The Goldskins are always on the safe side."

"So?"

DIAGNOSIS BY THE STENO.

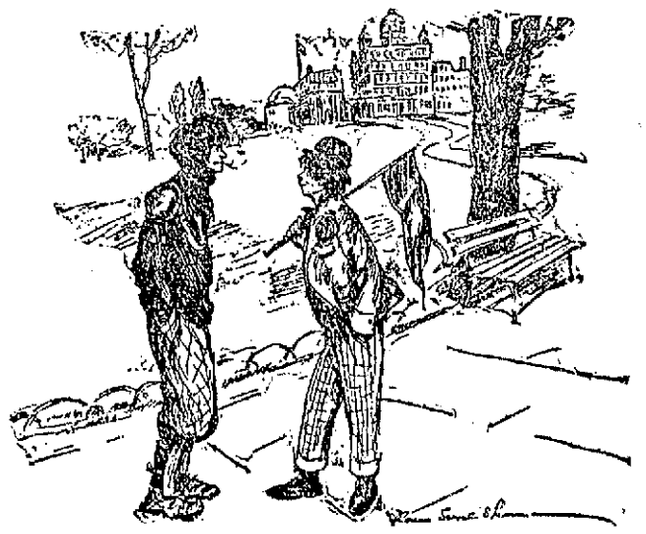

Cousin Harry—And how do you like your new boss, Nellie?

Typist—Oh, he isn't so bad, but he's bigoted!

Cousin Harry—Bigoted? How?

Typist—He's got an idea that words can only be spelled his way.

AFTER THE GAME.

"Charlie (in the football suit), you were drunk last night!"

"By Jove, old chap. That's awfully good of you to say so!"

NAVAL MUTINEERS

Surrendered After Being Granted Amnesty by Congress

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 25.—The naval mutineers surrendered today, congress voting amnesty.

The demands of the mutineers were granted by the government. The capital slept last night with the guns of its own navy trained upon it. Toward 1 o'clock this morning one of the mutinous fleet fired on the naval arsenal. The scout cruiser Deodora joined the battleships Minas Geraes and Sao Paulo and the scout Bahia in revolt. Last evening the Sao Paulo and the Bahia withdrew from the harbor, supposedly because they feared a night attack from the loyal torpedo boat destroyers. The Minas Geraes, however, remained opposite the government palace and was joined by the cruiser Deodora.

For several hours everything was quiet. Then watchers on shore noted activity on board the Deidora.

The hour following midnight passed anxiously. Then the small guns of the Deodora awoke the town. It was at first thought that the revolting vessels were making a combined attack upon the city.

For a time a panicky feeling was general. Then it was discovered that the firing was confined to the scout and was directed only at the naval arsenal. The cannonading did not last long and no great damage was done.

The local garrisons and the loyal torpedo boats did not respond, although, according to this morning's papers their officers had received sinister orders as to their duty in certain contingencies. When the Deodora had ceased firing she put to sea, accompanied by the Minas Geraes. Morning broke with the mutinous craft still outside the harbor and they did not return to port until some hours later.

Congress met in extraordinary session this morning. The chamber of deputies assented to the senate's proposition to grant amnesty. Both houses then passed resolutions acceding to the demands of the sailors. As soon as the action of congress became known the mutinous crews surrendered and the revolt was at an end. The city was soon quiet and resuming its normal activities.

TO ASK RECOUNT

Of Council Vote in 3, 4, 5 and 9

Up to noon today papers for recounts of the councilmanic votes in wards 3, 4, 5 and 9 were taken out at the office of the city clerk and it was expected that others would be heard from. In ward three, Harrison, republican, asks for the recount. He is sixteen behind the nearest man, Albert G. Cheney.

Sharkey, democrat, asks for the recount in ward four. According to the original figures he is 12 votes behind Thomas Donohoe and his friends think that a recount will overcome those 12 votes.

The recount in ward 5 is asked for by Sullivan, democrat. The next lowest man to Sullivan, according to the original figures, is Thomas J. Corbett, and Sullivan is 33 behind Corbett.

Richard Sykes, republican, asks for the recount in ward 9. He is next man to Chapman and he has 29 votes to overcome. According to the first figures announced at city hall on Tuesday night Mr Sykes was nominated high and dry, but it seems that there was a mistake in precinct figures, Mr. Sykes being credited with 146 instead of 46 votes. Mr. Sykes says he wants to find out all about that mistake.

100,000 MILE RUN

To be Made by Big Automobile

An Abbott-Detroit automobile, of the "Bull Dog" pattern, which is on a 100,000 mile endurance run, which will include a visit to every state in the United States, passed through Lowell early this afternoon. The mud-stained car showed that it had passed over some pretty rough roads, but a look at the equipment of the car, which included block and tackle, shovels, axes and other necessities for rough and muddy roads, demonstrated the fact that the crew of the car is ready for any emergency.

Last July the car was shipped to the Kansas City agent of the company, where it was used as a demonstrating car, covering 6000 miles. It then competed in the Kansas City Star's reliability run to Colorado Springs and return, a distance of 2300 miles, after which it left Denver, Colo., for Detroit, Mich., and when it arrived there it had been run a total of 15,000 miles.

The car left Detroit on Nov. 17th in charge of Dr. Charles G. Percival, a noted long distance automobilist, and Montague Roberts, the famous 24-hour champion and the driver of the winning car in the New York to Paris race, carrying with them a letter from Mayor Philip Breitmeyer to the mayors of the various cities of the United States. The trip as scheduled goes to Portland, Maine, and from there via New York city, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburg, Dayton, Cincinnati, Louisville, Nashville, Chattanooga, Atlanta, Jacksonville, Savannah, and up the Atlantic coast to New York city to the opening of the automobile show at the Grand Central palace on New Year's eve. After a week at the automobile show the "Bull Dog" will go up New York state by way of Binghamton, Elmira to Buffalo through Canada, back to Detroit and from Detroit to Chicago to the automobile show in that city and from Chicago to New Orleans across the state of Texas to the City of Mexico and from Mexico to Southern California up the Pacific coast to Vancouver and back to Detroit through all the principal provinces of the Canadian empire, going through every state in the United States, Mexico and Canada. In its journey the car will have crossed the continent twice and gone completely around the borders of the United States and will have traveled a distance of 50,000 miles or one-half of its required distance.

The car left Boston this morning about 11.30 o'clock with a letter from Mayor Fitzgerald to President Taft. After spending about half an hour in this city the auto was headed towards Lawrence, and from that city the route led through Haverhill to Portland, Me., where a stop will be made tonight.

When the machine stopped in Merrimack square it had passed through 19 states of the union and 16,027 miles had been traversed.

LOCAL NEWS

Political printing at Tobin's Printery.

Thomas H. Gallagher of Providence, R. I., spent the holiday with Lowell relatives.

Mrs. Herbert J. Millington and daughter May of Lawrence are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Chaloux of Belvidere.

Arthur Eggleston, eastern salesman for the Queen City Ink company, is in town on a periodical visit to Lowell, where he sells to The Sun and other concerns that know real printers' ink. "Egg," as he is familiarly called, is no cold storage proposition nor does he need to repose in an "ink-cubator" before warming up on his subject. "Egg" admits that The Sun is the best printed paper along his circuit which extends from New Foundland to New York, and that's what they all say.

PENN. AND BROWN

Winners of Yesterday's Big Games

Pennsylvania and Brown were the winners in the two big games which closed the eastern college football season yesterday. Penn defeated Cornell 12 to 6 in the annual contest on Franklin Field, meeting with a more strenuous opposition than had generally been expected. The Quakers scored two touchdowns, while Cornell's total was from two goals from placement by Quarterback Butler.

Brown had expected to run up a very large total against the Indians, but only won by 15 to 5. The Carlisle eleven was outclassed, however. Penalties deprived Brown of two touchdowns, each made after a sensational run.

SENT TO PRISON

SUFFRAGETTES GIVEN TWO MONTHS AT HARD LABOR

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Twenty suffragettes who were arrested during the night for smashing in the windows of the government offices were sentenced in the Bow street police court today, each to two months' hard labor.

In pronouncing sentence, Sir Albert De Rutzen, chief magistrate of the metropolitan courts, said:

LOCATED IN PAUPER SECTION OF CEMETERY

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 25.—After a search, lasting eight years in which the aid of the Prince States was enlisted, the body of Prince Ylian Chow Cum, a leader in the Boxer uprising, has been located in the pauper section of a cemetery at Alamosa, Colo. The body was exhumed. It was clothed in mandarin robes, with yellow jacket and peacock-feathered cap, enclosed in a splendid coffin, emblazoned with golden dragons—and yesterday it was started on its return to China, where it will be interred in the vaults of the Ming dynasty.

Prince Ylian fled from China after a yellow silk cord, the Chinese order to commit suicide, had been given him. He was a cousin of Emperor Kwang Su. He died of tuberculosis among some poor Chinese, who did not know his identity.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET

From Top to Bottom Democrats Have Shown the Better Judgment in Their Caucus Selections — A Strong Aldermanic Ticket

Mayor Meehan having disposed of the obligations of Thanksgiving is now ready for a strenuous campaign for a second election, fully cognizant of the fact that the position must be fought for despite the fact that under ordinary circumstances his record of the current year should entitle him to a re-election without the necessity of a busy campaign. His Honor appeared at the Thanksgiving eve festivities of the Centralville social club, Wednesday night, most of the members of which are French republicans, and owing to an incident of the meeting that was not anticipated made many friends.

Mayor Meehan will cover the city speaking many times in many places though he will not permit the campaign to interfere with his duties as chief executive. He invites public criticism of his record as mayor and is prepared to answer any honest critics.

Edward H. Foye, the democratic nominee for purchasing agent, seems destined to be the next man to hold that position. Last year he reduced the majority of Purchasing Agent Mackenzie so completely that that gentleman withdrew from the contest this year although he would not have been opposed in the republican caucuses had he chosen to be a candidate again. With two candidates against him in the caucuses, one of whom, Mr. Fitzgerald, was particularly popular and strong with his party, Mr. Foye again won the nomination by a substantial majority which shows beyond a peradventure that his party wants him. Mr. Fitzgerald put up a vigorous but clean fight and was quick to send his successful opponent the following letter:

November 23, 1910.

Mr. Edward H. Foye.

Friend Ed.: The voters have decided that you should be the candidate for chief of the department of supplies. Please accept my heartiest congratulations. My services are at your command.

Sincerely,
Thomas J. Fitzgerald.

Anyone who personally knows Mr. Fitzgerald also knows that he means what he says at all times and that Mr. Foye will have no more loyal supporters than Mr. Fitzgerald and his friends.

Aldermanic Ticket

The democracy of Lowell appears to be thoroughly satisfied with the ticket nominated for aldermen and not a few republicans have been found who reluctantly agree that in the selection of an aldermanic ticket the democrats showed better judgment. Much talk has been made since the nominations as to the fact that the democrats nominated two French-Americans for aldermen, while the republicans threw down the only French-American on the ticket, Mr. Bergeron. Originally there were two French-Americans on the republican aldermanic ticket, ex-Councilman Edmond Cheney being the other candidate. But prior to the caucuses the matter having been discussed, Mr. Cheney withdrew in the interest of Mr. Bergeron, believing, according to report, that one French-American might get by while two couldn't. The one did not get by, despite the fact that the French-American vote is overwhelmingly republican. As far as the democrats are concerned, notwithstanding the fact that the French-American vote is largely republican, whenever a French-American has run for office in the democratic party the question of nationality has never arisen in the caucuses and he has been treated like any other democrat. Mr. Hercule Toupin has been nominated by the democrats for representative but failed of election. Through thick and thin, for many years, Mr. Toupin has been a staunch democrat, though in a minority of his compatriots. This time he is going to win. Mr. Joseph Jodoin first came to notice in politics as a democratic candidate in ward six and he was nominated and elected. He has served several terms in the common council and if any member, republican, democratic, French-American or any other nationality has a better record as a public servant we would like to see it. Mr. Jodoin was the originator of the Little Canada park idea. The files of the daily papers show that. But he couldn't get it through because of republican opposition. A year later a couple of republican councilmen took up his idea and got it through, Mr. Jodoin lending his aid just as loyally as if it were his own measure of a year previous.

So much for the French American candidates.

Alderman Jeremiah Connors having served in the board of aldermen comes back with the largest vote of the ticket which certainly is evidence that he has satisfied the voters.

Ex-Alderman John W. Daly, who dropped out of the aldermanic fight a few years ago to run for mayor comes back to the aldermanic field and goes in with the second highest vote. Mr. Daly is too well known to need any introduction at this time. He has always been elected by a flattering vote and his record defies adverse criticism regardless of party.

The ability of a candidate to come back after several years out of the game is the best evidence that his past record still retains a favorable flavor with the voters. James J. Gallagher, a former alderman at the request of his friends became a candidate again this year and he received the third highest vote.

In the order of promotion Councilman James J. Flanagan received a fine vote from the party as a candidate for alderman. Mr. Flanagan was the leader of the democratic minority in the lower branch and was looked upon by members of both parties as one of the most level-headed men in that body.

Mr. Alexander E. Rountree is a strong man politically and widely known in business circles. He is a local salesman for Simpson & Rowland and is most favorably known throughout the retail trade of the city. He is prominent in the United Commercial Travelers, Owls, being vice-president of the order in this city, and also in the Knights of Equity, Royal Arcanum and Foresters.

Andrew E. Barrett, who a few years ago served the city with distinction as purchasing agent, responded to the demand of his friends and became a candidate and was picked from the start as one of the sure winners. Mr. Barrett has been prominent in politics as a boomer of party candidates. He is connected with the Knights of Columbus and other organizations. He is in the grocery business in Salem street. His experience as purchasing agent aside from his record as a successful business man gives him a peculiar fitness for the office.

James A. Burns, the present councilman from ward six, like Councilman Flanagan has shown a record in the lower branch that entitles him to promotion, as it were. Mr. Burns is intelligent and able, honest and clean cut. His record as a councilman is a valuable asset in his contest for the upper board.

AUTO WRECKED

OCCUPANTS OF THE MACHINE WERE UNINJURED

MALDEN, Nov. 25.—Harry J. Phipps of 18 Greenleaf street, an instructor in the local high school, and Philip Cox of North Easton had a narrow escape from serious injury while returning from the Malden and Medford football game yesterday morning in an automobile. The machine was being driven by Mr. Phipps, and while attempting to run across Ferry street into Fairmont street his machine was struck by an inbound Broadway elevated car and turned over.

Both occupants were thrown out but in some manner landed on their feet. The accident was witnessed by several hundred persons. Neither man was injured, but the auto was badly wrecked, the wheels and side and back being badly smashed in. It was necessary to have the auto towed away to a garage.

A TWO-STORY HOUSE OF NINE ROOMS AND ABOUT 4820 SQUARE FEET OF LAND AT 74 ELM STREET

On the premises, regardless of any condition of the weather, I shall offer for sale this two-story house of nine rooms. On the first floor there is parlor, sitting-room, dining-room, kitchen, chamber, pantry and toilet. On the second floor are four large, airy and well lighted chambers. The house is very conveniently laid out and the rooms are all good sized. There are front and back stairs, good cellar, gas lighting and best of sewerage. The interior of the house is in good condition, having recently been papered and painted throughout. The lot, which has a good frontage on Elm street, contains about 4820 square feet of land and is all fenced in, giving a good yard. The location is one of the very best in this section of the city. This parcel is located about opposite the court house, within short walking distance of many industries, close to schools, churches and cars, and handy to the center of the city. Now this is a grand opportunity for a large family who are looking for a home, or it would be a good proposition for someone who wished to rent rooms as it is an excellent location for lodgings.

The present owner of this property purchased the same but a short time ago with intentions of residing there, but has since decided to remain in her present home, and rather than have the care of renting the property will offer it for absolute sale on the day and hour advertised.

Terms: $300 to be paid to the auctioneer as soon as struck off. A good liberal mortgage can remain at 5 per cent.
